LOCAL NEWS

DEATH OF CHILD

Many friends will join Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Phillips of 81 Bentley street, in sorrow over the death of their little daughter, Margaret Anna, which occurred on Sunday. Burial took place this afternoon.

BIBLE CLASS RESUMED

The Bible class for men which was conducted by Rev. Dr. W. O. Raymond in St. Mary's church last winter and proved such a success was resumed yesterday afternoon with a good attendance. These classes are conducted early in the afternoon on Sundays so as not to interfere with any other plans for the afternoon. They are well worth attending.

NEW PETITION

A new petition was made this morning for the winding up of the May Queen Steamship Co., Ltd., before Judge McKewen, by Francis Kerr on behalf of Keith A. Barber, J. R. M. Baxter appeared for the shareholders, supporting the petition, and D. Mullin, K. C., and G. H. V. Belyea for the opposing it.

TEMPERANCE

The first of a series of gospel temperance meetings to be held on Sunday afternoons under the auspices of Excelsior division of the Sons of Temperance No. 468 was held yesterday in the lodge's band hall in St. James street. P. Thomas presided, and Rev. W. R. Robinson gave a forceful address on temperance. He referred to the case of a man who has already been before the magistrate six or seven times charged with drunkenness.

OBSERVE WEDDING DATE

Manchester, N. H.—Many friends and relatives were in attendance on last Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Amasa Wilson, 583 Merrimack street, where they observed their wedding anniversary along with the sixth birthday of their son, Albert. An entertainment was provided by George Starkey and Miss Blossom Strong. All three received several gifts and a collation was served.

ST. JOHN CANDY TO THE WEST

A local industry which is making rapid strides is the business of the White Candy Company, Ltd., which took over the former business of the White Candy Company and which now is located in the former Simms factory building in Union street. Since taking possession of their new building the company has been getting the plant in the best possible shape and in the meantime has been catering tirelessly to local and maritime trade. Now that they are getting matters well in hand they are preparing to branch out and are looking forward to an invasion of the western provinces at the first of the year.

GIVE CONFIRMATION AND OFFICIATE AT WEDDING

Rev. Mr. Jenkins of Riverside To be Married Tomorrow by Bishop Richardson

His Lordship Bishop Richardson was in the city today on his way to Riverside, Albert county, where he will officiate at the wedding of Rev. David Jenkins, rector of the parish of St. Robert's. His Lordship will then proceed to Windsor to visit King's College and will attend a meeting of the board of governors in Halifax this week.

Bishop Richardson spent Sunday in the morning at Petesville, where confirmation was administered at Head Line in the morning and several candidates were presented. His Lordship preached in the parish church in Welsford in the evening.

OLD FRIENDS OF OURS TAKE PART

(Continued from page 1.) I have organized a scholarship fund by means of which a boy who is unable to pay his way is lent the necessary money, which he promises to refund in a specified time on the understanding that, once refunded, it goes to pay the way of another boy. He and others will not pauperize anyone, and the method should appeal to all that is manly in the boys who avail themselves of this opportunity.

When There Were Only Two Shacks

Lieutenant-Governor Brown, in the course of his remarks, told of visiting the site of the present city of Moose Jaw some thirty years ago, when only two shacks were to be seen. He, and others with him, had to pitch their tents on the prairie. The growth of the place has been beyond their wildest dreams, and there was need for such educational institutions as this college, and he really thought there was even greater need for a girls' school than one for boys.

President Walter C. Murray, of Saskatchewan College, who is also a New Brunswick man, made a strong plea for a national system of education.

Another speaker was C. J. Milligan, of Regina, and formerly of St. John. Mr. Milligan paid a warm tribute to Principal Graham, and said he was sure from his intimate acquaintance with him that the cause of education in Moose Jaw would not want for a great leader.

Rev. Dr. Keith of Alberta College brought the greetings of that province. Four years ago the synod of the Presbyterian church for Saskatchewan decided that a residential school was needed. The plan developed to include both boys' and girls' schools, and all necessary plans for such an institution. The city gave the site and a boys' school with accommodation for 100 is now at work. There were thirty-eight boys in residence on the night of the formal opening.

Half Million Dollars

When the whole scheme of buildings has been perfected the expenditure will have been at least half a million dollars. The boys' school is provided on the ground floor with gymnasium, bath room, kitchen and dining-room. The remaining two stories are occupied by the boys' rooms, which are large, well aired and the last word in cleanliness. A wing of the building is taken up by servants' quarters. Principal Graham's handsome residence is but a few steps away.

St. John people will have a lively interest in the success of this new educational institution, because of their high regard for its principal.

