

"I am not tall enough," said the dog.

"Nor I," said the donkey.

At last they thought of a plan. The donkey stood under the window and the dog stood on his back. The cat climbed to the dog's back, and the rooster flew up and stood on the cat's back.

"What do you see?" asked the donkey.

"What do I see?" said the rooster. "I see four robbers eating at a table. They have bread and meat and many other good things."

