

TO THE READER.

IF the perusal of this Volume has awakened in your mind a deeper sympathy for the Red Man's Race, and a more earnest desire for the highest good of our common country, the Author would invite your hearty co-operation, by contributing for its wide circulation throughout every State, Territory, City, and Town of our vast domain. The profits will be appropriated to beneficent purposes of universal good.

Price, 25 cents, single copy. For $1 four copies will be sent to any desired address, post-paid. The usual discount to Agents and the Trade.

"THE LIBERAL SOUL DEVISETH LIBERAL THINGS:" to such the Author recommends the Book and the People for whom it is written.

Address, JOHN BEESON,
