HIGH-CLASS YORKSHIRES.

With many years experience in the breeding and care of Yorkshire swine, coupled with clever business ability and level-headed judgment, together with a willingness to pay the price for toppers as breeding animals, is the keynote of the splendid success attained by H. S. McDiarmid, of Fingal, Ont., whose high-class herd of Yorkshire swine is to-day one of the largest and best in Ontario. With over thirty sows in breeding, every one of them either imported or bred from imported and show animals, headed by stock boars that have oftentimes won premier honors at such great shows as Toronto and London, he is in a position to supply the trade with young breeding stock of a type and quality as choice as the breed produces. Mr. McDiarmid has shipped many hundreds of Yorkshires from one end of the country to the other, and with invariable satisfaction, because he never ships a cull, and just now he has a particularly nice lot of both sexes, from breeding age down, which can be supplied in pairs or trios not akin. Parties wanting a choice young Yorkshire or two, can make no mistake in writing Mr. McDiarmid to Fingal P. O., and getting prices.

A gamekeeper was going over his master's estate one morning, when he encountered a gentleman of the poaching class. The gamekeeper noticed that the other's hat was bulging in a curious manner. After subjecting the hat to an examination he found a young pheasant.

"How did this get here?" the gamekeeper asked, glaring at the culprit. "Blowed if I know," growled the poacher, gazing at the pheasant with an apparent look of great perplexity. "The bloomin' thing must have crawled up my trouser's leg."

HE HAD TO PAY.

A farmer calling at the village school was asked by the master if he would like to question the scholars.

So he said to the class: "If either of you can tell me the weight of the moon, the depth of the sea and what I am thinking about, I will give a prize of sixpence."

There were twin brothers in this class named Sam and Joe. Joe put up his hand and the farmer said, "Well, Sam, what is your answer?"

Joe replied: "The weight of the moon is four quarters, the depth of the sea is a stone's throw," and then he paused.

The farmer responded: "Well, Sam, what am I thinking about?"

"Why you are thinking you are talking to Sam when it is his brother Joe!"

A prominent planter once had occasion to visit some of his holdings in Southern Arkansas. The land was situated several miles from a railroad, and it was necessary to finish the journey in a buggy. So he took a friend with him and started out.

After travelling several miles of sparsely settled country, they came upon a farmer plowing corn on the side of a hill. The planter, wishing to appear civil to his neighbors, stopped his horse and yelled at the man, who came to the fence, mopping his face with a red bandana.

"Good morning."
"Mornin', mister."
"You live here, I suppose?"
"Yep."
"How's crops?"
"Fair tuh middlin'."
"That's a bad hill you're plowing."
"I know it. Bad hoss pullin' the plow, bad plow, bad everything."
"Why, you talk like you were the poorest man in Arkansas," laughed the planter.

"I ain't, though," was the response, as the young farmer smiled good-naturedly. "Another feller owns half o' this crop."

"WELL BEHAVED" SHARPLES Tubular Cream Separators

Suppose two horses were offered you. One of them always keeps the road. The other constantly tries to pull off. Which would you buy?

Two kinds of cream separators are offered you. One is the Tubular—well behaved because the patented Dairy Tubular bowl contains no disks and hangs like a plummet below its bearing and always trues itself. The other is any of the complicated kind, with a bowl full of parts set on top of its spindle and constantly trying to tip sidewise.

Which will you have? The well behaved Tubular, of course, for which others are rapidly being discarded. Write for catalogue 123.
