

One of David Belasco's greatest successes, "Men and Women," was presented at the Savoy Theatre last night for the first time and it promises to be the success of the Selman Stock Company's engagement. It was produced in a manner that reflected great credit on the company, and the new director, Mr. Cecil Owen.

In detail the presentation was well high perfect and the gowns of the ladies were exceptionally beautiful. Naturally interest was aroused over the debut of Miss Marie Pettes, the new leading lady of the Selman company, and she was given a reception on her first appearance. She has grace, vivacity and power. While the part of Agnes Rodman is not a great one, it offered opportunity to show the charming young actress possesses temperament and talent. Mrs. Selman was admirably cast as William Prescott and held the audience with a sure grasp. Theatrical Grey gave a fine characterization of Israel Cohen. Cecil Owen invested the role of Governor with dignity and charm. His reading was a delight to the ear. The detail is perfect and his methods of expression illuminative to the highest degree. The keynote, which he strikes on his first entrance, proclaims the artist. There is force and power in his delineation and without doubt Cecil Owen's Governor Rodman is one of the finest studies of character that has been given in the Savoy in this season. Stuart Beebe was artistic in the light comedy role of Sam DeLaford. Miss Pearl Gray was a winsome Margaret Knox. Miss Edythe Treadwell was dignified as Mrs. Prescott, she has a magnificent stage presence. Campbell Stratton appeared to advantage as Calvin Steidman. Albert Travenne was as pleasing as ever in the role of Col. Rip, and with Miss Claudia Lucas as the young widow, met with favor—especially in their brilliant comedy scene in the first act. Miss Kathryn Shay displayed emotional power as Dora Prescott and made a charming stage picture. Miss DuBois made the most of the night owing to the scenery not being ready, as it was originally intended to present "The Circus Girl." As "Florodora" is very popular with Canadian audiences, it was thought advisable to make the change. The same principals as seen in San Toy will appear in "Florodora." Seats are now on sale.

WARD AND VOKES RE-UNITED.

Seats go on sale Thursday morning for Ward & Vokes, who will appear at the Grand next Saturday matinee and night. The Pittsburgh Leader says Ward & Vokes, reunited after a separation of several seasons, with the splendid company with which they have surrounded themselves, were greeted with an audience last night that filled every seat in the Alvin theatre. The musical frolic in which the combination appears this season is called "The Promoters," just why it is hard to determine unless it be that smiles and laughter and applause are heaped from start to finish. Ward & Vokes are so well known and have for so many years been such strong favorites in Pittsburgh that little need be said of them further than that as Lord Knobs and Count Up they have all the opportunity needed to demonstrate their ability as fundholders.

Perhaps the strongest feature of the show is the Ward & Vokes ladies' band, one of the best organizations of the kind ever heard in Pittsburgh. The members are entirely separate from the chorus and appear only as a band. They were vigorously applauded and forced to respond to several encores. The clarinet solo by Miss Elizabeth Shipley was especially fine.

KATHRYN OSTERMAN'S GOWN.
"Garbed in her $1,000 cloth-of-gold director's gown, Kathryn Osterman is a vision of billowy delight," is the way Winnifred Black describes the appearance of the brilliant comedienne in her new comedy offering "The Night of the Play." Feminine interest goes out strongly to Miss Osterman's gowns. They are elaborate. As for the play, laughter is the keynote of the Osterman entertainment. It breaks out at the most unexpected times and places until sometimes there comes a vague wonder whether or not the clever star and her able assistants are going to overdo it and spoil the fun by too much of it. But fortunately it is said, they do not. Kathryn Osterman in "The Night of the Play" is universally declared a delight. She will appear at the Grand next Monday evening.

