

A MOTHER'S DUTY TO HER DAUGHTER.

Her Health Must be Carefully Guarded as She Comes to Womanhood

Every mother who calls to mind her own girlhood knows how urgently her daughter is likely to need help and strength during the years between early school days and womanhood. Then it is that growing girls droop, become fragile, bloodless and nervous. Nature is calling for more nourishment than the blood can supply, and signs of distress are plainly evident in dull eyes, pallid cheeks, weak and aching backs, a languid step, fits of depression, nervousness and a dislike for proper food. These signs mean anaemia—that is bloodlessness.

The watchful mother takes prompt steps to give her girl the new, rich blood her weak system is thirsting for by giving her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, because so many thousands of feeble, anaemic, unhappy girls have been transformed into robust women through the rich, red blood these pills actually make. No other medicine has ever succeeded like them, and thousands of mothers have proved their worth. The case of Miss Marguerite Boisclair, St. Jerome, Que., proves the truth of these statements. Miss Boisclair, is sixteen years of age, and says that since the age of thirteen or fourteen she had been afflicted with extreme weakness, and seemed to be going into a decline. The least effort left her weak and breathless, so that she was unable to do any household work. She had no appetite, suffered from terrible headaches, dizziness and sometimes fainting spells. She was under medical treatment, but made absolutely no improvement, in fact seemed to be steadily growing weaker. When her case seemed hopeless a lady friend advised the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After taking a few boxes she began to gain new strength, and after the continued use of the Pills for about two months she was again as well and strong as ever she had been, and has since enjoyed the best of health.

Mrs. Chas. McDermott, Bathurst, N.B., says:—"It is a great pleasure for me to write you and let you know what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me. I was so weak and run down that even the doctor who attended me feared that I was going into consumption. I could hardly do any work about the house, and nothing the doctor did seemed to help me. At this time I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with the result that they have given me new health and new strength, and in my rejoicing I send you this in the hope that it will help some other sufferer to health and strength."

If you need a medicine be sure you get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Don't try "something else just as good." The "something else" isn't just as good but the man who tries to sell it makes more money. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is what you want and what you should ask for.
