House and giving his support loyally to the Party in the House then he is entitled to be consulted with respect to all matters of organisation in his riding in so far as such organisation is directed by, or assisted by, the Party as a whole. So far as I am concerned this would hold true of all Members, and always has held true with respect to every constituency in Canada. Within the protection of this principle Mr. Cohen is certainly entitled to come.

I would be glad if your views agree with mine or to know if they differ in any way.

Yours very truly,

The Honourable D. O. L'Esperance,
