an affair at the railway station about a month ago which developed into a race riot.

Charged with uttering a forged check, a stranger, giving his name as James Casserley, and address as New York, appeared today before Magistrate Taylor for preliminary examination and was remanded for one week. Casserley was arrested last night on suspicion of being one of two men who had worthless checks on M. S. Award, who conducts a dry goods store opposite the depot. Both checks were drawn on the Truro branch of the Union Bank of Canada and were signed J. P. Johnson. One for $35 was payable to E. P. Fraser and the other was for $22 and payable to Martin McLean. Both checks were worthless, there being no such account tomorrow. Both charges arose, out of at the bank on which they were drawn. The checks were endorsed by Fraser and McLean who made small purchases and received the balance in cash.

The board of examiners for the registration of nurses met yesterday afternoon and awarded certificates to the following, who passed the examinations held on October 15 and 16: Miss Ada Foley, Miss Jennie McKim, Miss Grace Finley, Miss Kathleen Lawson, Miss Ethel Kee, Miss Gertrude Compton, Miss Elizabeth Vroom, Miss Mildred Leonard, Sister Claire, Sister Carmel, Sister Michael, Sister Moira. These are now entitled to place the letters R.N. after their names.

FARMERS WIN FIRST
SEAT IN ALBERTA

Calgary, Nov. 4.—The United Farmers of Alberta, scored their first victory at the political polls yesterday when their candidate, A. A. Moore, was given a majority of about 140 in the by-election in Cochrane provincial riding, over E. V. Thompson, candidate of the Stewart government. The election was made necessary by the death of Speaker Fisher, who had held the seat since the inception of the province in 1905.

PAPER ON INDIA
BEFORE N. H. S.

New Members Elected and Several Donations to Museum.

The monthly meeting of the Natural History Society was held last night with the president, Dr. J. Roy Campbell, in the chair. W. Frank Harvey and Allan H. Wetmore were elected additional members of the council. Captain Crosswell, who was to have lectured on India, was absent owing to illness, and A. H. Wetmore read a very interesting lecture on that country, the lecture being illustrated by sixty splendid colored slides. This is the first of a series of lectures dealing with the great colonial possessions of the British empire which will be given monthly through the winter.

The following new members were elected: Mrs. F. C. Colwell, Mrs. Walter Hall, Miss Isabella J. Cote, Misses Helen and Jean MacCallum.

The following donations were received for the museum: Half penny token, 1811, Frank Holmes medal in commemoration of the hundredth anniversary of American Independence, 1776 to 1876, Miss Grace W. Levitt, collection of Indian arrowheads collected in the United States, also the "Red Man as a Soldier," Willard E. Yager, five clay from Black River, iron ore from West Beach, John W. Nugent; lithograph of the Suspension and Cantilever bridges, St. John, and an Irish "Home Rule," Mrs. W. Edmond Raymond; British, French and Turkish; Miss Elsie K. Mathew; mica schist rock, Wm. Warner; charter of a Freeman of the City of St. John, signed by Aaron Alward, mayor, 1866; paper currency of the confederate states and Brazil, R. Harold Mering; collection of firearms used by the British and Canadian armies, Canadian Ordnance Department.

IN EIGHT MINUTES
SIX NEGROES GET DEATH VERDICT

Helena, Ark., Nov. 4.—Rapid progress marked the trials today of cases growing out of the recent race disturbances south of this city, one negro being convicted of first degree murder after eight minutes' deliberation by a circuit court jury, and five others suffering a verdict of guilty to a similar charge, all at the same time, after the jurymen had been out seven minutes. The verdict means electrocution for the six negroes.

In the first of the two cases tried today, that of Frank Hicks, several witnesses for the state testified that they saw Hicks fire the shots on the morning of October 1, which resulted in the death of Clinton Lee, an ex-soldier of this city. The defense announced it had no witness. Argument was waived, the jury was instructed and in eight minutes a verdict was returned.

Defendants in the second case were Frank Moore, Ed. Hicks, J. E. Knox, Paul Hall and Ed. Coleman, charged jointly with the murder of Lee. Witnesses for the state testified that Moore,

ESTABLISHING STANDARDS FOR CHILD WELFARE

An Embodiment of Expert Opinion on The Needs and Rights on Childhood

What does the American child need for growth and development consistent with his dignity as a future American citizen? At first attempt to give an authoritative and comprehensive answer to the question is found in a set of "Standards for Child Welfare" released last week by the children's bureau of the United States department of labor. These standards are the outgrowth of a series of conferences held last spring under the auspices of the children's bureau in nine of the principal cities of the country, with men and women of national and international reputation in matters affecting childhood taking part. Tentative standards were adopted by the first conference, held in Washington, D. C., and submitted to each of the other conferences. The criticisms and suggestions made at the regional conferences have been thoroughly considered by an advisory committee named by the Washington conference to put the standards into final shape. The standards as they now stand may accordingly be taken as an embodiment of the best expert opinion on the needs and rights of childhood.

While they are presented "only as minimum standards and not as in any way limiting the degree of protection which an advanced state might desire to give its children," they offer an ideal that is considerably in advance of present-day provisions for child welfare. Among other things, they recognize that the protection of the child must begin with the protection of the mother and demand that care during pregnancy and confinement and instruction in the hygiene of maternity, infancy, and childhood be made available for all mothers through such agencies as prenatal clinics, maternity hospitals, maternity care in the home, children's health centres, and the provision of systems of public health nursing adequate to reach every mother and child. They emphasize especially the need for a family income adequate to enable mothers of young children to stay in the home, instead of going out to work with consequent neglect of home and family. For school children, they set an ideal of more and better schools, vocational guidance and training, school lunches and medical supervision.

The standards applicable to working children, if universally in force, would effectually put an end to child-labor in country and city. They include a minimum working age of sixteen years, part-time compulsory continuation schools for working children between sixteen and eighteen years of age, and public responsibility for the health and general welfare of the working child. The provision of more abundant recreational facilities, with proper supervision, is also named as an essential; and a more general acceptance by the state of responsibility for the care and training of "special" children—defectives, dependents and delinquents—is urged.

The introduction to the standards recognizes the child welfare in the last analysis is largely dependent upon certain social and economic factors and urges an adequate wage for the father, wholesome living conditions, and the abolition of racial discrimination as fundamental to the realization of any child welfare programme.

Knox and Hicks acted as leaders in the incident, arguments for a verdict of second degree murder were presented by counsel appointed for the defense, instructions were given the jury and the verdict of first degree murder was returned in seven minutes.

Indictments have been brought against 122 persons, mostly negroes, as a result of the disorders.

USE The Want Ad Way

Preventing Power Waste

If your power is metered, you know that you are entitled to pay for so many units; but have you ever made an effort to determine the amount of power actually used in turning out a unit of manufacture?

Slippage on pulleys and the wrong kind and size of belting are responsible for a power waste, which, if computed in dollars for the period of one year, would make you gasp with astonishment.

Have your engineers check up the cost of your power by any method, then try out for an equal period and check it by the same method—you will be surprised at the difference in the cost of power used; also at the difference in belting efficiency.

Our belting experts are ready to show you, without cost, that Dominion Friction Surface Belting gives the greatest service, at the smaller cost. Ask our nearest Service Branch for proof.
