PROTECTION FROM CHARTER GRABBERS
Senator Davis' Bill to Enlarge Railway Board's Powers Debated.
OBJECTIONS ARE VOICED
Senators Would Have Even Less to Do, It Is Urged.

OTAWA, April 9.—(Can. Press.)—In the senate today Hon. Mr. Loughheed told Senator Dewar that the government has taken no action in reference to the recommendation of the commission of conservation looking to the enactment of legislation for the prevention of the pollution of international and interprovincial waterways, and that no action has yet been taken in reference to the institution of federal public health laboratories for the manufacture of biological products, such as sera and antitoxins, for human use, for which a grant of $25,000 was made by the house of commons last session.
When Senator Davis moved the second reading of his bill to have railway charters hereafter granted by letters patent from the state department on recommendation of the railway commission, Senator Dewar moved the six months' hold on the ground that parliament should not divert itself of its duties without very serious reasons, and no such reason had been given. The senate had frequently complained that it did not have enough work, and this bill proposed to still further curtail its work.
Public Well Protected.
The present procedure with railway legislation gave the public great protection, as measures had to pass through several stages in both houses, and the passage of the bill was thoroughly informed of their character. If the opponents of any measure were too poor to come to Ottawa and urge their objections they could count upon some of the 221 members of the commons and 96 members of the senate protecting them.
The senate was established to protect the rights of minorities and the rights of provinces. It had done so with railway bills. Would the railway commission do this as well? If the bill were adopted and given to the railway commission there would be more abuses than at present, as applications would then get less publicity and less consideration.
Senator Edwards said when a measure of this kind became necessary the measure should be brought in by the government.
Shouldn't Restrict Charters.
Senator Cusack said that railway charters were freely granted in other countries, and he saw no reason why they should not be freely granted in Canada. Sometimes it was necessary to grant charters to deal with industrial operations to build short lines without delay. At present such projects had to wait until parliament was convened.
Senator Beise opposed the Davis bill.
Senator Cloran said that parliament had not been effective in dealing with railway legislation and he maintained that the Davis bill would not infringe provincial or municipal rights.
Senator Choquette, while not in favor of all the bills provisions, said he would rather see it referred to a senate committee than killed. The provision requiring a cash deposit to cover land damages as a preliminary to incorporation he thought a good one. It would prevent frivolous applications for incorporation.
Senator Pelletier favored the bill because it would tend to discourage charter-mongering.
The bill was read a second time.

OTAWA, April 9.—(Can. Press.)—In concluding his evidence before the bank committee today, Mr. Henderson approved of the proposed amendment, making the government the holder of the unclaimed balances which he said, were now put in circulation by the banks in the interest of business. He favored making the government responsible for negligence in signing the returns to the finance department, and opposed the idea of sterilizing the government's bank notes as too costly for the banks. It developed in the discussion of this point that the superintendent of Toronto and Muskoka, Con. Hospital attributed this disease largely to disease-laden money.
H. B. Mackenzie, general manager of the Bank of British North America, opposed government inspection, as it would leave the government open to recrimination whenever there was a failure, and it would require a staff as large as that of all the banks. He thought the British superintendent of audit and chartered accountants of high standing the best.

He would endeavor to deal with individual producers and to help them as well as look after the general trade of the Dominion.

GRIST MILL WAS RAZED BY FIRE
Explosion and Fire Wiped Out Property of J. H. McCauley.
TODMORDEN M E E T I N G
Conservatives Disapproved of "Compromise" Motion—York County News.

BRAMPTON, April 9.—(Special.)—At 4 o'clock this morning an explosion occurred at the grist mill of J. H. McCauley, Boston Mills, this county, which wrecked the building and then set fire to it, burning it to the ground. Last fall Mr. McCauley installed a gas-powered engine which some time later exploded, seriously injuring Mr. McCauley, who has not yet recovered from the effects of the accident. The machine he claimed, was not satisfactory, and the former owner, who had sold it to him as being in first-class condition, brought an action against him at the spring assizes here a few weeks ago for payment in full of the amount due on the purchase. Mr. McCauley's defence was that the engine was not what it was represented to be, and an expert testified in the court that it was not a very good machine. The case was settled out of court. Residents of Boston Mills claim that the mill is unlucky. A serious fire occurred there just before Mr. McCauley took it over, since which time the above events have taken place. The building is a total loss, and an exchange of patterns.

Commissioner Starr of the juvenile court, Toronto, gave a most interesting talk to a large audience in Grace Church last night, under the auspices of the Women's Institute. Mr. Starr spoke of the work of the juvenile court, of which he is the head, and the magnificent work that is being done in the city of Toronto by keeping children from mixing with criminals in a court of justice, and by giving them good advice and treating them kindly many were given a start in life that might otherwise become a menace to the community.

The Huttonville branch of the Women's Institute met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Kirk with a good attendance. A paper on "How to Make Our Meetings Successful" was given by Mrs. T. Williamson, and created an interesting discussion among the ladies. There was also a demonstration of sewing and an exchange of patterns. The roll call was answered by each member quoting a favorite proverb.

The moulding department of the Peace Foundry is in full swing, with about forty men employed. The rest of the plant is being rushed to completion, and as fast as each department is ready the men will be brought out. One hundred and seventy-five hands will be employed. This means extra housing accommodation for families, more water mains and extra electric lighting. The housing problem in Brampton has become serious, as there is a dearth of houses suitable for those who are present. The factory property near the building operations have been larger the past twelve months than in the three years previous, the supply cannot meet the demand. Three new factories have been started up, with the probability of three other concerns in the near future. The old tannery building on Queen street will be occupied by concerns, one a tanner of Spanish leathers.

The Peel County Agricultural Society is holding a meeting at the new hall, a petition for white oats this year, for which seven cash prizes will be given, amounting to $75 in all—$20 for first, $15, $12, $10, $8, $6 and $4. The field must not be less than five acres nor more than twenty.

The playing members of the Excelsior Lacrosse Club held a meeting last night in Blair's hall for the purpose of mapping out the lacrosse season. The boys are showing more interest this year than ever before, and the field is bright for a winning team. A meeting will be held next week to appoint the officers for the year. Representatives of the Excelsior Lacrosse Club, and junior championship medals on hand this week, and they will be presented to the boys shortly. All of last year's senior team are available, with Campbell in goal, Williams, Beecham, Mullis, Warre, Blain and Ashley on the defence; Geo and Harry Sproule, Davis, Chas. and Stephens, Mars and Charters on the home. New material will have to be gotten together for a junior aggregation, as the five seniors who played last year are over age.

TODMORDEN.
The regular monthly meeting of the Conservative Association was held in Batters' Hall on Tuesday night. Robert Hastings, president, presided, and Joseph Thompson, ex-president of Ward Two Conservatives, addressed the members. He said that the Conservative party in Canada is in a position of strength, and that the Imperial Navy. His speech was very much appreciated by those present. The president of the association, Tom Mackie, will have the senior and junior championship medals on hand this week, and they will be presented to the boys shortly. All of last year's senior team are available, with Campbell in goal, Williams, Beecham, Mullis, Warre, Blain and Ashley on the defence; Geo and Harry Sproule, Davis, Chas. and Stephens, Mars and Charters on the home. The purchaser was the firm of Christie Bros., and the price paid was in the neighborhood of $20,000.