MORE ADDITIONS

ARE MADE TO THE "ZOO" AT ROCKWOOD

"Hungarian" Partridges and Two Owls—Lake Fowl and Swans in Winter Quarters

The local zoo in embryo in Rockwood Park has had some additions during the last week. Harry H. Tibbets, registrar of deeds of Annapolis, B., generously donated a pair of birds called by the dealers in the United States of North America in their price catalogues "Hungarian" partridges. There is, however, no group of the genus known in natural history by that name. The specimens which have arrived at the park are the gray or European partridge (perdix cinerea) which are found in large numbers in the northern highlands of Hungary, whence these were imported. They are thus accustomed to severe cold in winter. The general tone of their plumage is brown, neck and upper part of the breast bluish, legs and toes bluish white, not feathered, claws brown. Large numbers of these birds are being imported into the western American States for re-stocking their depleted woods. They are found to be non-migratory, even their offspring not being inclined to wander away. Those in the park may be seen for the most part in the pleasant enclosure. They are very wild and run with great rapidity. They are very much smaller than are the two varieties, natives of this province—the one, ruffed grouse (bonasa umbellus) commonly called the birch—the other, the Canada grouse (canachites canadensis) commonly called the spruce or black partridge.

Recently the head keeper of the park, Henry, observing that one of his birds had been making depredations along the poultry, set a trap carefully arranged so as not to injure its cage and was rewarded by securing the next morning a large unsexed specimen of the great horned owl (Bubo virginianus). This is believed to be the only example we have of the owl which is not a beneficial man, for the great majority of the specimens feed mostly upon wild mice, rats and such vermin. Dr. Hornaday in a valuable work, The American Natural History, says: "It is now a well established fact that owls are among the most beneficial of all birds inflicting little damage upon the producers of poultry and conferring vast benefits upon the farmer by the destruction of mammal and insect pests." The great horned owl is of dignified and imposing appearance. Its round topped horns of feathers, its fiercely glaring eyes and its black, the underparts of its face and dusky white feathers on the throat make its head appear somewhat like that of a Bengal tiger.

Yesterday afternoon some one who left without imparting his name, left with one of the caretakers a second owl. If the donor will kindly disclose his identity due acknowledgment will be made. This specimen is one of the hawk owl (Surnia ulula) and is much smaller than is the first mentioned. It is hoped to add further examples of this interesting bird of which there are eighteenth specimens and some 200 sub-species, varying in size from six to thirty inches long. The present these owls in Rockwood, will be kept in the barn until a special habitation for their use can be erected in the spring.

The large family of birds—swans, wild geese and ducks have been successfully removed from Lily Lake and are now in their winter quarters. The work of moving required great care and patience on the part of the keepers.

The cages of the wild animals have been in part covered with the heaviest canvas so as to protect the animals from some of the rain and snow, and the northern exposures of such cages have been thoroughly brushed so as to afford effective wind breaks.

FATHER HOGAN IS TO STAY

SOME TIME AT ST. PETER'S

Solemn Closing of Men's Mission Renewal Took Place Last Evening

Although during the services of the last week, it was hardly thought possible that a greater number of men could have crowded into St. Peter's church, yet last evening, when the solemn closing of the renewal of the mission took place, it really seemed as though the attendance was larger than of any night. It was even necessary to find seats in the sanctuary. The mission renewal has been a remarkable success. It was an edifying sight yesterday morning at the 7:30 o'clock mass to see the general communion of the men who had made the renewal. The church was filled almost entirely with men, and practically every one of them received Holy Communion.

At last evening's service, Rev. Father Hogan, C. S. R., delivered an able sermon, and at the close conducted the renewal of the baptismal vows, and gave the missionary and papal blessing, and Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament. The rector of the parish, Rev. Father McCormick, C. S. R., also spoke, expressing his pleasure at the success of the renewal, and the hope that it would be most effective and lasting in its results. Solemn benediction was conducted by Rev. Father Hogan, assisted by Rev. Fathers Walsh and Bergmann.

An announcement which has been received with great pleasure is that Rev. Father Hogan will be stationed for some time in St. Peter's rectory, for he has made many friends here during his mission work.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS

In the civil service examinations which were held by the Centennial school last week, twenty-eight candidates presented themselves for the preliminary examination and ten for the qualifying, while in the more advanced subjects for the inside service only two wrote the papers.

With regard to the latter examination those who pass the papers successfully are eligible, according to their standing for positions as stenographers, etc., in the departments of the government service at Ottawa and it is thought rather extraordinary that there should be so few candidates for these positions from St. John in comparison to those from the other large cities of the Dominion. The minimum salary for such positions in the inside service is $800 and the average salary is much higher. Rev. Dr. W. O. Raymond conducted the examination and the results will probably be announced about the middle of next month.

A "Reason Why" Advertisement on Clothing

In reading the many different advertisements on clothing, each claiming to be the best values in the world for the money, it is small wonder that all advertising is taken by the average reader with a grain of allowance for the enthusiasm of the advertiser.

But when you read our advertisement, we earnestly urge you to take every word we say literally. Each statement we offer, each claim that we make, is carefully and thoroughly considered before it is made, and then when it is put in one of our advertisements, we stand ready with our entire organization to back it up to the limit.
