At Rest.

MRS. STEPHEN PARSONS.

With the casket covered with the choicest of flowers, all that was mortal of the late Mrs. Captain Stephen Parsons was laid to rest in the family plot at the Church of England Cemetery, Wednesday afternoon. The deceased lady, who was highly esteemed by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance, was honored in death for the large number of mourners and the magnificent floral offerings testified to the esteem in which she was held. As wife and mother, Mrs. Parsons was a pattern, unhesitatingly she lived her life maintaining at all times the highest and best ideals of true Christianity, and these tendencies were continued until the Angel of Death opened the portals which lead to the world beyond. Her life was well spent, and what greater tribute can be paid her. Rev. J. Brinton, who was a constant visitor to the sick room, officiated at a brief service at the house, when the consoling hymn "Peace, Perfect Peace" was sung. He also conducted the service in the Mortuary Chapel. "On the Resurrection Mornings" was sung before the cortege proceeded to the grave. "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord, for they rest from their labours."

OFF FOR GENOA.

LONDON, Apr. 7.
Cheerfully, but unable to entirely conceal a careworn expression, Premier Lloyd George headed a party of twenty, including his wife and daughter Megan, which left this morning for Genoa, the scene of the International Economic Conference, which opens next Monday. The continued illness of the Marquis of Curzon, foreign secretary, who is suffering from neuritis, caused the postponement of his departure, but Sir Laming Worthington Evans and Sir Robert Horne accompanied the premier.
