Gaby Deslys, who during the last two years has proven herself to be the topic of both America and Europe, becomes, on closer acquaintance, an extremely. gracious as well as an extremely pretty young person. She made such an impres-sion upon the newspaper men who met her upon her arrival in America, that she probably received more space in the columns of the New York dailies the next day than had ever before been given to the arrival of any artist. She gave per-sonal interviews to more than twenty reporters who boarded the vessel at quarreporters who boarded the vessel at quarantine. She saw perhaps thirty or more of them at the dock, and allowed herself to be sketched and photographed by half a hundred camera men sketch artists. Mile. Desiys speaks very good English, and this, of course, was of great assistance, and also a great surprise to most of the people who met her. She has an accent which is as charming as her smile, and the is quick to each the least point. and she is quick to catch the least point of wit in repartee. Mile, Deslys has pearls for every conceivable ornament.

In truth she might almost be called

The Little Parisienne.

Manager Shea has booked a great bill of novelties at Shea's Theatre for the opening week of the year. Heading the bill is "The Little Parisienne," Jesse L. Lasky's latest and best of his miniature musical comedies. A company of thirty people are seen in the production, which is headed by Valerie Serice, who appears as Jean Campbell, and has a namber of delightful musical numbers allotted to her.

The special attractions for the week are Eva Taylor and company, presenting "Just Married," and Juliet, in clever character studies.

Other features to be seen are Bert Fitzgibbon, Frank Hartley, Kitamura Japs, D'Arcy and Williams, and the kinetograph.

"Social Maids," the attraction at the Gayety Theatre during next week, differs materially from the general run of burlesques. Its advantage over the usual type is noticeable at the very rise of the first curtain. The settings and costuming

Gay Widnows.

All the desirable elements of high-class burlesque will be presented at the Star next week by the "Gay Widows" Company, an attraction that is not new in its title, but in every other department. They have two new one-act musical farces, "A Night in a Cabarret" and "The General's Wife," by two well-known authors. The comedian, John C. Hart, who is at the LONDON, Dec. 31.-The dissatisfaction and outspoken criticisms appearing in a certain section of the Unionist press, and being uttered by certain politicians regarding the tariff speech by Bonar Law, the Unionist leader in the house of commons, delivered recently at Ashton-unmons, delivered recently at Ashton-under-Lyne, and concerning the tariff question generally, are causing daily and increasing trouble in the party.

The latest development is the publication lin certain Unionist newspapers of

A BACHELOR'S LAMENT.

The letters received at the office of the National Sanitarium Association cover a wide class of writers, and are expressive of many different sentiments. A representative of The World was shown a letter today. Perhaps only a bachelor would be guilty of putting the case in just the words used; and yet a deeper thought un-derlies the letter that will, draw on the sympathy of young and old, when we remember that it is largely from among the young men and women of nuch. The New Municipal Improvement Association of Toronto, with a membership already of 550, and increasing daily, having for its objects, as its name implies, the improvement of the system of civic administration and the election of the best men available for the city government, was too late in being organized to be able to bring strong men into the field to support in company with best candidates already in the field. It has, however, decided to support all of the money bylaws and has selected the following slate, viz.: Mayor Hocken.

ELECTION CARDS.

To the Electors of the Second Ward: Ladies and Gentlemen-In response to many and repeated requests from individual electors, I beg to intimate my candidature for election as alderman. Having been resident for many years in Davisville, now included in Ward Two, and having had experience in the conduct of both municipal and educational affairs in North Toronto, I venture to hope that it is in my power to render public service in the wider field offered

A convinced progressive in civic politics, I favor tax reform and a more equitable. adjustment of the cost of local improvements. Holding that all public services should be owned and operated by the community for the exclusive benefit of the people, I shall support all proposals and measures calculated to further that valuable principle. In particular, I recommend the extension of the Hydro-Electric undertaking and of the civic car lines in the way that will meet the requirements of Greater Toronto and prepare for the unification of the whole systems at the expiration of the current franchises held by private companies.

As a member of the North Toronto Council, I was instrumental in securing an advance of two cents an hour in the rate of wages paid the town's laborers. It is my conviction that public bodies should more readily recognize that wages have not increased in equal proportion to the higher cost of living, and that the hardship thus entailed ought to be remedied. The development of cheap transportation and the opening of the northeastern residential section that must follow the construction of the Bloor-Danforth viaduct, will, in my opinion, tend to relieve congestion and improve social conditions.

Regarding a city, on its administrative side, as strictly a business proposition, I approve of commission government and of the conference by the legislature of the wider powers necessary to protect the general interest. I hold also that tenants, or tax. payers, should be accorded the right to vote on money bylaws. The creation and maintenance of an active civic spirit can best be encouraged by requiring the electors to recognize their direct responsibility for every department of the city's affairs.

Should this platform meet with your approval, I trust to receive your support and vote on election day. If honored with your confidence it will become my conscientious endeavor to fulfil the duties devolving upon me to the utmost of my ability and judgment. Yours respectfully,

Herbert It 19 all

A compact insulator which secures the vire firmly without the use of tools has been produced by a London manufacturer. It is comprised of three pieces. The wire is laid in the groove, the small section laid in the slot and the cap screwed down. The cap coming into contact with the rounded top of the slot section permits a degree of pressure which grips the wire firmly. In the manufacture of the insulator every gauge of wire is provided for. The insulator is so simple in construction that it may be attached by men unskilled in the lineman's craft with Twenty-five ward.
