Guelph, Jan. 30, 1903.

Gentlemen,—I have intended writing you for a long time regarding your preparation, Powley's Liquified Ozone. I think it is a grand remedy, as I am certain it has been the means of preventing myself and children from having that dread disease, consumption. We first commenced using it when my dear daughter had consumption in a very advanced stage, but she was too Paines Celery Compound The Health Giving Spring far gone to save her life. How I wish we had known of Ozone earlier, for I Medicine. am sure if we had she would have been alive to-day. She was much troubled with her stomach, being unable to digest her food, so rapidly became worse.

She was sick nearly a year before we heard of Ozone and decided to try it. It helped her and I know prolonged her life, but the disease had reached her bowels and it was impossible to save her. When she was in pain Ozone would give her almost instant relief, and I shall ever feel grateful to it for alleviations are too while. Thousands of prominent clergymen n Canada and other lands through the use of Paine's Celery Compound are ing my poor child's suffering.

At the time, through overwork in caring for her, I was in very poor happily pursuing their pastoral duties and ministering with success to their health myself, but Ozone built me up and restored my health. Last winter my baby, always a delicate little thing, had congestion of the lungs, and I congregations. Paper Hunting. One of the most exciting of all riding games is paper hunting, or following a trail made by dropping pieces of paper. It can be made as dangerous as steeplechasing or no more so than an ordinary gallop over the fields. The danger is in the fences to be ridden over, says Country Life In America. There is no limit to the pace but the speed of the leading horse and the necessity of keeping the trail. The "hare," as the man a-horseback who lays the trail is called, is expected to foil his pursuers, the "hounds," as often as he can by the arts of the fox or by his own ingenuity, only restricted by certain rules of the game.

The American climate, with its extremes of heat and cold, is very trying upon ivory, and ivory backed mirrors of European manufacture almost invariably crack across the back after a few months of use upon this side of the Atlantic. The American manufacturers have hit upon the expedient of leaving a space between glass and frame in order to allow for contraction and expansion.
