of me." An editor, who speaks with the air of a man who has discovered a new fact by ex-perience, says that the new way to pre-vent bleeding at the nose is to keep your nose out of other people's business. A droll fellow in Connecticut fished a rich man out of the mill pond and re-ceived the offer of twenty-five cents from the rescued miser. "Oh! that's too much," exclaimed he, "Itaint wuth it," and he handed back twenty-one cents, saying calmly as he pocketed, four cents: "That's about right."

At a camp-meeting last summer a ven-erable sister began the hymn—

" My soul, be on thy guard; Ten thousand foes arise !"

She began in shrill quavers, but it was pitched too high, "Ten thousand—Ten thousand," she screeched, and stopped. "Start her at five thousand!" cied a con-verted stock-broker present.

Verted stock-broker present. The baker's cart was standing by the door, minus the baker. Little cherub climbed up, and, looking into the boxes, feasted her eyes on cookies and jumbles innumerable. "Oh! I'se a good mind to take a cookie." "But that would be very wrong," said nurse, reprovingly. "The baker won't see me," "But God will," solemnly. "I know; but he'll never tell the baker."

"Yes," said Mr. Profundity, "it is the silent forces in nature that are the most silent forces in nature that are the most potent. It is the silent strength of gravity that binds the world together; it is the silent power of light that gives life and beauty to all things; it is the silent stream that is deepest; it is—" "fit is the still sow that gets the most swill," Mrs. P. put in, seing her liege lord had got to the end of his rope and simile. dissertation.—Boston Transcript. "Dear old Aunt Sarah," said a school-girl, "don't see very well, and last Sun-day she was buzzing around getting ready for church, looking for umbrella, specs, overshoes, and last, but not least, her prayer-book. The latter she thought she had secured by grabbing something off her bureau at the last moment, but when she got to church it proved to be my musical box and the oid lady, in trying to find her place in this uncommon book of prayer, touched the spring, and it went off in fine style to the tune of 'Oh, Jim Along, Jim Along Josey." When the shrewd, small hoy, who is left

When the shrewd, small boy, who is left alone in the house during the evening, makes such a mess of his raid on the pie closet that it is bound to be noticed when his parents return, he hies him to his room, puts a pillow in his bed to repre-sent himself, extinguishes the gas, and gets under the bed. And when the old man under the bed. And when the old man comes up stairs, madder than a wet cat, and without stopping to light the gas, lathers that pillow with a trunk strap, the boy yells as though he was getting it, and the old man goes off satisfied. That's the sort of boy who will grow up to run ward caucuses and be a senator.
