Christmas Day--Store Closed

Retrospective.

At any other season of the year we might expect to hear SOME complaints, but Christmas time everybody seems to make up their mind to be good-natured, though they might feel otherwise disposed at times.

The throngs of Christmas shoppers, we must admit, were even greater than we expected, and at times the store was more crowded than we anticipated it would be, having three selling floors in the part of the new building we now occupy, which means much larger floor space than we had last Christmas in the old building-which has now disappeared.

Our store service and equipment, while far in advance of a year ago, is yet in its infancy, compared to what we expect to have installed before another Christmas rolls round.

When the other section is completed we will have an area of floor space of nearly 100,000 square feet, which will be more than double what we now occupy. This we expect will be completed in the early summer, and we promise you then all the comforts of modern store equipment.

Emphatic Business Points

We have always made it emphatic, and each season this point is urged still more strongly upon the people from whom we make our purchases, that no price consideration will induce us to handle anything of an inferior nature, that all goods must meet our own high standard of quality, and that goods must be right in every particular before they are placed on our shelves. Yet with these restrictions and precautions, we want to remind you that medium-priced goods predominate at this store and are (quality considered) in no way expensive.

These points are emphasized in every department throughout the store, and are particularly noticeable in the leading branches, or rather, the department, by which the standard of a FIRST-CLASS STORE is JUDGED-these three in particular, DRESS GOODS, LINENS and GLOVES.

We might mention here that we have just received a shipment of Ladies' Three-Quarter Length Chamois Gloves-judge our store standard by these. Only, a pair ..... $1.00
