The Turks Admit Defeat.

SEEKING THE INTERVENTION OF THE POWERS.

Special to Evening Telegram. LONDON, To-Day. The Turkish army is in full retreat on Constantinople and the Turkish Government has asked the Powers to intervene. An official bulletin, issued at Constantinople last night, admitted defeat at the hands of the Bulgarians in the great battle on the Thracian Plains. Application was made to the Embassies at Constantinople for mediation by the Powers for a cessation of hostilities and to arrange a peace agreement. The Ambassadors, prior to this, had asked the Porte to grant permission to each of the great Powers to send one warship through the Dardanelles. This request has been complied with. The prevalent opinion is that the Bulgarians will not listen until they are at the gates of Constantinople, and will then insist on direct negotiations. The Powers have not been able to agree upon the French formula of territorial disinterestedness, which is not acceptable to either Austria or Germany. Beyond the statement that the Turkish army is retreating to the last line of fortifications outside of Constantinople, little news was received from the seat of war last night. The besieging forces are tightening their grips around Adrianople, and the bombardment is becoming more vigorous. In other directions the allies are consolidating their occupation of Turkish territory. The Greeks have taken Nicopolis and Prevesh, and have landed a division at Stavros, from which they are marching to attack Salonika. An uncensored dispatch from the latter town intimated the likelihood of its surrender without resistance. In connection with the Serbian occupation of Preshevo, a warning from Austria appears in the official Fremdenblatt of Vienna, which on the supposition that the Serbians have now obtained the object of their operations towards the west, says: "There are neither military reasons nor national motives for the Serbian army to penetrate districts beyond Preshevo which are exclusively inhabited by Albanians, and which is therefore into undeniable territory of another Balkan people."

Special Evening Telegram. KIEL, To-day. The new armored cruiser, Goeben, and the protected cruiser, Bremen, are taking in provisions and ammunition to sail in 4 hours. It is understood they proceed to Turkish waters. Other German warships in the Mediterranean have been ordered to Turkish waters.

Dismasted Schr. Towed to Port.

The schooner Progress, Capt. Blackwood, which was dismasted of Old Perlican last week, as already reported, was towed into port yesterday in a crippled condition. The vessel had a strenuous passage and the crew a thrilling experience. The Progress is owned by James Baird, Ltd., and is used as a green fish catcher and trading vessel. She left Brookfield, B. B., on Sunday, October 27th, proceeding to Scilly Cove, Trinity Bay, she loaded dry fish there to bring to St. John's. She left again with her cargo on Thursday morning last and encountered a north east gale, which later developed into a hurricane. Huge seas continually went over her, fore and aft, sweeping her decks. As the day advanced the crew, who were hungry and fatigued, were anxious for the weather to moderate but instead of a lull in the elements they increased in violence so that food and sleep were out of the question. Capt. Blackwood kept his vessel head on to the gale when on Thursday evening last while "riding" in a false sea the Progress got all her head gear carried away as well as her foremast broken. Her canvas was torn in shreds. The Captain, in order to save the lives of all on board, ordered the mast be cut out of the vessel. When this was done the craft was upright. Suddenly the storm abated and the Progress put on a "jumbo" sail and reached an island near Old Perlican where she lay at anchor. Meanwhile the owners were acquainted, who made arrangements to have the crippled craft towed here and on Saturday evening the D. P. Ingraham left for Old Perlican, took the Progress in tow and brought her safely to port. After the fish is taken out of her the vessel will be dry docked. Diver Taylor was down this morning examining the vessel's hull which was found intact.

McMurdo's Store News.

MONDAY, Nov. 4, '12. The possession of a box of Pine Tree Lozenges, of which a few are sucked on the very first symptoms of a cold, is often all that is necessary to stay off a severe attack of cough or throat trouble. It is sometimes surprising to note what two or three of these Lozenges will do in the way of clearing away hoarseness and irritation of the throat, and soothing the bronchial tubes. The experience of several winters past is the foundation on which we have based the foregoing claims. Pine Tree Lozenges are no experiment, but a tried remedy for the conditions for which it is indicated. Price 25c. a box. Cream of Lilies puts the skin into proper order to resist the result of harsh winds and cold nights. It is unequalled for sprayed hands and face. Price 25c. a pot.

The Fat is in the Fire.

It is somewhat singular to find the Government Organ, the Daily News, gibing at a Board of Trade report. The Board of Trade was all right when it was the obedient child of the Government and its reports and doings could be cited in support of the Government party. But now it is another story. The fat is in the fire, because the Council has reported adversely on the way the Government has carried out the Bait Act during the season just ending. The taking off of the Fiona on two occasions from the Bait service was a public scandal, which drew adverse comments from their own party, and created a public scandal. It is not equally scandalous to spend $150,000 of the public money on a telephone service, as an adjunct of the Anglo-American Telegraph Company? It seems to us outrageous to establish outport long distance telephones and hand them over to the Anglo and allow them to become feeders to their own system of telegraphy, when the Government is maintaining a system of Postal Telegraphs of its own. It is a remarkable project, to say the least, to provide public money for a private company to compete against a Government owned system.

The Government is now notorious for schemes which elicited strong public disapproval and in this instance, we believe the Board of Trade which passed the Council report, is endorsing strong public opinion of the matter.

At George St. Meth. Church

The service at George St. Church, last night, was one of special interest and impressiveness. The pulpit was occupied by the Pastor, Rev. W. Bartlett, who preached from the words "And the Evening and the Morning were the First Day," taken from Genesis 1: 5.

The hopefulness of Christian service was revealed in eloquent language, characteristic of the preacher. With the approach of the evening of this life, the joy of morning is the experience of the Christian, who can realize with certainty that a new era of usefulness and joy awaits him.

The music under the direction of Mrs. Horwood was of very high order and was entered into most heartily by the congregation. W. H. Courtenay sang the hymn, "One sweetly solemn thought," in a most excellent manner, and Miss Storey's solo, "God is Mindful of His Own," was beautifully rendered and very much appreciated.
