

GOOD-BYE TO CALGARY

Rev. Messrs Hunter and Crossley Bid Farewell to Friends

LARGE AUDIENCE; INTERESTING SERVICE

Advice to the New Converts.
Thanks to Many Persons

Last evening the farewell scene of Messrs. Crossley and Hunter's revival campaign took place in the Central Methodist church.

Rev. Messrs. Kerby, Patterson, Bishop, Grant, Miser, the adjutant of the Salvation Army and others were supporting the evangelists.

The church began to fill as early as seven o'clock, but the congregation was not the largest that has assembled since the evangelists came to Calgary.

"There are many ministers present tonight," said Mr. Hunter, "but I see there is room for the 'oman Catholic priest, for I suppose they are all priests."

Several of the local ministers wished the evangelists Godspeed.

Rev. Mr. Kerby said: "If there is anyone in Calgary who does not like the bringing of the brethren to this city, let them put the blame on my shoulders."

"There has been a certain amount of mean, carping criticism in the papers, but it doesn't amount to the snapping of your fingers after all. We know they have done good and we are glad to have had them."

"Let us go to the train with them and show the city that we believe in these men and in the work they have been doing."

Mr. Scott, the recorder, then stated that if as many were converted as the evangelists expected that evening, 500 would have taken the stand during the campaign.

Mr. Crossley addressed the meeting first, contrary to custom. He thanked the ministers for their support, the choir, organist and congregations.

"No wonder we have had such excellent results; the ministers have emulated each other and you have helped too."

"Stand by your ministers, stand by your converts. Thirteen years from now I hope to return to Calgary and find that, none of you have backslided."

"I will now say a few words especially to the new converts. Be trusting Christians, be joyous Christians; don't put yourself in a straight jacket like some long-faced Christians outside Calgary. Be persevering Christians, be exemplary Christians, be steadfast Christians, be life long Christians."

"I have often been asked," said Mr. Hunter, "how is it that you brethren are so successful? I'll tell you. People all over the land are praying for us."

"I thank you all for your kindness. I thank the organist and the choir. I am not a singer, but I will know the notes when I get to heaven. Keep the books that you hold in your hands as a souvenir of Bro. Crossley and myself. May you sing the new song in the sweet by and by."

"I thank the pastors for their help and support. I thank the papers; they have treated us fairly; they sometimes have their little squibs, but we have been before the public for 30 years and they know what we are. Sometimes some little fellow will let off a little squib, but that doesn't amount to anything."

"I thank the sisters. I thank my friends, I thank the treasurers, they couldn't do a mean thing I think. All expenses will have to be paid before we touch a cent."

"Some little fellow occasionally throws a squib, but what would a theatre packed church like this be filled tonight mean?"

"What right has some careless, Christless man to say to this person who put $25 on the plate tonight, 'Why do you do this?' These men who don't give five cents to the services."

"We always pay for our board wherever we stay, just like at a hotel, although Bro. Kerby would gladly entertain us free."

"Oh my knees I promised the Lord that if Calgary were moved I would keep a missionary in the field at my own expense; so my friends, part of what you have given us and part of what you have given at the services is going to send a missionary out in the world to preach the gospel."

"Adjutant, I have much pleasure in handing you $40 for the Salvation Army. $80 I give to the hospitals on behalf of the citizens of Calgary and ourselves."

"I am not hoarding my dollars myself. Mrs. Hunter and three children have less than $4,000. God bless you and thank you for what you have given, and if you haven't given any, may the Lord take it out of your stingy souls."

"If anyone says anything against the evangelists we'll run him out of the city."

"Sometimes you laugh, sometimes you cry; whether I am laughing or whether I am weeping, I always have the same motive, but if God has given me any special message it is to the teeming mass of people."

"I was born among the 'oldest' men and women are God's gentlemen and gentlewomen."

"This cursed caste we have in society is creeping into our land, destroying our nation. I'll touch my hat to every girl I meet coming from a factory or store."

"I love everyone. I would go to the bar room any hour of the day or night."

"I have said some strong things, but I have said them kindly. Now I come to my last message to you."

"If you go through this service and are not converted and are lost in the departments of hell, you will say, 'Oh, if I had only listened to those evangelists that 80th day of January, 1907.'"

The usual appeal was made and many responded.
