THOMAS STONE & SON, IMPORTERS

FALL, 1901

In preparing our Fall line of Suits and Overcoats we feel the gratification which follows an act well done.

Each succeeding season a large share of our profits is returned to our patrons in the improvement and perfection of our garments, not alone in style and finish, but also in the details which go to make perfect clothing. Hence each year we are able to offer you something a little better than the preceding one. On this question we will elaborate to some extent in the near future, meanwhile we will show you, for your careful inspection the best that we have yet been able to offer, and feel assured of the result.

CREMATED IN SLEEP

Ten People Met With Death in a Theatre at Hurley, Wis. consin.

Their Escape Cut off by Rapid Spread of the Fire—The Town Was in Danger.

THE DEAD.
C. W. Cleveland, Hurley, attorney; Tim Ryan, Ironwood, actor; F. L. Gay, store manager, St. Louis; Thos. Orsain; Thos. Le Clair, Hurley; Clara Boone, actress; H. C. Clifford, actor; Harry Raymond; Geo. Benoit, prize fighter, advertised as champion of Canada; D. B. Kenney, Ishpeming.

CRITICALLY INJURED.

Anna Scott, actress, arm and leg broken, bruised; Jennie Bender, actress, head and shoulder crushed; Laura Russell, actress, nose, foot broken, head crushed, probably die; Billy McLaughlin, waiter, Ashland, badly injured, probably die; Hobbs, name unknown, badly burned.

Ironwood, Mich., Nov. 6.—Fire broke out in the Klondike theatre and saloon at 8 o'clock this morning. Ten lives perished in the flames and five were critically injured. Three buildings were totally destroyed, and several others damaged.

The Klondike theatre is a total loss, which is put at $8,000, with $2,700 insurance, running to the Fred Miller Brewing Co., of Milwaukee. The Monarch, saloon, Mike Cummings, proprietor, loses $5,000; Phoenix saloon, Had-dington & McPherson, proprietors, $4,000; Marble Hall, D. P. McNeil, proprietor, damaged, $1,000; Constantine Emporium, damage, $500. Several other buildings were slightly damaged. A death was probably the cause of the fire.

It was a three-story frame building.
The Klondike was one of the most notorious resorts of Hurley, engaging twenty-five people. The fire spread with amazing rapidity, overcoming many before they had a chance to escape. Many jumped from the second and third story windows, receiving serious or fatal injuries.

The injured were taken to the court house and later to a hospital in Ironwood. Some of the first to discover the fire barely escaped with their lives. The whole building was a mass of flames in ten minutes.

When the Hurley and Ironwood fire departments arrived there the buildings were doomed and others were abaze. The street car line was disrupted for several hours by the short cutting of wires.

Tim Ryan, of Ironwood, got out of the building, but returned and was overcome by heat and smoke. Those who escaped lost their wardrobes.

A similar report on the same site burned fourteen years ago, when thirteen lives were lost.

The Klondike was run by Ed. Le-Clair. Emma Ross, the divorced wife of the elder LeClair, had recently acquired title to the property, and was to have taken possession on the 18th inst. The Ross woman runs a dance hall at Gliddie, Wis., and has had trouble with LeClair. The talk on the street is to the effect that the building was burned to prevent the property passing into her hands.

The Klondike, with other places of the sort, were closed a year prior to the election last fall. They were made a local issue and allowed to open this year. The sentiment is against them.
The skeletons were recovered and taken to the undertakers, but none was identified.

IN THE PAST

Mr. Marshall in a Retrospective Mood
When The Planet Visited him
This Morning.

"I was just thinking," mused Jas.
Marshall, the pioneer Queen street grocer, when called upon by The Planet reporter this morning "what this city was like a while back. I remember one time that a yoke of oxen got stuck in the mud in front of the Garner house, and could not budge. Why the place around here was almost a swamp. I planted potatoes in the road in front of Con. Shea's house some time in May, and in September the ground was so wet that they all became rotten."

On Queen street here, then called the Gravel road, there was a very large ditch, which in spring you could put a heat into and go out to Charing cross in it. The only time you could drive on Grey or any of the other streets there was when they were frozen over probably for a few weeks in the summer."

Mr. Marshall then recrossed his legs and lapsed again into reading The Planet, and incidentally smiling over Jack's big ears.

A DEADLY BICYCLE.

Toronto, Nov. 6.—Mrs. S. Magee Tannery, of Belleville, was knocked down at 12.30 p. m. to-day, on Yonge street, by a bicyclist named Robt. Finley, of No. 144 Brunswick avenue, and died of her injuries six hours later, at the general hospital. She was 32 years old and had lived in Toronto for a short time. An inquest will be held to-morrow night.

FEWER BOERS IN THE FIELD

Than the Number Killed Wounded or Captured During Past Week.

Clearing Cape Colony — Boer Losses in the Fight With Col. Benson's Column heavier than supposed.

London, Nov. 6.—In his weekly report to the War Office Lord Kitchener says that October 28 the British column report that 68 Boers have been killed, 11 wounded and 275 made prisoners. There were also 28 surrenders.
Cape Colony, east of the western railway, is clear of all but 400 of the enemy.

