

THE BIBLE: Its Origin, Growth and Character, and Its Place among the Sacred Books of the World.

By J. T. SUNDERLAND, M. A.,

Author of "What is the Bible?" "A Rational Faith," etc. New York and London: G. P. Putnam's Sons. $1.50.

"Abreast of the great volume of German and English scholarship."— Philadelphia Public Ledger.

"Its reverent tone and absolute candor are greatly in its favor."—Independent.

"A thoroughly successful popular introduction of the Bible."—Literary World.

"If the Sunday and secular schools of the country used Mr. Sunderland's treatise as a text book, the influence upon the rising generation would be most salutary."—Review of Reviews.

"A volume of immense interest and value."—Arena.

"RELIGION AND EVOLUTION,"

Six Lectures by Rev. J. T. Sunderland, M.A. Bound in paper. Published by the Unitarian Club, Toronto. Price, 25 cents.

The same, revised and somewhat enlarged, published in Boston, under the title:

"The Spark in the Clod; a Study in Evolution."

Bound in Cloth. Price, 80 cents.

All the above for sale at Tyrrell's, 8 King St. West, at Evans', 357½ Yonge St., and at Vannevar's, 438 Yonge St.