RESIGN.
BY BERRY W. I

There is no death, however
But one dead lamb is there
There is no freedom, how
But has one vacant chair
The air is full of farewell
And mourning for the
The hours of Rachel's
Will not be comforted
Let us be patient! these
Not from the ground,
But often times celestial
Assumes this dark disguise
We see but dimly through
Aid these earthly days
What seem to be but dim
May be heaven's distant
There is no Death! who
This life of mortal here
Is but a suburb of the life
Whose portal we call I
She is not dead,—the chi
But gone into that arch
Where she no longer ne
And Christ himself do
Is that great cloister's
By guarding angels led Safe from temptation, is
She lives, whom we cr
Day after day we think
In those bright realms
Year after year her soul
Behold her grow more
Thus we do walk with
The bond which act
Thinking that our ren
May reach her where
Not as a child we
For with such raptur
Is our embrace we
She will not be a chi
But a fair maiden in her
Clothed with celestial
