STEBAURMAN'S
OINTMENT
To Whom it may Concern:— Here is evidence of the wonderful healing power of Stebaurman's Ointment to the public:— My little boy suffered terribly from eczema, and this Ointment made a perfect cure of him. I would not be without Stebaurman's Ointment for anything.
Yours truly,

HOLD TRENCH A WHOLE DAY

Eleven Brave British-ers Showed Wonderful Pluck in Ypres
Affair

London, July 8.—An eye-witness, under date of June 4, reported:
On Monday evening last we recaptured the stables close to the Hooge Chateau, near Ypres. A row of houses on the main road just outside the grounds of the chateau was in our hands, but the stables had been disputed ground. In this quarter fighting is proceeding. On the Festubert front our guns severely damaged the German trenches near Ferme du Bois, and a working party of infantry who attempted to repair them lost heavily from our rifle fire.
Among many other stories of heroism which are narrated of the fighting around Ypres may be mentioned one of an incident which occurred on May 23. The enemy had attacked our line on the east of the salient had driven it back for some distance, and had occupied our trenches. In one trench, however, were an officer and ten men who refused to fall back in spite of the desperate situation in which they were placed, and fought on throughout the day, almost surrounded and under incessant attacks with hand grenades. Several times word was sent to the officer authorizing him to retire, but in the face of what must have appeared certain death he remained where he was, in the hope that we might recover the position by a counter-attack. It was not till nightfall that the gallant handful withdrew, after having kept the enemy at bay all day.

A Trying Experience.
During our attack near Fromelles on May 9 and 10 one of our men had a trying experience, in which he displayed great gallantry and presence of mind. After having got into the German trench, and finding that he was the only survivor of the party with which he had advanced, and that he was being surrounded by the enemy, he managed to crawl into a deep shell crater close by. The Germans knew where he was, but could not shoot him and were prevented from approaching him by our rifle fire. They therefore contented themselves with lobbing hand grenades into the crater where he lay.
All day long the British soldier remained in this hole in the ground within a few yards of the hostile infantry, picking up and hurling back the bombs with which he was pelted.
At night he managed to crawl back safely to our lines.
Commander's Close Touch.
Whenever possible troops who have been fighting are inspected by the commander-in-chief so soon as they are relieved from the trenches, and these inspections, which are of the most simple character, are deeply appreciated by all ranks. The commander-in-chief passes slowly along the ranks and then makes a short speech thanking the troops for the services they have rendered and explaining in a few words the true significance of the operations in which they have taken part.
To men who may have been for weeks under incessant shell fire without to all appearance achieving any result compensating for the sacrifice they have endured it means much to learn that their devotion as, for instance, in the trenches round Ypres, has had an appreciable if indirect effect not only on operations in this theatre of war but on the international situation. Nor is it possible to estimate the effect of the personal influence which plays a part in such direct relations between the commander-in-chief and the soldiers. It has done much in inspiring the splendid devotion of our men.
Master R. Redmond, son of Mr.
Patk. Redmond, who had been two months in Hospital suffering from an affection of the left eye is now able to be out. The impaired sight is gradually becoming normal.
