

fee to the Library and Reading-rooms of the University in the new building just completed to the south of the College. The University Library contains over 40,000 volumes; and the Reading-room, lighted by electricity, open both in the day and in the evening, affords every facility for study and research.

The generosity of benefactors has provided a number of Bursaries available for those needing this assistance. The College would be greatly strengthened by further benefactions for this purpose. The teaching work of the College is carried on by a staff of four theological professors. Great stress is laid upon the practical work in the city and in country missions as a means of training, which is carried on under the supervision of the Professor of Practical Theology.

THE POSITION OF THE COLLEGE.

In such a city as Toronto, with many earnest laymen, and especially with many clergymen of theological attainments and experience, means of enriching and strengthening the work of the College are provided in lectures by the clergymen, and in the counsel and co-operation of the laity. There are also in Toronto so many Christian workers, and so many departments of Christian work that the students have unequalled opportunities for gaining a practical acquaintance with the various methods pursued, and must receive both stimulus and enrichment from this contact.

ITS FIELD OF WORK.

The College is not local in character, but it is intended to provide for the education of men from and for all parts of the Dominion. The territory is vast and the opportunity is ripe. The Great North-West is rapidly filling up with a population of which a great part are members of the Church of England. So far we have failed to provide adequately for the spiritual wants of these people; and not only there, but in the older parts of the Dominion, men of earnest piety and Evangelical principles are greatly needed. The demand for graduates of Wycliffe is far in excess of the present capacity of the College to supply.

Nor does Wycliffe College neglect to foster a true missionary spirit in its men, and to keep constantly before them the missionary work and needs of the church and the world. Her graduates have shewn themselves willing to