ELGAR CHOIR FIRST CONCERT.
The concert to be given to-morrow evening by the Elgar Choir is one of more than ordinary importance. The hard work of many weeks of rehearsal

EMIL PAURE,
Conductor of the Pittsburgh Orchestra.

will be heard in the choral numbers, which are diversified enough to please all tastes. The choir selections are: "Autumn," (Grieg), "Sweetheart, Sign No More," women's voices, (Paul Ambrose), "One Sweetly Solenn Thought," (R. S. Ambrose), "Adoramus Te," (Palestrina), "Judge Me, O God," (Mendelssohn), "Bold Turpin," (Bridge), "O Sommo Carlos," (Verdi), "Cradle Song," men's voices, (McDowell), "An Indian Lullaby," women's voices, (A. S. Vogt), Claude Cunningham, the famous baritone, will contribute, Pologue, "I Pledge," (Lyonovall), a group of three German songs, "It Is Enough," (Mendelssohn), and a group of three English songs. A programme of such extraordinary merit should not be missed by music lovers. Good seats can yet be obtained at the box office. The gallery admission to either concert will be 50c.

Ticket-holders are reminded that the Elgar Choir concerts begin promptly at 8.15 and that adhering to seats will not be permitted during the performance of any number. Patrons are urged to be in their seats at 8.10 to prevent inconvenience.

WISHES HIS WIFE HAPPINESS.
New York, Feb. 16.—Daniel Frohman, manager of the Lyceum Theatre, who announced yesterday that he and his wife, Margaret Hillington, the actress, had agreed to a separation preliminary to a divorce, expressed the hope to his friends today when told that his wife might become the bride of Edward J. Bowes, a real estate man of San Francisco, that she would be very happy. Mr. Frohman said he had not heard positively that Mrs. Frohman contemplated marriage with Mr. Bowes. He said:

"If Mrs. Frohman obtains a divorce and wishes to marry again I certainly hope that she does become the wife of Mr. Bowes. He is a splendid chap—man of great capacity, and a man, I think, who would make her a good husband. I have known Mr. Bowes a long time. So has Mrs. Frohman. He has visited New York frequently, and has been a guest at my home. I have always admired him greatly, and I see no reason why their marriage should not be a happy one."

PADEREWSKI.

It seems to be the consensus of opinion among the critics that Paderewski is now at his best. The great master is receiving the same praise on all his appearances during the present tour, (which is his last visit to America), and there is great joy in Hamilton musical circles at the opportunity to hear the famous musician, when he appears at the Grand Opera House on Wednesday, Feb. 24th. The subscription lists, which have been open for some weeks, and which have been completely filled, were taken up this afternoon and the plan for the seats opens at the Opera House on Saturday, Feb. 20th. There has been an unusually heavy demand for the cheap seats, which will be the first case of first come, first served, on Saturday and Monday.

GOOD BILL AT BENNETT'S.

There is an exceptionally strong bill at Bennett's vaudeville theatre this week, and it was enjoyed by two large audiences yesterday. There are three real "head liners" on the programme. Claire Romaine, an English music hall favorite, sang her way into the hearts of her audience, especially the girls. Miss Romaine made up as a dashing young man, appearing in the characters that made her famous in England, with a song for each character. She has a wonderful personality that is particularly adapted to the male characterizations she gives, and her repertoire of selections are original in every respect. Although it was the characters that made her famous in the old lands, it was her singing that caught the fancy of New Yorkers when she first appeared in America. Her songs were gems, and elicited round after round of applause. She will be, undoubtedly, one of the week's favorites.

Les Silva, Portuguese firemen, did a most thrilling ladder act, a new and novel feature. On an unsupported ladder this pair go through a routine of daring tricks, providing a series of sensational thrills. Another feature is the comedy of the men balances the other on a forty-foot ladder, without support of any kind.

Fiddler and Shelton, colored comedians, brought down the house with their real numbers and imitations. One is a particularly clever piano player and singer.

Jefferson Lloyd and Lizzie Evans presented a breezy sketch, entitled, "Turning the Tables," which was one of the most pleasing comedies seen at the theatre this season.

The other numbers on the bill were: The Vannams, comedy acrobats; Les Billings, rag picture artists; Barry and Halvers, comic comedians, and new motion pictures.

MME. EAMES' FAREWELL ACT.

New York, Feb. 16.—Mme. Eames did her farewell appearance at the Metropolitan Opera House last night in "Tosca," and signaled the event by extinguishing a fire in the stage that had extended to the scenery. This occurred in the second act, during her scene with Scarpia (Mr. Scott).

In some way a bit of blazing wax from one of the large candles which stand on the table in Scarpia's apartment fell on the table cloth, and it at once set ablaze. Mme. Eames saw the flame, and without breaking her singing for an instant, moved over to the table and, catching up the table cloth, rubbed it vigorously over the burning portion until she had extinguished the flames. The audience applauded the singer warmly, and forced her to bow her acknowledgments many times.

