

Church debts and deficits. For this result great credit is due to the systematic and persistent care of our esteemed Treasurer.

And now, in concluding this Report, your Board would call upon you to unite with them in thanksgiving that the past year has been, in so many ways, a year so prosperous to us as a Church, and that at present the outlook for the future is so auspicious and encouraging. Let us find in all this stronger and stronger grounds for a whole-hearted consecration to God, and to one another; and we shall have, as the years roll on, a history ever richer in honour and usefulness, and fraught with larger blessings both to ourselves and to others.

All which is respectfully submitted:—

GEORGE CORNISH,

Church Secretary.
