

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., OCT. 18, 1912.

The United Baptist Convention of the Maritime Provinces meets at Moncton, N. B., on Oct. 19th & 20th.

Monday, Oct. 28th, has been appointed as Thanksgiving Day. Surely no people ever had greater cause for thanksgiving than have the inhabitants of Canada.

The Department of Trade and Commerce has extended to December 15th the time for receiving tenders for the steamship service between Canada and West Indies and Canada and Jamaica.

The death of Dr. James R. Inch, one of the leading educationists of the province of New Brunswick for many years and a man widely known and universally respected, occurred on Sunday evening last. He was 77 years of age.

The Acadian has received a copy of the initial number of The Canadian Countryman, published at Toronto, Ont. It is an exceedingly well gotten up and interesting publication devoted, as the name indicates, to the farming interests. We wish it the success it deserves.

The advocates of reciprocity received another unmistakable answer on Saturday last in the constituency of Macdonald, Manitoba, when Alexander Morrison, the government candidate, was elected over R. L. Richardson, the independent who received the full Liberal support, by a decisive majority of 87 votes. The interesting feature of the contest was that the defeated candidate made reciprocity the main question. The Conservatives had a majority of 161 in Macdonald at the last election.

The Boston Red Sox, pennant winners of the American League, are the world's champions of 1912. Defeating the New York Nationals Wednesday by a score of three to two in ten innings of a bitterly fought struggle, the Red Sox captured their fourth victory of the series, and carried off the premier honors of baseball. The Giants won three games of the series that were before more than a quarter of a million people, and one contest was a tie. The total receipts for the eight games were $490,831, and each Red Sox player received $4,024, while the Giant players each came in for $2,566.

Mr. Bradford, who is engaged in social work in Amherst, is making a short visit in town. On Saturday evening he addressed the Atheneum Society on the value of story telling, illustrating his remarks by numerous humorous stories. On Sunday morning he spoke at the Y. M. C. A. prayer meeting. On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday mornings he gave short addresses to the student body at the Chapel exercises. His subject on Tuesday was the "General Social Problems," and on Thursday "Public Recreation." All these addresses were very instructive and much enjoyed by those privileged to hear them.

Acadia Defeats Dalhousie.

Acadia defeated her old rival, the Dalhousie football team, on the campus on Wednesday afternoon, by the score of 11-0. This is the first time for many years that Acadia has won a victory over the black and gold. Both teams were in the pink of condition and a good game was the result.

Acadia got the kick-off but Dalhousie carried the pigskin into Acadia's territory, and after a few minutes play, forced the ball over the dead line. Then Acadia got down to business and slowly worked the play into Dalhousie's territory where P. T. Andrews scored after fifteen minutes of play. On account of the high wind and the difficult position, Lee-man was unable to convert. For the remainder of the half the play remained in Dalhousie's territory and Andrews scored again in about four minutes. Raton tried to convert, but failed. Soon after this Porter carried the pigskin over the line for a third try, which was easily converted by Raton. In a few minutes after this the whistle blew for half time.

In the second half there was no score although both teams tried hard. The play was mostly in Dalhousie's territory and Acadia forced the visiting team to touch for safety several times.

Teams were:	Dalhousie	Acadia
Full Back	Campbell	Morrison
Half Backs	Johnson	Leaman
	Little	Porter
	Hillman	L. Andrews
	Richmond	(capt) P. S. Andrews
Quarter Backs	Southerland	Eaton
	Meach	P. T. Andrews
	McKay	Kitchen
Forwards	Phinney	Freda
	Pinso	Atkins
	McArthur	Spencer
	Tompson	McKay
	James	Kinman
	McLellan	Lyoua
	Graham (capt.)	VanAnburg

The executive committee of the Dartmouth branch of the League for the care and protection of the Pictou-Blair dam has held a public meeting on October 18th in Christ Church hall for the purpose of laying before the public the aims and objects of the League.

Patrons are respectfully requested to place their orders early so there may be no disappointing disappointments when the busy season begins.

Talking Free Trade.

BY REVIEWER.

Some of the good old free trade Liberal talk that was so common previous to 1895, is being handed out again. Fifteen years ago we heard a lot of free trade as it is in England. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, W. S. Fielding and other leading Liberals went up and down the country preaching free trade as the only thing that could save the country, and that the National Policy introduced by Sir John Macdonald and Sir Charles Tupper was the road by which the country was to be ruined. Dr. Clark, one of the western members of the House of Commons, is a pure Cobdenite. His home was in the atmosphere of the English Manchester School, where he imbibed all the folly, nonsense and stubborn blindness of the old English politician. This free trade folly seems to be working in the Liberal Campaign, but if a complete exposure of the humbug of the Liberal party in this connection has to be all gone over again as it was in the recent contest in Macdonald, Manitoba, simply to gratify Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his leading supporters, then let it come the sooner the better.

