The Canadian Women's Press Cl The Canadian women's Press Club celebrated the last dinner party that will ever be held in the old dining room at Banff Springs hotel, on Saturlay night. This picturesque portion on the hotel, which overlooks the panorama of the Bow valley, will shortly be pulled down to make way for the permanent extensions planned by the C. P.R., by which the capacity of the hetel is to be doubled.

And on Saturday evening following this dinner, the press women joined with the tourist guests at the hotel in grand ball in the new dining rooma huge many-windowed apartment up-held by a colonade of grey stone pil-lars and sumptuously finished. The ball was a very gorgeous affair and although the girls from the East com-plained of the scarcity of partners and made scoffings remarks anent the re-puted superfluity of western men, the

Mr. Rawlins was There.

Mr. Rawlins manager of the hotel, was waiting on the steps to extend greetings. His genial smile and his happy speeches added the last touch to the perfect hospitality of the C. P. R. The visitors flocked up the steps and into the great rotunda in chattering groups. For ten minutes the corridors were noisy with the delighted acclamations of one hundred and fifty charmed women. Then the party was distributed among the newly-furnished suites of the recently-completed main building to prepare for luncheon.

Although the weather man frowned for the first time during the entire tour, the afternoon was a series of pleasures.

Women Explored Banff.

Every nook and corner of Banff was explored by congenial parties. Dozens of women visited the museum and the Dominion park where the tamera fends snapped two burly baby buffald voted the "cutest ever." A party of 20 went up the Bow in motor boats, several athletic members, went up the beautiful Shadow River to the Vermillon Lakes in canoes, others rowed up Echo river; several climbed to the upper hot springs and visited the Alpine camp on Sulphur mountain.

Walking parties skirted Mount Rundell and visited the Spray Falls, and one or two venturesome young women donned divided skirts, mounted cayuses and explored the bridal paths through the wilderness of pine forest.

Hotel Palatial.

Collingwood, June 15.—Mrs. James Calback was almost instanly killed to-day, when her four year-old son discharged a 22-calibre rifle at her. The little fellow had been given the rifle to play with, and, finding a bullet on the floor, inserted it. Coroner McFaulde declared an inquest unnecessary.

Hotel Palatial.

Mr. Rawlins conducted another party of press women over the hotel which has been extended within the past year to accommodate about 800 guests, and which is now one of the most relative and most elaborately most palatial and most elaborately equipped on the continent. The beauti-ful new main building with its red tile floors and handsome interior furnishings of British Columbia fir, and a multitude of scenic windows overlooking the spreading valleys is the last word in comfort and beauty.

The very elaborate and luxurlous hot sulphur baths which have just been completed on the terrace above the Bow Valley in front of the hotel were patronized by scores of tired girls. The baths of gleaming white tile and plate glass are unique and the luxury of the appointments is probably unequalled at any watering place the America.

But the hospitality of the C. P. R. did not end with the lavish program, nor yet with the grand opening ball held in the magnificent new dining room on Saturday night. A number of press women were taken to Laggan, and the Chateau at Lake Louise the morning and another contingence of morning and another contingent of visitors from the far east left for the coast on Sunday morning. About 75 of the original party returned to Calgary yesterday en route to their homes in the east. They are being entertained in Regina today, where a reception is being given in the new parliament buildings in their

Woman Is As Old As She Looks

No woman wants to look old. Many in their effort to look youthful resort to the "beauty doctor's" prescriptions. Their mistake is that they visit the wrong department in the drug store. Beauty depends upon health.

Worry, sleepless nights, headaches, pains, disorders, irregularities and weaknesse of a distinctly feminine character in a short time bring the dull eye, the "crow's feet," the haggard look, drooping shoulders, and the faltering step.

To retain the appearance of youth you must retain health. Instead of lotions, powders and paints, ask your druggist for
