CURRENT TRADE CONDITIONS.

ONTARIO.

It may seem monotonous to repeat week after week that the lumber market is firm and exhibiting indications of further advances. Yet the conditions actually existing cannot be ignored. There is an underlying current of strength which bids fair to bring about higher prices in some grades at least as soon as increased activity shall develop. This is looked for in the near future, as already the fall movement has commenced in a slight degree. As new grain is marketed part of the proceeds therefrom will find its way to the lumber manufacturer. The upper grades of white pine have all season been scarce and in urgent demand. This condition still exists. Coll lumber has not been quiet, but the movement in it has not been in line with the higher grades. Within the past fortnight this class of lumber has commenced to move more freely in both the Canadian and United States markets. Some manufacturers claim that prices must advance, as wages are high, stumpage advancing, and men scarce and not disposed to work steadily. It is claimed that the stock of white pine lumber will not be sufficient to supply the demand from all sources until the cut of next year is ready for the market. This accounts in part for the strength of hemlock lumber and the recent advance of $1 in the price of long stuff.

All classes of hardwoods are firm and in good demand. The scarcity in birch and basswood is more pronounced than in other hardwoods. The hardwood market would seem to be almost entirely in the hands of the manufacturers, who, if they hold together, will probably be able to realize materially higher prices before the end of the year.

Shingles are very scarce and in great demand. For XXX 10-inch clear butts $2.75 at the mill is freely paid.
