TWO VALUABLE RECIPES FOR THE LADIES.

Plum Pudding and Flaky Pie Crust for Christmas.

Mr. Ferdinand Fero, chef of the Astor House, gives this recipe for a pudding;
Proportions—One pound of beef kidney grease, one pound of dry Corinthian raisins (Smyrna and Malaga mixed), one pound and three ounces of fresh bread crumbs, one tablespoonful of flour, twelve ounces of brown sugar, nine ounces of orange peel and citron mixed, a little salt, half of a grated nutmeg, one pinch of pulverized ginger, and a little lemon peel chopped fine, about ten eggs, about four tablespoonsful of good brandy or rum, and one tablespoonful of sweet cream. This is sufficient for two good-sized puddings.

After having washed the raisins in lukewarm water place them in a basin or wooden bowl, with the peel already cut into square pieces, and steep in a little brandy. Now trim the beef kidney fat and chop it very fine, with one spoonful of flour, mix it well with the crumbs of bread, brown sugar and the eggs; then add the raisins, the peel, the rest of the brandy, salt, nutmeg, ginger, and, last of all, after it is well mixed, the cream. Spread all this in a large napkin, well buttered, fold up the corners of the napkin, and tie to the level of the pudding, so as to make it round; then plunge the pudding into a saucepan of boiling water, and let it boil at least four hours—constant boiling. Take it out and let it drain in a sieve; cut it from the top so as to keep on a level, and then turn it out on a dish, removing the napkin carefully, so as not to disturb the fine part of the pudding. Sprinkle with a little rum sauce. You may apply a match to the pudding when it is on the table or when entering the dining-room. Serve a little rum sauce separate.

This pudding may be cooked in a mould. Have the mould well buttered, and the pudding, tied in a napkin, also well buttered. Boil four hours.

Mix one pound of flour with water. Add a little salt and one ounce of butter, and knead thoroughly. Take 12 ounces of butter and work out the salt in water. Roll out the paste and lay the butter over it. Fold it and roll with roller. Let it stand ten minutes, then fold and roll again. Fold and roll at intervals of ten minutes until it has been rolled six times. It is then ready for use, and if properly done, will rise to one inch in height.

Family Matters.

CUSTARD PIE.—Three beaten eggs, three tablespoonsful sugar, a little nutmeg and salt, and two large cupsful rich milk.

DUST ON THE WALLS.—To wipe the dust from papered walls take a clean, soft piece of flannel. Of course it must not be damp, but the dry flannel will remove the dust.

An economical and really delicious way to flavor a cake which is to have icing over the top is to grate part of the peel of an orange or lemon over the cake before putting the icing on.

ACID PIE.—Two tablespoonsful flour, one scant cupful water, one-third cupful molasses, one-third teaspoonful tartaric acid, set on the stove and stir until it boils, and bake with one crust.

Often one has gravy left from a roast of beef, and if you have no soup stock to which it may be added, use it to fry sliced cold boiled potatoes in for breakfast. This makes an excellent dish.

When cleaning carpets, dampen some Indian meal, mix salt with it, and sprinkle over the carpet; sweep vigorously. Take a small, sharp-pointed stick to remove the salt and meal from cracks and corners.

In making lemon syrup take one pint of lemon juice, one and a quarter pounds of sugar. Let it stand till thoroughly dissolved; then bottle and cork tightly for future use. It will keep for years, and have a finer flavor than if boiled.

Apple custard pie should be baked with an under crust only. The filling is delicious if made of one pint of sweet milk, one pint of smooth apple sauce, well-sweetened, three eggs; flavor with lemon or a little cinnamon. This will make two small-sized pies, or one very large one.

For sponging old black silk, a piece of old black cashmere should be used, and for sponging colored silks, a piece of white cashmere or some of the same color. Cotton must not be used to cover the table upon which they are sponged, or else it will leave white fluff all over it, which will be difficult to get off. An old black shawl is as good a thing as any.

Viscosity of Ice.

Under certain circumstances ice does not behave as a solid, but as a viscous fluid, like very thick treacle. Glaciers do not move down in one block, but flow, accommodating themselves to the varying width of their channel. Professor Tyndall planted a row of sticks in a straight line across a glacier; and after a few days the line had become a crescent, with a concavity upward, showing that the middle of the glacier moved faster than the sides, just as in a river the stream is stronger in the centre. Two theories have been put forward to account for the viscosity of ice; one is that it is a true viscosity, and the other that it is produced by the effect of pressure in lowering the freezing point of water so that whenever the ice is subjected to great pressure it melts. The water then yields to the pressure, and instantly re-freezes in its new shape. A striking experiment—due, I believe, to Mr. Bottomly—illustrates this. A block of ice being laid across the backs of two chairs, a fine iron wire is put over it, to which is hung a heavy weight. In a short time, the wire passes completely through the ice, and allows the weight to fall, while the ice is not broken, nor is any mark visible where the wire has passed through. The explanation of this is that the pressure of the wire melts the ice immediately below it. The water is displaced by the wire and fills the space above it, where, the pressure being removed, it instantly re-freezes. The viscosity of ice can be shown by cutting a long, thin slab of ice, and supporting it on two chairs, when it will, even in a temperature below freezing, gradually bend with its own weight. —From "Science for All."
