Hamilton, Aug. 29.—There was a bold highway robbery on the dime novel plan, two miles over the James street. Mountain on Sunday night about 11 o'clock. The victim was B. P. Hess, Ryckman's Corporal, a butcher. He was driving home alone and at a lonely spot on the road noticed a man lying in the ditch. The man said he was a farmer and that his horses had run away and that he was badly hurt and was unable to get up. He begged Hess to help him. As Hess bent over to do as requested some one dealt him a terrible blow across the back of the neck. He did not know anything after that until he woke up and found that he had been robbed of $168, the proceeds of the load of meat he had sold on the market.

Dime Novel Robbery.

DUTY ON STEEL RAILS.

Order in Council Giving Effect to the Act Passed.

Ottawa, Aug. 29.—Experts appointed by the Government, having reported that steel rails in every way up to specification are being manufactured at Sault Ste. Marie, an Order-in-Council was passed Saturday morning bringing into force a duty of $7 a ton on steel rails and bars for use in Canadian railways.

Yankee Rails For the G.T.P.

New York, Aug. 29.—Grand Trunk Pacific sponsors have sent out enquiries for supplies of steel rails. 1905 delivery, estimated at 100,000 tons. It is considered likely the entire tonnage will be given to American mills, because it is a manifest impossibility for Canadian rail makers to meet the demand.

The Canadian transcontinental project may need all the rails included in the inquiry before the end of 1905. The company is willing to pay for American rails $20 per ton, which would make the quantity of rails quoted worth $2,000,000 to the steel company securing the order.

JOHN'S SPRINT

"Hadden sprinted since I was a boy and thought I had forgotten how to do it," remarked Ex-Ald. John Liddy this a. m., "but I was compelled to step lively Saturday morning and I covered the ground at a John White rate of speed. You see my horse got scared at an automobile and you see I had to catch it. He seemed to know he was getting away and started like my friend John White, gets away at the starting game in a race. I was after him, however, and I stepped lively for about 25 yards and caught the horse. Had it been any further I couldn't have gone the distance. Twenty-five yards is my limit. It was Saturday morning as I said and King Street was lined with rigs. Had the runaway been as scared me, the result would certainly have been serious and I just had to catch that steed of mine."

MATTER OF DIVORCE

"There has been more disagreement between husbands and wives during the past month than I have ever known of before," remarked Judge Houston this morning. "It is something terrible the number who are having differences—and that is putting it very mildly. Why in one afternoon I had no less than seven wives consult me in regard to their husbands. Liquor and another woman are the general causes, but there are other reasons, and the most frequent reason assigned. Of course the men are not always to blame, but the fault is theirs in a good many instances. "Do you think that an easier divorce law would be beneficial?" the Judge was asked. "In individual cases," replied Mr. Houston, "I think that it would, but an easy divorce law is a curse to a country as a whole. There are cases where a divorce is the only possible remedy, and the price in Canada puts the divorce out of the question, but to assist a few of the good of the whole community must not be sacrificed. In Detroit an average of twelve divorces per week are granted all the year round, but there are other places where divorces can be obtained much more readily even in the State of Michigan. This was brought to my notice some time ago. A man got into a little trouble with his neighbors and went to Michigan. He had done nothing serious—nothing that he could not easily have settled. In three years all the word his wife had from him was one letter advising her to sell the household effects and pay the debts. At the end of three years he applied for a divorce and the papers were served here. The grounds alleged were desertion. The wife was surprised. For here I wrote to a firm of American solicitors asking them to contest the suit. I stated the facts, namely, the departure of the man and the fact that there had been no quarrel between husband and wife. The solicitors wrote back advising that the suit be not contested. They said that the wife might as well keep her money as she had no chance. The course of the country was their lax divorce laws and their loose administration. The Judge as soon as he heard the wife's story would grant the divorce to her on the ground that she was better off without a husband who would leave her like that. The husband didn't care how he got it and the wife might just as well keep her money."
