

Principle vs. Prison. Eight able bodied seamen belonging to the new barque "Tramere" were arrested and brought before the Police Court this morning, on a charge of refusing to duty on board the said vessel. They were in extension that they had signed the articles under the belief that the vessel was ready for sea, and finding this not the case considered themselves under no obligation to do duty. The magistrate took a somewhat different view of the case and ordered them to go for twelve weeks, but to be sent on board if the ship is ready for sea before that period.

A Useful Publication.

M. Stanislas Drapac of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, has projected a work which if properly carried out will prove of extreme value to the people of the Dominion. In the prospectus of this work which is intended to show the history and statistics of the charitable, benevolent and educational institutions of Canada. The project states that his object is to supply the Canadian public with a full and complete historical, descriptive and statistical account of the many noble institutions of benevolence and charity which exist in the Dominion. The work will contain the names—in many cases the biography—of the founders, benefactors, directors, governors, chaplains, religious associates and matrons, physicians and managers of each charitable or benevolent institution in the Dominion.

The work will be published in five volumes, divided under the following headings: Vol. I.—Hospitals and Lunatic Asylums; Vol. II.—Asylums and Almshouses; Vol. III.—Orphanages; Vol. IV.—Gratuitous Education; Vol. V.—St. Vincent de Paul's Societies; Benevolent and Mutual Relief Associations; Savings Banks connected with the Charitable Establishments; Public and Private Charity on occasions of calamitous fires, inundations and epidemics in Canada.

If sufficient inducements offer the work will be put to press early next year, and the subscription list remains open until the first of January. The work will be valuable to every resident of Canada, and in an historical sense will be of great benefit. M. Drapac should meet with every encouragement from the public of the Dominion.

A Noble Youth who Couldn't Drink Wine.

There was a noble youth who, on being urged to take wine at the table of a famous statesman in Washington, had the moral courage to refuse. He was a poor young man, just beginning the struggle of life, who brought letters to the great statesman, who kindly invited him home to dinner.

"Not take a glass of wine?" said the great statesman, in wonderment and surprise.

"Not one simple glass of wine?" echoed the statesman's beautiful and fascinating wife, as she arose, glass in hand, and with a graceful and dignified bearing, she approached, endeavored to press it upon him.

"No," said the heroic youth, resolutely, gently repelling the proffered glass.

What a picture of moral grandeur was that! A poor, friendless youth refusing wine at the table of a wealthy and famous statesman, even though proffered by the fair hands of a beautiful lady.

"No," said the noble young man, and his voice trembled a little and his cheeks flushed. "I never drink wine, but—(here he straightened himself up and his words grew firmer)—if you've got a little good old whisky, don't mind trying a snifter!"

An Imperial German squadron is now lying at Plymouth, England, whence it is not expected to return before the Spring of 1874. It is composed of one iron-clad tripartite, the Prince Frederick Charles; a corvette, the Elisabeth; and the gunboat Albatross, built originally for the protection of the German flag against Asiatic pirates and since converted to heavier armament for the purpose of practicing the new sailing orders. The Weer Zeiger holds that distant parts of the world should occasionally see that the German flag can stand up to the protection of efficient ships of war.

The dismissal of eight members of the London police force, yesterday, for insubordination has served to increase the trouble in the organization.