ALL SEATS SOLD.

All the seats for the entertainment to be given next Monday night in Association Hall by Mr. Frank Spaight, the celebrated interpreter of Dickens' works, have been sold. The members of the Dickens Fellowship, under whose auspices Mr. Spaight is to appear, are pleased to see Dickens' admirers here have appreciated their efforts.

AT THE COLONIAL.

Notwithstanding the inclement weather, the Colonial Theatre played to capacity yesterday afternoon and evening. The J. Frank Mackey's Humana Company presented new talking pictures, the feature subject being the great Indian drama, "The Call of the Wild." The other new pictures were good and interesting. The same bill will be presented this evening and to-morrow.

Patient—Oh, doctor, I have swallowed my false teeth. Doctor—Ah, that probably accounts for those gnawing pains in the stomach you have been complaining of.

Fat Is Out of Style

To paraphrase Caesar's remark, the diabolical gown came—was seen—and has conquered. So fat ladies are reduced, so to speak, to the necessity of either reducing at a very rapid rate or eliminating themselves from public view until the fashion dies out. Otherwise they risk being ridiculous.

Since many fat ladies will not eliminate themselves, however, but, per contra, will insist on wearing the curvaceous gown, no course is open to this well-meaning scribe other than to tell them how they may eliminate the fat.

What is there, then, that reduces fat safely? What pleasant, inexpensive article is there on druggists' shelves that can reduce a pound a day without causing wrinkles or stomach ache? What can the pharmacist offer to the necessity of eliminating over-seventy victims or ten-mile walks without breakfast? Is there anything pleasant to take and inexpensive to buy that will reduce one uniformly quickly and innocently thirty pounds a month? Here is the answer. Either write the Marmola Company, Detroit, Mich., or ask your local druggist for Marmola Prescription Tablets, and for 75 cents they or he will give you one containing these safe fat reducers, large case of those safe fat reducers, which is so generous a quantity of tablets that sometimes one case only is needed to produce the desired results. Can you match that for a simple solution of your problem?

MITE BOXES.

Charlton Avenue Church Raised $1,900 That Way.

One of the most enjoyable church concerts held here in some time took place last evening, when the 10th annual mite-box entertainment of Charlton Avenue Methodist Church was held and the boxes reported upon to the congregation. Mr. W. D. Platt presented the report, in which he mentioned the steady growth of the mite-box system, beginning as it had with about $500 a year, and coming up to the grand total of about $1,900 for this year. Mr. Platt then showed what had been done with the money. It had been used to pay off the indebtedness of the church. The debt being carried amounted to $10,000, and that was reduced by $1,900. Mr. Platt said a few words about Rev. R. H. and Mrs. Bell, whom he thought the finest yet. He hoped he would be long spared to work in the interest of the church. It is expected that fully 400 mite-boxes will be distributed this year.

The programme was all that could be desired, and the audience was quick to take advantage of that fact. Miss Craig, of Toronto, is a talented reader, while the Misses Craig were in splendid voice, as was Mr. W. H. Holland. Mr. W. H. Hewlett presided at the organ, and his numbers were among the gems of the evening's programme, which was as follows:

Instrumental—Overture to William Tell
W. H. Hewlett, Mus. Dir.
Solo—Ritournelle Chaminade
Miss Estella Carey.

Recitation—Vocal Contrasts Smiley

"THE WILD NORTH-EASTERN."

The trappers from stand desolate

Against the sunset clouded sky;

With weird wolf-tongues, howling in fate,

The wild north-eastern, cheering fly.

The untold cattle huddle close

Against the sunset clouded sky;

With weird wolf-tongues, howling in fate,

The wild north-eastern, cheering fly.

The startled geese rise from the snow;

Where'er thy bustling legion whirl;

Blow, blow—we feel, ye understand,

Retreat before thy charges hurled.

Sift, sift—scatter thy quads of care;

Let nature woo thy power; more;

While blaste of bugles food the air,

Shield, shield our homes with love sublime.

