

price might induce the Dominion Government to let the matter drop until cheaper money is available. However, the savings in cost of construction should at least offset the difference in sale price of negotiable worth of twelve months ago.

Colonel Harbottle is leaving for Ottawa to-night, and knowing that your time is fully taken up, I hesitate to request your aid in the matter, but any assistance that you might see fit to give will be very gratefully appreciated.

With kind regards,

Yours sincerely,

L. M. Coleman

P.S. The Armouries revert to the Government at the end of twenty years, and is a direct saving in contrast to the $35,600 per year that the Dominion Government is paying for old Knox College, which is presently used as the 14th Infantry Brigade Headquarters.

P.T.C. It seems that Mr. Geo.
C/M Wilson is going to Ottawa
in place of Col. Harbottle.
