

SEA LORDS GET APPROVAL FOR NEW CRUISERS

British Cabinet Agrees Upon Plan for Navy—No Resignations Now.

By H. BAILEY
British United Press.
LONDON, July 23 — "Churchill's Hamiltonian" states by the Sea Lords. These headlines in this morning's papers tell of the victory of the Admiralty force in the fight over the British cruiser appropriation, and the plan, with the single exception of the Morning Post, finds nothing but outright commendation or disapproving criticism for the cabinet's decision.

Mr. Bridgeman's threat of resignation with the assurance that Earl Dufferin would go out with him, and his alternative promise to cut down naval expenditure on docks and naval incidents so that the estimates as a whole would not be increased if he were allowed to build four cruisers this year and three next year has swung the cabinet in his direction from a position of resolute opposition to him under the leadership of Winston Churchill.

The result has certainly lessened Churchill's prestige. Mr. Baldwin has not ground as well as the general outcome of the controversy in addition to saving Bridgeman's prominence he had never previously enjoyed, has increased public feeling that while the government is strong in numbers it is weak and vacillating in policy. In the Tory ranks there is a feeling of relief that a crisis is past without any resignations, but the members are sharply divided on the question that has been at issue and the best breach has been made in the government's huge majority in the House.

Lord Beverbrook has recently cultivated a habit of publishing in his Daily Express all attacks made upon him by other newspapers or periodicals. Today he reprints in his own paper an analytical sketch of himself from "Truth" in which the writer says ironically "It is a great mistake Mr. Beverbrook makes that he does not consult Lord Beverbrook about a policy before he adopts it. If he did he would stand a good chance of being buried in Westminster Abbey."

It is left for the Morning Post, however, to publish today the Morning Post's articles questioning whether Beverbrook is in fact really really really the views of Canada. Certainly Beverbrook has arrogated to himself the right to speak as a representative citizen of the empire, and has insisted so much upon this right that the popular impression has been created that Canada's views are adequately presented in England only by him. The Edmonton Journal's criticism is produced in the Morning Post without comment, but prominently.

ANNUAL PICNIC HELD BY INSURANCE MEN

Blue Goose Members Have Delightful Outing at Loch Lomond Camp.

The members of the Ancient and Honorable Order of the Blue Goose held their annual picnic yesterday at the Log Cabin Fishing Club, Loch Lomond. That all had a most enjoyable time is evident from the remarks heard about the various sports events. The arrival of the club "The Most Royal Gander" L. W. Nickerson announced that a baseball game would be played between the club and the "Shields" of Canterbury street. The latter team were credited with an overwhelming victory but as the score has not as yet been compiled it was not known today how wide the margin was. In the first inning the "Cave Men" tallied 17 runs and were so confident that they had gone home on ice that they became careless and so the "Shields" were able to score 20 runs.

In addition to the ball game there were running races for the "old timers," the "would be's" and the "never out" and so on. The "Shields" were the winners and the "Cave Men" were the losers. The winners were the "Shields" and the losers were the "Cave Men."

Prince William street was represented by those whose offices are on Prince William, Market Square and Dock street, and contributed by those whose offices are on Canterbury, King and Princess streets. The committee in charge was composed of R. B. Magee, R. D. Pudgee and C. W. Ellsworth.

Petting Is Approved By Police Head

WATERBURY, Conn., July 23 — "Come to Waterbury to Pet," may be this city's slogan, following the announcement of Chief of Police George M. Beach that he is not going to permit his officers to interfere with love's sweet dreams. "It is as impossible to stop young people from courting and making love as it is to stop the birds in the trees from mating. The police in Waterbury will at all times maintain order in the community and will apprehend wrong-doers, but there will be no attempt to curb young fellows and girls from innocent love-making. There is no particular harm in young people kissing and hugging each other. As a matter of fact the fellow or girl who does not feel the urge to mate at one time or another cannot be normal. It is natural and I would be foolish to attempt to put a stop to it," Chief Beach said.

It will be a thousand-foot picture especially edited and Saint John will be "shot" from a half hundred new angles.