Pitch, pitch thy camp o'er vales and hills;

Thy tined banks of peace spread wide;

Secure slumbers 'neath thy master's will,

And faith of all in love abide.

PRINCE RUPERT.

The Terminus of the G. T. P. to be a Model City.

The Completion of the Survey Expected at Christmas.

(The Financier and Bullionist, Thursday, December 17, 1908.)

Writing from Prince Rupert in the Monetary Times of Canada, a special correspondent says: Many different impressions have been published in the press of Canada and the United States regarding Prince Rupert, the western terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific. Too often these are from the pens of correspondents who have spent but from one hour to perhaps a few days in the city.

Prince Rupert will not suffer greatly from exaggerated reports, be they favorable or adverse. The place is so situated geographically, and has so many natural advantages, that it will become a city upon its merits alone. It has its disadvantages. No new place is without them. The fact that it has been knocked by other coast cities, even before it has attained its dignity as a city of a settlement, is evidence of something substantial in its future in the commercial and shipping world.

At this time the only owners of real estate in Prince Rupert are the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Provincial Government. The Grand Trunk Pacific owns three-fourths of the town site and the Provincial Government one-fourth, which they have not yet selected except as regards the water front. The water front has been selected by the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Government on the same basis—three-fourths to the Grand Trunk Pacific and one-fourth to the Provincial Government. It is generally understood that the Government will make its selections, and that, together with the Grand Trunk Pacific, they will be ready to offer their portions of the town site to the public for purchase about May, 1909. Many lots have been already sold in a place named Prince Rupert, but which is not in the town site of the Grand Trunk Pacific, but on the mainland, are held by outside parties.

There are probably 600 or 700 residents in Prince Rupert, nearly all of whom are squatters. They are waiting to purchase their property when the opportunity is given them. Nearly every lot of business property here is held by a squatter, and visitors will require to bring with them nothing but money. They may come with a confidence that charges are not exorbitant. The necessities of life can be bought here at a good little price. Liquor is not sold here. There is not a licensed hotel in the place. The Provincial Government, it is understood, do not intend to grant a license until liquor until Prince Rupert has been incorporated.

OF THE MODEL CITY ITSELF.
The Government and the Grand Trunk Pacific, jointly, will probably begin the work of grading and improving the streets and installing the sewerage system at an early date. A liberal appropriation has been made for these necessities.

Surveying is being actively pushed forward and Christmas time will doubtless see it finished. Prince Rupert is being laid out as a model city. The land is rolling in contour, and in the planning of the city advantage has been taken of every possible beauty spot to show it, when improved, to the best advantage.

Prince Rupert has a harbor which in itself should ensure a permanent city. It is completely landlocked, deep, and has the best anchorage. About 14 or 15 miles of water front are available. On this the Grand Trunk Pacific have built 1,500 feet of wharfage and two large freight warehouses. These are resources which will help build Prince Rupert city, in addition to the shipping which should accrue from the opening up of the northern portions of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

Handling the trade of the Yukon, Prince Rupert will have a decided advantage, being nearly 550 miles nearer than Vancouver or Victoria. There is the rich but as yet scarcely developed mining industry of Skeena district, the Queen Charlotte Islands, and all the northern portion of the Province, where gold, copper, silver and lead and coal are in large quantities. The agricultural and fruit industries of the Bulkley and Nechaco valleys through which the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific will pass are another asset in addition to lumbering in all its branches. The fisheries, including the great halibut fishing banks of the Pacific and the salmon canning industries of the Skeena and Nass and other rivers of the northern coast of British Columbia will make for further development.

PROBLEMS OF REAL ESTATE.
The real estate situation is a poser, undoubtedly there will be money made and lost in real estate in Prince Rupert in the next few years. It is the writer's opinion that an effort is being made to boom beyond its actual value Prince Rupert real estate at the opening of the town site. Undoubtedly real estate will increase in value for a time. But unless the resources surrounding the embryo city are developed at an unusually rapid rate or the Grand Trunk Pacific is built much more quickly than at present there will surely be a time of depression should a real estate boom occur next summer. The present development of the industries from which Prince Rupert may hope to profit will not support a city of any great magnitude until the completion of the railway.