As a matter of fact any Liberal who advocates free trade in this year of our Lord, should seek common sense enough to discover a short cut to the closing of his mouth on this particular subject. It is true that previous to 1896 Sir Wilfrid and about all the men who subsequently comprised his first Cabinet advocated free trade. The Laurier government never attempted to introduce free trade when once they were in power. The British preference was a protectionist measure. It introduced the principle of differential treatment of different countries on a protectionist basis. It was likewise more or less dishonest for it was careful to increase the general duties on those articles mainly imported from Great Britain. No man can be a free trader and advocate protection, because it means protection to British manufacturers against German manufacturers on the Canadian market, a thing which may be most desirable but is absolutely contrary to free trade.

The Laurier government carefully developed every vicious tendency which a tariff put to wrong uses is capable of fostering. It went so far as to hit his political enemies through the tariff and give special protection to political friends, or thus purchase influence. It permitted corporations to build up monopolies and then capitalize the tariff on what they sold in watered stock. In every direction instead of applying the tariff to the legitimate purpose of protecting Canadian industry, the Liberal government prostituted it to every device by which its political friends could make money by tariff manipulations. It even introduced the bounty system which is a straight application of the evils which may be incidental to a badly applied tariff, without any of the good effects which must be incidental to even the worst tariff.

And what did those convinced free traders who were elected as Liberals to parliament do? They sat absolutely dumb. For fifteen years they voted for every piece of tariff manipulation of which the Liberal party was guilty. They voted against every attempt to remedy evils which crept into the tariff. They were faithful servants of a government which bought and sold and tied hand and foot to the interests which could and did use the tariff for their private advantage. Is it any wonder that the people consider these free trade talkers the biggest nuisances we have in Canadian public life, and that the voting public as well as born free traders listen to them very much as the man who has been bitten hears the beggarisms of the thimble rigger.

The Borden government has done more in one year in office to put the tariff on a proper scientific basis than the Liberals in fifteen. In the matter of cement it found a trust which had capitalized the duty, exploiting a scarcity, and it promptly cut the duty in two. It has swept away the steel bounties which cost Canada $1,000,000 a year, and its tariff commission, the idea of which by the way is hated by the trusts, would by now be grappling with the problems of the general tariff had not a Liberal Senate come to the rescue of its threatened friends and blocked the bill. We have sketched on a Liberal platform who wishes to protect in a scientific way the Canadian development by Canadians. The wish is for our workmen to be driven from their homes, the home market destroyed, capital lost, all because a band of statesmen in the long ago led by Cobden inaugurated free trade in England. If the Liberal leaders fall in again deceiving the Canadian voter in the matter of the National Policy, it won't be because of the absence of true blue unmitigated gall and hypocrisy and a transparent endeavor to deceive the people at any cost. Laurier, himself, seems to set and talk as if Providence had sent him upon a special mission to rule in Canada. His unbusinesslike egotism and mechanical appearance reminds one of Peter the Hermit with this variation, that Peter wore coarse raiment and was honest.

Letters to the Editor.

THE MUD BRIDGE CURVE.

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN:

Sir,—I find a very strong rapidly growing sentiment in the town against straightening out the curve in Main street at Mud Bridge. Some oppose it on the ground of expense, thinking that the money might be very much more profitably expended elsewhere than the present curve very much more picturesque. Personally I am inclined to agree with both. Anyway I hope the undertaking will not be rushed through without some attempt to ascertain the general feeling regarding it. I hope some other citizens will express their opinions in your columns.

Very truly yours,
RATEPAYER.

THAT POOR LITTLE MOOSE.

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN:

Referring to the moose which was killed on Saturday of last week in the orchard of Mr. J. M. Davison, Long Island, that gentleman wishes to thank the parties for the very generous slice of its meat which was apportioned to his share (?). That the thoughtfulness of such persons is only exceeded by their generosity is plainly evident from the liberal remuneration which was rewarded the owner for the assistance he rendered in conveying their body to market. The moose was a small-sized one, a poor little morsel, the little fellow had a great deal of sympathy on account of its untimely end—but the audacity and avariciousness of its slayers, who were not backward at all in trespassing upon the private premises of Mr. Davison, fully compensate for the smallness of the animal. There are citizens of our town who are so puffed up with self-conceit, as to think that the property of others is sacred exclusively to their benefit in such exciting moments, whereas on second thoughts, no doubt they would consider it better policy to obtain permission first from the owners.

JUSTITIA

"BRITISH FREEDOM" IN "COMMERCE RELATIONS."

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN:

Mr. EDITOR.—The above is the heading of a somewhat eloquent synopsis appearing in The Morning Chronicle of the 16th inst., referring to a sermon delivered before the Baptist church on Sunday last by Pastor Webber, his subject being from Psalm 23rd, "My cup runneth over." Mr. Webber, according to his reporter, said: "I may be stepping out of the pulpit but I think it my duty to say that I think there should be the freest possible intercourse between the nations of the world, and that trade and commerce should flow freely between them all." Mr. Webber's long residence in the United States, that great free trade nation, must be responsible for his highly excited pronouncement. Since the decisive pronouncement of the Canadian people in September, 1911, and its renewal on the 12th inst. in Manitoba, we have a strong suspicion that Canadians are considering the economic phase of this Biblical free trade theory, and will fail to appreciate the proposal for trade in commerce to flow freely between them all. In these barren days, any consolation the free traders may gather from Mr. Webber's views will be well come food.
