With its increased capital the company will enter fractures of an arm or leg led to payments in amounts less than $25, the loss of an eye in amounts varying between $25 and $50, and in a case of the loss of a right arm the injured workman was entitled to a payment of less than $50, while in three cases of payment of less than $50, while in three ca fire insurance. The company will have a capital of bloss of both legs, occuring during the third year, $1,000,000 and a surplus of $1,000,000 the stock being sold at $200 a share.

These small amounts were due to the fact that ompensation payments (limited to usual wages) must cease when the injured employee is able to resume work, and in any case not continue beyond Insurance Company.

YEAR MADE BAD START FOR

Many Casualties Marked Opening of 1915-Valuable Cargoes Lost in Founda -Jute Shipme Suffered Heavily.

-A serious list of marine casualties has marked the beginning of 1915. The year opened with the loss of the steamer Obidense, on the Shipwash, when bound from Rotterdam to New York with general cargo. This was followed by the foundering of the Danish steamer Bjorgvin, off Rockall, with a valthe sinking of the Astarte, at the mouth of the Mersey, by the dredger Joseph Thompson. The Astarte had a valuable cargo on board for Nantes and Bordeaux.

Jute shipments suffered heavily, as the Elswick Manor was on fire when discharging at Staten Island; the Bengali put in to Vigo with cargo on fire, and had to be beached before the outbreak could be subdued; and, last of all, the Fulwell was sunk off the Portuguese Coast, after collision with the Anchor-liner Massilia. The Fulwell was valued at £33,000, and her cargo at about £80.000.

Several serious collisions were reported recently. The Bayamo was beached at New York, after collision with a steamer. The Cordova and Cromarty were both badly damaged by collision in the Downs; and the Colorado, bound from Hull to New York, had to put back seriously damaged by collision off Yarmouth rith the Romney. When lying at anchor in Barry Roads the Norwegian steamer Vinstra was run into by the Giralda, and it was irst reported that she had been sunk. It appeared later that she had only been