The labor situation seems to be complex. The wages paid by the contractors are from $2.25 to $2.50 per day for common labor. This is thought by some not to be sufficient when it is remembered that the coast has a moist climate, the laborers thus being subjected to much lost time. They pay $2.25 per week for board, work or no work. There are few Asians in Prince Rupert. The residents are making a hard fight to keep them out. If the people who come in during the next year are of the same mind, the movement may succeed, and Prince Rupert will be a white city.

NOTES OF THE CLIMATE.
The climate is not all that could be desired in some respects. Wet weather is the greatest objection, but there is no more rain here than in other coast cities. On the whole we hear few weather complaints in Prince Rupert. The climate is healthful, anyway. The present population have had little sickness of any kind, though as yet the place is without modern sanitation. A hospital, which the Grand Trunk Pacific is maintaining by the Grand Trunk Pacific, has been treated resulted from accidents. Snow falls at intervals in winter, but remains only from a few hours to a day or two.

To see for one's self before investing in Prince Rupert is not bad advice. Prince Rupert is destined ultimately to compete with Vancouver, Victoria or Seattle. We are 500 miles nearer the Orient.

C. P. R. NEW LINE.
A Branch From Coldwater Junction to Peterboro.

Montreal, Feb. 15.—The C. P. R.'s programme of railway construction this year east of Fort William is stated to include a branch line from Coldwater Junction to Peterboro, which will be part of the scheme for a short rail route between Montreal and Georgian Bay ports. It is anticipated also that during the coming season forty additional miles will be added to the double-tracking of the C. P. R. between Toronto and Montreal.

DIED OF FRIGHT.
Stone Thrown Through Window Causes Death of Occupant.

Montreal, Feb. 15.—Mrs. Elizabeth Courchesne, aged 59 years, died last night of fright at her residence on Chamby street. She lived with her four daughters, and in the absence of any male protection some practical jokes were accustomed to frighten the ladies by rapping on the windows. Last night Mrs. Courchesne threatened to shoot the disturbers, when a stone crashed through her window, and she collapsed and died in a few minutes.

Abraham Rosenstein, 18 years old, a Boston newsboy, has been chosen as the third recipient of the Newsboys' Union Harvard scholarship. Rosenstein was graduated from the Phillips grammar school, and from the Boston English High School.

GIRLS WON.

A Good Open Debate at Barton Street Church.

The first of a series of open meetings was held last night in Barton Street Methodist Church, and despite the inclement weather, a large gathering was present.

The programme consisted of a debate between the young men's union and the young ladies of the church. The subject was, "Resolved that adversity has done more for mankind than prosperity." The young ladies, who upheld the affirmative were Misses M. Robinson, L. Lambert and N. Newton. The young men were represented by Messrs. G. Head, C. Elkington and J. F. Walker. In dealing with the subject the young ladies dealt particularly on adversity in the formation of character, while the young men pointed out the ill-effects of industrial adversity.

Dr. Wickett, in announcing the decision, stated the contest had been very keen, and the judges had to decide solely on points, and after careful consideration they gave it to the affirmative by a majority of three points.

While the judges were out a short musical programme was given. Those taking part were Miss O. Wilson, Miss H. Stevenson and Mr. Reg. Dennis.

The young men contemplate holding open meetings once every month. The programmes will be announced from time to time. The general public are cordially invited.

THE NORTH END.

The Bay Front Might be the City's Best Residential District.

To the Editor of the Times:

Sir—Kindly insert in your valuable paper the following, which may be of value: As a stranger to your city I have traversed the entire city and find that beyond doubt that district lying north of the bridges overlooking the bay is one of the most valuable residential sites of the city, or at least it should be. Lying at the water's edge, cool in the summer, exhilarating in the winter, close to the business portion of the city, of easy access to the cars, boats and trains, and of magnificent scenery, that arm of land could be made Hamilton's "paradise." Beautiful residences, well-kept lawns, shady streets, would do much to advertise Hamilton to the incoming hordes of people coming daily in the summer. First impressions are lasting. Build that reventment wall, and that park, have adequate protection, with good lighting, that district should surely be a good residential section of the city for a joy forever. Let men, business, hustling men, look into this matter, and then Hamilton's "light under a mountain—under a bushel." This is merely a "pointer" from a visitor. Sincerely yours,

R. A. Brooks.
