English Methods in Graft.

The municipal grafter is given short shift in England. There the law has a summary method of dealing with him. It does not appoint a commission to discover nice words with which to describe his ugly acts, or to find that he is a psychological freak not responsible for his actions. It puts him on his trial, and, when he is found guilty, sentences him to imprisonment, for the ruffian that he is.

In a recent case at the Liverpool Assizes, an estate agent who was a member of the Wallasey Town Council was charged with an endeavour to use his position as councillor for grafting purposes. He seems to have been a man of considerable social and political influence before his trial, but this did not save him. Although he did not receive a penny of the graft he looked for, he was condemned to prison and to a forfeiture of some of his civic privileges. Lord Coleridge, who tried the case, evidently took a grave view of the offence. In passing sentence, he said: "The jury have found you guilty of corrupt solicitation in your capacity as town councillor. If you had gone further, and in fact had exercised a corrupt influence upon your fellow members of the council, or if you had voted for the proposal, I should have considered it my duty to have awarded a sterner punishment than that which it now falls on me to do. The purity of men in public life must be cherished and upheld. The sentence is that you be imprisoned for three months in the second division, and I further pronounce that you be adjudged to forfeit the public office of town councillor."

for which you hold, and be incapable of being selected or appointed to any public office for a space of seven years."

What will occur to anyone on reading this case is that municipal honesty and efficiency do not depend on any system of municipal government as much as on the determination of the public that it shall have honest and efficient administration. If the law really felt the spur of an outraged public conscience, graft either in its great or petty forms would soon disappear. Too many citizens regard the law and those who administer it as external things. As a matter of fact they are never for very long stronger or weaker than the public opinion from which their authority ultimately comes.—Montreal Star.

Fishermen Have Awakened.

The fishermen of this country are as progressive as those of other countries. They are proven by the number of engines daily being sold, and that they are wide awake as fishermen of other places is shown by the desire to get a FAIRBANKS when once they see it. Newfoundland fishermen have awakened to the fact that the FAIRBANKS "Type M" engine is the best engine for their purposes. It is simple yet durable and reliable, is made to run even though water is pouring over it.

STORM APPROACHING.—The Marine and Fisheries Department received advice this morning from Toronto to hoist No. 3 storm signal, indicating the probability of a heavy gale at first from an easterly direction.

The Cape Breton Arrives

WITH LARGE CARGO.

The S. S. Cape Breton, Capt. Kemp, reached port at two o'clock this morning, after a passage of two days and a half from Charlottetown. Moderate weather was had until last night when the storm was at its worst and there was a very heavy undertow in the harbor. The Cape Breton brought as cargo: 11,000 sacks of oats, 2,000 bags of turnips, 2,000 bags of potatoes, 1,700 cases of hay, 300 cases of eggs and a general cargo as well. The steamer is awaiting the elements to abate to berth at Harvey's pier to discharge.

Marine Notes.

The Furness Liners Dunango and Florence are both due to arrive here to-day, the former from London and the latter from Liverpool.

The S. S. Morwanna, Holmes, leaves Charlottetown to-night for here.

The S. S. Beatrice left port yesterday afternoon for Bell Island to load ore for Sydney and return here coal laden.

The S. S. Adventure has finished her charter with the Dominion Coal Co. and is now loading coal at Sydney for her owners.

The S. S. Bonaventure is due to-morrow from Fogo and will begin immediately loading fish for South American ports.

Indianapolis, Nov. 29.—Miss Mary C. Dye, a stenographer, who witnesses had said was marked for murder by James B. McNamara, the Los Angeles Times dynamiter, because she worked for the Iron Workers' Union and "knew too much," testified at the "dynamite conspiracy trial" to-day.

She asserted she had been followed by detectives, and on one occasion one of the McNamara brothers had forced an entrance to her room at a hotel to search for papers which he desired to destroy.

Miss Dye identified the hundreds of papers introduced by the Government to sustain its contention that Frank M. Ryan, President of the Union, and forty-four other defendants conspired to transport explosives illegally in furtherance of dynamite plots against non-union firms. The letters were written by John J. McNamara, Secretary of the Union. The witness testified she quit the employ of the Iron Workers before the Los Angeles explosion, but she had written many letters which the Government charges were in furtherance of earlier explosions.

The FAIRBANKS ENGINE is waterproof and FOOL PROOF.

A Song of Hope.

Never you worry,
Never you fret;
Flowers shall blossom
Everywhere yet;
Blue must the sky be
Under the gray;
Clouds will blow over
Another sweet day.
Never you worry,
Never you fret;
Spring hasn't flouted
The old world yet.

Never you worry,
Never you fret;
Sorrow endureth,
Joy shall come yet;
Lo, the day faileth,
Night mounts the skies;
Walk in the starlight
Till the sun rise.
Never you worry,
Never you fret;
God isn't done
With the old world yet.

Never you worry,
Never you fret;
Green grass will be
On the graves yet;
Those your heart longs for
Draw near to you;
Keep yourself ready,
Keep yourself true,
Those you remember,
Can God forget?
The best hasn't happened
To anyone one yet.

The Police Court.

A man charged with being drunk whilst in charge of a horse and also with being drunk and disorderly was fined $5 or 14 days.

A young girl, a domestic servant, was charged with the larceny of a number of articles the property of various persons. She pleaded guilty, and was remanded for 8 days, in which time arrangements will be made to send her home.

A man charged with being drunk whilst in charge of a horse and cart was fined $2 or 7 days.

A drunk and disorderly was fined $2 or 7 days.

A vagrant was sent down for 10 days.

A case of unlawful assault was tried in camera. The complainant was a little girl of 12 years of age.

The evidence of another young girl was taken, and was to the effect that the defendant had also assaulted her one night last week. Both the complainant and this witness positively identified the defendant. The evidence of the child's father, who is the effect that she had been very badly frightened and was unable to sleep, and has been in a highly nervous state ever since. The accused had no defence and was convicted. The judge remarked that it was a pity that whipping for such offence had been abolished. The accused was sentenced to 30 days hard labour without the option of a fine.

In the Central District Court several small civil matters were heard, they all went by default except one which was postponed till Tuesday next.
