

HE NOW BELIEVES IN "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Because He No Longer
Suffers With Headaches

TAYLORVILLE, Ont.
"I was a sufferer from Frightful Headaches for over two years. Sometimes, they were so bad that I was unable to work for days at a time. I took all kinds of medicine, was treated by physicians and dentists, but to no avail.

A short time ago, I was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives" and I did so, with I must confess, very little faith. But after I had taken them for three days, my Headaches were easier and in a week the fits were gone.

After I had taken a box of these tablets, my headaches were quite cured. My appetite was always poor and my stomach bad—but now my appetite is splendid and my digestion excellent.

I had become thin and weak but now not only have I been cured of all these awful Headaches, but my strength is growing up once more and I like to think I am well again.

Two Mothers.

(By Minnie Pike.)

I laid my boy in the coffin,

I closed his sweet blue eyes,

I folded the hands, as snowy;

As the flower that in them lies;

With a heart that was almost broken,

I gazed on that little face;

Farewell! On a brighter to morrow

I shall meet him, by God's grace.

But what of that other mother,

Whose boy is strong and tall?

She has seen him grow to manhood.

He was her joy—all, her all.

To night, as she prays by her bedside,

He revels with comrades fine;

When he staggers home drunk in the morning,

Whose heart will ache most—her's or mine?

Away in the graveyard, yonder,

In a cold and narrow bed,

They had laid my little daughter—

The birds sing o'er her head.

Ah! the day they took her from me.

And laid her 'neath the snow!

But I'll clasp her to my bosom

In the Home where I mean to go.

And to night there's another mother,

With a girl so bright and fair;

She has grown to be a woman.

'Neath a mother's love and prayer,

She's the belle of balls and parties,

Is the bright of all to shine;

If mother sees her die, 'not ready,'

Whose heart will ache most, her's or mine?

Oh! ye who bend o'er small coffins,

And treasure bright curls of fair hair,

Think not that your hearts are the saddest,

Or your cross the hardest to bear!

For in the bright fields of fair Eden,

Your flowers are blooming above;

Go pray for the drunkard and outcast;

Who once shared a dear mother's love.

Young Men.

It entered Parliament when he was hardly twenty-two, and was Prime Minister of Great Britain before he was twenty-five.

The typical missionary, who outlined the ideal and set the pattern, he who undertook the most stupendous work ever enterprise, the work of reconciling God and man, said at the age of thirty-three, "It is finished," and returned to heaven from whence he came.

God officially witnessed the stoning of Stephen at twenty-seven, and a short time after was commissioned by Christ to bear his name in the Gospels.

Timothy was but fourteen when converted and eighteen when called to become the assistant to the great apostle.

Andrew Johnson was but twenty-two when he resolved to devote himself to foreign mission work, and started for India at twenty-four.

Robert Morrison was but twenty-two when he was accepted by the London Missionary Society and commissioned to open Christian work in China.

David Livingston was twenty-one, fresh Chamberlain minister and Bishop of Bonn, only seventeen. He dedicated his life to foreign mission work. These are exceptional cases, but illustrate the rule. Whatever in history we may mark a great movement of humanity, we commonly detect a young man at its head or at its heart.—John F. Goucher.

A Temperance Hotel That Pays Dividends.

Newmarket, Ont., Dec. 6.—Sixty leading citizens of Newmarket, who own the King George, a temperance hotel, which the travelling public declare offers better accommodations than any licensed house in towns much larger than Newmarket, held a banquet on Nov. 29th, to celebrate the close of another successful year. Dr. J. H. Weston submitted the financial statement that the company was in a position to pay a dividend of 8 per cent.

A Methodist preacher was arrested in Helsingfors, Finland, for street preaching. On being brought before the magistrate and asked what defence he had, he took out his Methodist Discipline and began to read the General Rules. The judge asked for the book, kept it over night, read it, and said to the preacher the next day: "Go ahead and preach all of this you want to. I wish we had hundreds like you."

Pack, wash, drain and remove stems from the grapes, then separate skins from the pulp. Put the pulp in a granite sauceman and heat to a boiling point. Keep over a slow heat until the seeds separate themselves from the pulp, then rub through a sieve. Add an equal measure of sugar and cook slowly thirty minutes. If gas is used for preventing burn, it should be set on an asbestos mat. Dispose of in jelly glasses or jars and cover with paraffin wax.—Eduard Dornow in Woman's World for August.

A Weak Chested Boy.

"My boy Frank seemed weak-chested and took a severe cold," writes Mrs. D. Stevens, Ning Man. "The many medicines that I tried seemed to do no good, so we tried Dr. Chase's Ointment. We used Linseed and Turpentine and found it to be exactly what was wanted to cure him." No treatment is so thorough and effective as a cure for croop and bronchitis.

"My plea," said the proud young lawyer, "seemed to deeply affect the jury." "Yes," replied the Judge, "I was afraid at one time that you would bring about the conviction of your client in spite of his innocence."

Eczema and Sore Eyes.

"My daughter suffered from inflamed eyelids and eczema on her head," writes Mrs. H. W. Lewis, Port Hope, Ont. "The ointment did no good, so we tried Dr. Chase's Ointment and found it to be exactly what was wanted to cure him." No treatment is so thorough and effective as a cure for croop and bronchitis.

"The question is," said the young lawyer, "whether we can keep him alive?" "Yes," added the elder

M. D., "how long can we keep him alive?" "Aad sick," added the elder

M. D., correctly.

CARTERFIELD, N. S.—

MINARD'S LIMENTINE CO., LIMITED—We have sold our last month over 100,000 bottles by prescription, so badly do we need them, so we have decided to sell them to the public at a price of 25c. per bottle. This is the best Limentine and Turpentine and found it to be exactly what was wanted to cure him." No treatment is so thorough and effective as a cure for croop and bronchitis.

At that time it was not known whether this point was north or south of the 49th parallel, but it was known to be close to it. The understanding was that from that point the boundary should go north or south to the Great Lakes or to the St. Lawrence river and Great Lakes, respectively.

Later and more accurate surveys showed that point was about 25 miles north of the 49th parallel, and so at this place the boundary makes a jog above that line.

The republic thus has a little piece of territory of about 100 square miles in extent north of the general boundary and containing a few islands.

Later and more accurate surveys showed that point was about 25 miles north of the 49th parallel, and so at this place the boundary makes a jog above that line.
