Grain Growers Are Shown to Have Made 211 Per Cent

GRAIN GROWERS' M. P.'S UNDER FIRE IN HOUSE

OTTAWA, June 24.—If figures placed before the House today by Mr. H. H. Stevens, of Vancouver, are true, the Grain Growers' Company, of which Hon. T. A. Crerar is president, is about in the class of the companies which are under probe by the cost of living committee.

The Grain Growers' Company operates under lease an elevator at Fort William. Mr. Stevens, while discussing amendments of the Grain Act, accused this company along with other elevators, with having made millions out of overages, which he claimed that in the were illegal. Mr. Stevens claimed that in the past number of years no less than ten million dollars had been made by the companies out of these overages, to which they were not entitled. He claimed that every dollar so made should be paid back to the farmers or, if this was impractical, it should be paid into the Dominion treasury.

Overage is the surplus between what the elevator receives as so many bushels and which proves to be more when finally weighed out.

According to Mr. Stevens' figures the Grain Growers' Company in the last year in which he had the statistic made $156,000 out of overages. Screenings netted the company $51,000 and the ordinary elevator earnings $238,000. The total expenses were $234,000. Mr. Stevens estimated the working capital necessary to operate the elevator at $100,000, so that on this basis he figured that the company had made a profit of 211 per cent. Mr. Stevens added that the company had speculated in grain and had lost in these operations $24,000.

The figures of Mr. Stevens were listened to with considerable amusement and much quiet satisfaction by Eastern manufacturers who have been chafing under the continual attacks from the free trade grain growers on the cross benches, intimating that all Eastern industries were little short of pirates. To be placed in the same class as the much abused profiteers hugely to with risibilities of the House.

Mr. Crerar and J. A. Maharg, who is head of the Saskatchewan Co-

Operative Elevator Company did not deny the fact that they had made large profits. They denied, though, that it was against the law and claimed that the board of grain commissioners approved and consented to overages. Any idea of robbery was absurd. The large profits Mr. Crerar said were due to the fact that his company handled 28,000 000 bushels of wheat in one season. The profit was only a fraction of a cent per bushel. Mr. Maharg claimed that as the companies were co-operative the profits went back to the shareholders.

The body of Harry Francis, Orillia was found in the bush on Dwinell's farm, near Lake Simcoe.

In the "free conference" the Senate won't agree to these changes. It is apparent that either the Government will have to propose to strike out the amendments and take a chance of its motion carrying or else the bill will be killed for the third time by reason of the sustained disagreement.

PARLIAMENT WILL APPARENTLY HAVE TO STRIKE OUT PROPOSED AMENDMENTS OR BILL WILL BE DEFEATED IN SENATE FOR THIRD TIME.

OTTAWA, June 24.—The unwelcome procedure of a free conference of "managers" of the Senate and Commons this afternoon was devoted to an abortive effort to adjust the differences between the two houses over the Consolidated Railway Act.

While certain representatives or "managers" selected by the Commons concurred in the view of the Senate committee a minority held out and so a sort of deadlock resulted. It will not be for the Government to say whether or not the bill will be put through the Commons or attempted to be put through in the form agreeable to the Senate and with certain Commons' amendments eliminated.

About 400 clauses.

There are about 400 clauses in the measure. On all but two or three both houses are unanimous. It was particularly desired to put through the act this year as this is the third year it has been attempted.

The hitch was fundamentally over the power clause. While no company is specially mentioned it is really the Toronto and Niagara that is being got after and the antecedent history is very long. Briefly, it claims vested and statutory rights, confirmed by the Privy Council to build distribution lines without municipal consent. As the bill passed the Senate this right was upheld, but with authority to the railway board for redress if any right be exercised oppressively.

Through the Cabinet ministers present and the Commons railway committee held out for the act as it came from the Senate, the House, by a majority of four put in the protecting clause asked by the municipalities, but in point of fact, the City of Toronto.

Another amendment made by the Commons strikes out the words "compensation" which the board might order to be paid the Bell Telephone Company for connecting up with independent.

In the "free conference" the Senate won't agree to these changes. It is apparent that either the Government will have to propose to strike out the amendments and take a chance of its motion carrying or else the bill will be killed for the third time by reason of the sustained disagreement.
