BOVRIL.
 Report of the Feeding Experiments Made in the School of Physiology, Trinity College, Dublin.
 The preliminary announcement of the results of the experiments conducted at the request of the Local Government Board for Ireland during the past year, in the School of Physiology, Trinity College, Dublin, and communicated to the British Association at Sheffield ("Times" report, September 3), has created considerable interest amongst the Medical Profession.
 In order to secure a decisive test, dogs were first brought to a constant weight on dried dog-biscuit mixed with known quantities of water. Bovril—from 2½ to 7½ grammes—was then added to the food, with the result that the weight of the animals went up as much as 50 to 100 grammes, or, in round numbers, 10 to 20 times the weight of the Bovril given. Afterwards Bovril was discontinued, and the animals fell back to the original weight. Compared with the effect of hard-boiled white of egg, it was found that from 8 to 10 times as much by weight of the latter had to be given to obtain the same increase in weight, or, taking the dried organic solids in the two foods, from 2½ to 4 times as much egg white had to be given to obtain the Bovril effect.
 In several of the experiments there was a retention of reserve nitrogen, and in all an increased utilisation of other foods.
 It was therefore concluded that Bovril had both a direct and an indirect nutritive value, the latter by causing a more complete digestion and absorption of the other food given.

KEEPING UP-TO-DATE
 I have had the privilege of spending much time during the last three months among the Highest Class Opticians of England, France and Germany.
 It is also my privilege now to be able to tell you that my method of examining the eyes and fitting glasses for the various defects of vision are quite on a par with the best. This together with 15 years experience, and having tested the eyes of thousands of people, enables me to offer you the best services.
 I have also the finest machinery for grinding compound lenses; any glasses supplied at an hour's notice.
 Artificial Human Eyes Matched and Fitted.
R. H. TRAPNELL, EYE SIGHT SPECIALIST.

SHOPPING BY MAIL.
DICKS'S MAIL ORDER SERVICE annihilates the distance between your home and Dicks's Popular Book and Stationery Store and Bazaar of Fancy Goods.
Dicks's service is dependable, whether you trade in person, or ask us to make selection for you. In one way perhaps it may be said that we pay even closer attention to the order by mail, because when you call in person it naturally relieves the store of some of the responsibility of selection.
Please do not think that your order is thrown into the basket with scores of others to be ground out mechanically—nothing of the sort at the Popular Store.
It is the conscientious handling of orders as well as the high quality of goods which accounts for the steady growth of Dicks's Mail Order Service.
