CHEAP EDITION of MADAME D'ARBLAY'S DIARY AND CORRESPONDENCE.

INCLUDING THE PERIOD OF HER RESIDENCE AT

THE COURT OF QUEEN CHARLOTTE.

"Miss Burney's work ought to be placed beside Boswell's 'Life,' to which it forms an excellent supplement."—Times.

"Madame D'Arblay lived to be a classic. Her Diary is written in her best manner; in true woman's English, clear, natural, and lively. It ought to be consulted by every person who wishes to be well acquainted with the history of our literature and our manners."—Edinburgh Review.

"This new edition of Miss Burney's Diary, in so portable a form, and at so cheap a price, will doubtless become extremely popular. What Pepys' and Evelyn's Diaries are to the reign of Charles II., Madame D'Arblay's is to the times of George III."—Messenger.

"This book is of universal interest and inestimable value as an authentic and permanent record of what every body desires to know—namely, the personal characters, manners, habits of thinking, and modes of life of the great and famous of a recently-passed age. At an early period of her life, the celebrated author of "Evelina" adopted the resolution of keeping a regular Diary of her thoughts, feelings, and observations relative to everything and everybody with whom she came in contact. She continued it for many years, including the time of her residence at the Court of Queen Charlotte, and the whole may be said to constitute a work almost unequalled in literary and social value by anything else in the language. As a proof, it may be stated that the anecdotes, descriptions, personal traits and conversation of Dr. Johnson, as reported by Madame D'Arblay with characteristic force and spirit, are fully equal in interest to Boswell's life of him; and it is the same with regard to the other celebrated persons of the day, including, besides the King, Queen, and Royal Family, and the whole courtly circle, Burke, Goldsmith, Sheridan, Garrick, Reynolds, Gibbon, Walpole, Warren Hastings, Lawrence, Mrs. Montague, Mrs. More, Mrs. Thrale, &c."—Globe.

DIARY AND CORRESPONDENCE OF SAMUEL PEPYS, F.R.S.,

SECRETARY TO THE ADMIRALTY IN THE REIGNS OF CHARLES II. AND JAMES II.

EDITED BY RICHARD, LORD BRAYBROOKE.

A New Library Edition of this work, comprising all the restored passages and the additional annotations that have been called for by the vast advances in antiquarian and historical knowledge during the last twenty years, will doubtless be regarded as one of the most agreeable additions that could be made to the library of the general reader.

"Without making any exception in favour of any other production of ancient or modern diarists, we unhesitatingly characterise this journal as the most remarkable production of its kind which has ever been given to the world. Pepys' Diary makes us comprehend the great historical events of the age, and the people who bore a part in them; and gives us more clear glimpses into the true English life of the times than all the other memorials of them that have come down to our own."—Edinburgh Review.
