HARVARD STUDENT OF NINETEEN ON WAY TO EUROPE WITH HIS PRETTY BRIDE

MRS. RICHARD
DANA SKINNER.

Slowly, but surely, the quiet is subsiding in society circles, although the various functions of the past week have been small, being for the most part planned for the pleasure of guests and not for the purpose of making the most intimate friends. Weddings have been in error, and if "no more" be not in error will continue to do so for some weeks to come. It is a matter of satisfaction that for the most part the young people referred to intend settling in our midst, but the minds of our citizens who intend changing their present quarters turn to the calendar to find that in less than three weeks more will be on the move in full strength. And perhaps more this year than any other on account of the increase in rents, quarters will be changed in the endeavor (?) to secure more suitable dwellings, with greater advantages.

A wedding of much social interest took place at the residence of Mrs. P. A. Armstrong on Wednesday morning in Trinity church, when Miss Ruth "Nicht" daughter of Mrs. P. A. Armstrong, and Mr. C. O. Foss, of the National Transcontinental railway, were united in marriage. The bride was dressed in a very becoming tailored costume of tulle and lace, with hat to match and was unattended. Mr. and Mrs. Foss left on a trip to Boston, New York and New Hampshire, followed by many good wishes from hosts of friends in this city. On their return they will visit at Rochester for a short time, and then to Kalamazoo, Mich. The bride and groom received many very handsome remembrances.

Word has been received from Norfolk, Virginia, of the arrival of a little daughter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Wetmore on April fifth.

Mrs. Vroom leaves on the 10th for Dieby, N. S., where she will be the guest of Mrs. Lynch. Her little granddaughter, Miss Ruth Skinner, will also leave on that date for Annapolis, where she will visit Mrs. Frank Whitman.

At Montreal, on April 10th, to the wife of Arthur P. Hazen, a son, hosts of friends in this city offer congratulations.

The reception and sale of home cooking given on Thursday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Percy W. Thompson, Germain street, by the Loyalist Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire, was an unqualified success. This energetic club of young society ladies has held many pleasant and profitable affairs since their inception, some two or three years ago, and very many of the different charities in the city can testify to the fact that they have not been in vain. Mrs. Thompson's lovely home was lavishly decorated for the occasion with beautiful spring flowers, the dining room being especially attractive when the long mahogany table had as a centerpiece a graceful epergne holding yellow jonquils, pink tulips and white carnations. Mrs. Harold Cowan Schofield in liberty velvet with purple hat trimmed with purple and cerise feathers, and Mrs. W. H. Harrison in black silk velvet Irish lace collar and cuffs, large picture hat and corsage bouquet of crimson roses, served tea and coffee. They were assisted by the following ladies: Mrs. Bertie Armstrong, Miss Jessie Lively, Miss Jean White, Miss Vivian Barnes, Miss Griffith Bishop, Mrs. W. H. Harrison, Miss Marjorie Barnaby, Miss Bertie Hevan, Miss Daphne Crosby and Miss Arlie Armstrong, who wearing dainty flapper dresses and smart spring hats deftly passed the delicious home made confections to the many ladies gathered there. In the spacious drawing room large tables were laden with home cooking of all kinds, cakes, candy, preserves, pickles, marmalade, cream, jellied meats, etc. Mrs. John Sayre, Mrs. Frederick Crosby, Mrs. J. F. F. Lewis, Miss Catherine McAvity, in white linen skirts and blouses, white aprons and caps, were the presiding gents here, and they were not long in disposing of their wares. Other attractions were a beautiful French doll, daintily dressed, which was raffled off, ticket No. 48 being the winning number. Also a festive telling booth, where two fascinating young Italian ladies told mysterious tales of the past, present and future to the eager ladies who surrounded them. Mrs. George Blaine, the regent, welcomed the guests, and Miss Lou McMillan, vice regent, ushered them to the dining room. Mrs. T. E. Ryder and Miss Mary MacLennan, secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Ronald McAvity, Miss Winifred Raymond, Mrs. Eben Turnbull, Miss Nettie Bridges and others also assisted in making the affair the success it undoubtedly was, both in a social and financial way.

St. John's (Glen) church was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday afternoon when Miss Gwendolyn Hilde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. MacDonald, was united in marriage to P. Peniston Johnston, of R. P. and W. Starr Ltd. The ceremony was solemnized by Rev. Gustav A. Kuhling. The bride looked charming in ivory satin draped with beautiful old duchess lace. The bodice was trimmed with chiffon and lace. She wore the customary bridal veil arranged over a wreath of orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Teed, the bridesmaid, wore Nile green crepe de chene over satin, the bodice being draped with Chantilly lace, large white hat trimmed with ostrich plumes and carried a large bouquet of white carnations. Miss Ruth and Miss Constance Starr were the flower girls and were dressed in white with green sashes and wore pretty white hats daintily trimmed with green and white. They carried baskets of white marigolds. Mrs. G. Heber Vroom was groomsmen. The ushers were Mr. Stanley K. MacDonald, brother of the bride and Mr. P. M. Keator. The guests included only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom. Mrs. MacDonald, mother of the bride, wore blue and cerise two-toned silk, trimmed with Mechlin lace draped with charming touches of cerise, black hat with plumes, corsage bouquet of violets and lilies of the valley. The groom's mother, Mrs. Thomas W. Johnston, of Dieby, N. S., was gowned in black lace over lavender silk, black and lavender toque with white plumes and carried a bouquet of violets. Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Johnston left on a trip to New York and other American cities, followed by many good wishes from hosts of friends who wished them the most successful journey. Among the most popular, many very handsome gifts were received.

The bride has been active in the younger social set in Washington and it was expected that she would be married there.

Among the passengers on board the Lapland, bound for Antwerp, there is at least one bridal couple, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dana Skinner, who will spend their honeymoon in romantic and picturesque centres of France, Italy and Switzerland. They will return to America in the summer, and Mr. Skinner, who, although only nineteen, is well known as a writer for magazines, will prepare to complete his studies at Harvard.

Mrs. Skinner was Miss Margaret Mary Hill, daughter of Mrs. Dora M. Hill, of Washington, D. C. Her marriage in the chapel of St. Patrick's Cathedral was marked by simplicity, owing to the illness of the bridegroom's father, Mr. Henry W. Skinner, of Detroit and Boston. Mr. Skinner's condition had so much improved that he and Mrs. Skinner were able to accompany the young couple abroad.
