Questions & Answers

TROUBLE WITH HENS; CATTLE SWEATING

Flock of about 80 Buff Orpingtons look fine and healthy. Every morning one or more will be unable to walk, will fall from the roost, and be that way for a day or two, and then be as smart as ever. They were very bad during February and March?

2. We get quite a few eggs that are strong and unfit for use. What is the cause of this trouble? The hens are getting both milk and water. We feed barley and oats mixed, oyster shells and plenty of grit.

3. Why is it that some of my cattle and calves sweat at night very freely, and the stable is only fairly warm? J. E. C. Sask.

Ans.—1. The trouble likely is leg weakness, brought on by feeding unbalanced rations. It occurs sometimes in hens that are being fed heavily, and is taken as an indication that there is not a sufficiency of protein in the ration. Reduce the amount of food given, and add meat to the ration twice a week.

2. It is difficult to say what is causing the trouble here. It very rarely happens that eggs, freshly laid, have an undesirable taste or odor. We are of the opinion that your flock has not had an opportunity to exercise sufficiently, and has not been given bone, and the hens forced to exercise for their food. This, together with the addition of a bulky green food, like mangolds, to the winter ration, should correct this trouble.

3. Cattle at this season are apt to sweat, from the fact of their coats being heavy, not having yet shed their winter coating of hair. This combined with bad ventilation, although the stable may not be overheated, would bring about sweating. Ventilate your stable well. Never close it up tight while the cattle are in. This, we think, will overcome the trouble.

BOUNTY FOR GOPHERS

Is there any bounty offered for the killing of gophers in Saskatchewan? SASK. READER.

Ans.—At no time has any bounty been offered in Saskatchewan for the destruction of gophers. In some of the L. I. D.'s the councils purchase a quantity of strychnine and supply it to the settlers for destroying gophers. Last year there was a rebate allowed on such purchases, but no appropriation has been made for a continuance of this practice.

INBREEDING

1. Is a calf, the dam and sire of which are mother and son, eligible for registration in the Dominion Shorthorn Herd Book, the sire and dam both being registered therein?

2. Would it be advisable to use an animal as closely bred as this for breeding purposes? J. S. D. Sask.

Ans.—1. Yes.

2. Inbreeding generally is not advisable, though it is a matter of record, that some of the most noted individuals in the Shorthorn breed were the progeny of stock that had been closely in-bred for several generations. In ordinary circumstances, however, unless one cannot avoid it, it is advisable to breed from unrelated stock. Close breeding in a herd, especially if the breeder is not a master in the art, is liable to induce deterioration in the size, quality and vigor of the stock. Carried on for any time, it is likely to ruin

VALUE OF WINNIPEG ESTATE

As a six year subscriber to the paper, I beg to ask regarding some lots in Winnipeg. They are gentleman up here, and trade them for my farm, follows: Lots 11 to 20 in 18 to 27 in Block 6, part of in the Parish of Kildonan, in the Winnipeg Land No. 1033.

1. What is the present of these?

2. Is there likely to be a car line run by them, or distance, if so will it present value?

I trust that you will be know soon and oblige. Sask.

Ans.—These lots are 1 mile outside the city line on what is called Pembroke of the continuation of Mc and are 25x99 feet each. It is no car line in prospect that I know of, no chart applied for and this would being outside the city, are no improvements of I know of on this property not consider the value of speculative purposes to $75 each. Though I estimate the value of property kind at all, other than for den purposes.