BOER LOSSES HEAVY.

Pretoria, Nov. 6.—On the approach of several converging British columns on the scene of Col. Benson's fight near Bethel, the Boers scattered into small parties and retreated in all directions.
The latest reports are to the effect that the Boer losses were heavier than at first supposed. Gen. Botha is now believed to have gone north, probably with the intention of joining forces with the commandos north of the railway.

GEN. HAMILTON'S SUCCESS.

Bloemfontein, Nov. 6.—During October Gen. Hamilton's column, operating in the southern part of the Orange River Colony, took fourteen prisoners and captured a quantity of stock. The Hertzog brothers and Commandants Lategan and Newbold narrowly escaped capture. Skirmishes occurred almost daily, the Boers attempting many times to ambush the British.
When they were attacked they would quickly vanish. Rain greatly delayed the operations.

SICKNESS AMONG BOER ANIMALS

Pretoria, Nov. 6.—An outbreak of boer sickness among the Boer animals is reported from several quarters.
It is said that the sickness is severe, and that it may have important influence in finishing the conflict.

SURRENDERED TO BRITISH.

Nine Boers with eight rifles have surrendered to the Constabulary post at Boschfontein, near Rustenburg. The British horses are now in good condition.

LOOTED THE POST OFFICES.

Cape Town, Nov. 6.—Details have been received here of a Boer raid early last month on the West Coast. A patrol visited the post office at Steenberg's Cove, St. Helena Bay, burned the stamps and postal orders, looted the local store, and stole twelve horses.
The following day thirty-six Boers entered Vredenburg post office, smashed the instruments, rifled the safe and placed the government officials in jail.
The patrol subsequently visited Roo-tes Bay. While they were engaged in looting there the gunboat Partridge arrived, and the Boers fled. The Partridge fired eight rounds at them.

FELL IN SERVICE

Salvation Army Man Called to his Reward Suddenly.

Joseph Martin, a former resident of Chatham, died in Lafayette, Ind., from heart failure.

The remains were removed to Chatham Tuesday evening and the funeral took place this afternoon from the Salvation Army barracks to the Maple Leaf cemetery.

Mr. Martin was, until a few years ago, a member of the Union Baptist church. He entered the service of the Salvation Army and with his wife and family left for Saginaw, Mich., last spring. He was then removed to Lafayette, where he was the captain of the S. A.

Last Sunday he was opening a service and announced the first hymn, "Lord Jesus, be present now." When he had sung two verses of the hymn he sat down in a chair with his head on his hands. He then got up and started for the door of the building, when he was walking down the aisle he fell dead.

Deceased has been married for about 20 years and leaves a widow and two children, a boy and a girl, to mourn his loss.

The funeral was largely attended.
Ensign Hollett and Adj. Coombs conducted the burial service. The pallbearers were Messrs. Knott, Smith, King, Stanton, Hardacre and Coates.

MISSING BRIDE TURNS UP.

Woodstock, Ont., Nov. 6.—Mrs.
Arthur Cooper, the young bride of a Burford farmer, who ran away from her newly-made husband a week ago, turned up last night rather unexpectedly. She arrived in Woodstock during the evening, and engaged a lively rig and driver to take her out to her father. When she arrived her husband received her with open arms, but saying the driver, he took him for the man who had been responsible for her long absence, and was just going to take vengeance on the innocent fellow, but before he could do so the man jumped into the rig so hurriedly that he forgot to leave the woman's valise.
Mrs. Cooper said she had been in Detroit, Benton Harbor and other places.

MR. PARDO DEAD SURE

Thinks he is Bound to get the Nomination Again and Believes he Will Win.

People are Supposed to Vote Liberal—Little Canvassing Needed—Government Stronger than ever he says.

"I am not worrying much about the coming election," said T. L. Pardo, M.
P. P., to The Planet yesterday.

"West Kent is all right. It has always voted Reform and I feel sure that it will not go back on us this time."

"Are you again going to be the candidate?" asked the reporter.

"Well, now," replied Mr. Pardo, "that rests entirely with the Reformers of the constituency, although I have been assured by my friends that I am to receive the nomination again."

"Will you accept the nomination if offered?"

"O, yes, I will certainly run again if I am given a chance, and I feel sure I will be. I have no reason to doubt my election. In fact I never in my life felt more confident of success, for if I did not feel sure that I would win, I would not be so anxious to run again. You know," he added, "the Reform Government is stronger for this election than it has ever been before.
All over the province the feeling is Reform, and it is thought that the Reform Government will be returned to power with even a larger majority than it has at present."

"Are you doing much canvassing?"

"No; nothing except what I can do while attending to my business. The constituency leans so strong towards Reform that there is hardly any need for much canvassing."

"Of course," he added casually, "I am not leaving the field entirely to the Conservatives, and never fail to put in a word where needed."

Mr. Pardo returned to Cedar Springs last night after spending the day in town.

DECLINED THE HONOR.

London, Nov. 6.—The Exchange Telegraph Company to-day says that Andrew Carnegie, prior to leaving Scotland for the United States, was offered a Baronetcy, which he declined.
