The list of outrages in Ireland continues to grow. A farmer has been confined to death for paying his rent. The League has been openly reorganized under the name of the Political Prisoners' Aid Society. The Lord Mayor of London has written to the Property Defence Association, assuring its members of the traditional support of the city. Subscriptions are called for to aid the widows in distress owing to the non-payment of rent.

The Mitchell Recorder states that on Saturday week at the house of Mr. Vernon Nixon, his aged mother, who was in her 115th year, ended her long and remarkable career. For many years past Mrs. Nixon, the deceased, has been looked upon as the oldest person in that part of Canada, and as a remarkable instance of longevity. She was a native of the North of Ireland, and came to this country 26 years ago. With the exception of a partial loss of sight and hearing, she retained her faculties till her death. Her youngest son, with whom she was living, is in his 68th year, and she had one sister who lived to the age of 110.

Farmers and Mechanics.

If you wish to avoid great danger and trouble, besides a no small bill of expense, at this season of the year, you should take prompt steps to keep disease from your household. The system should be cleansed, blood purified, stomach and bowels regulated, and prevental cure diseases arising from spring malaria. We know of nothing that will so perfectly and so surely do this as Electric Bitters, and at the trifling cost of fifty cents a bottle.—Each—Sold by J. H. Michener.

There seems unfortunately to be no doubt as to the fate of the missing prospector James Miller, which has not been seen since shortly after leaving Meadford on the 23rd November on her last trip for the season to Michaels Bay. A search among the islands near Wiarton has resulted in ours and other belongings of the vessel being picked up, and there is too little reason to doubt that she foundered in the storm, was driven on the rocks. Her passengers and crew numbered 25 persons, nearly all of whom belonged to Meadford, Owen Sound, and Wiarton, and there is consequently much distress in those places.

How an Artist Treated His Visitor.

To the Editor of the Salem (Mass.) Register: I would have accepted your kind invitation to visit you in your new quarters with pleasure before this, had not my old enemy, Mr. Rheumatism, pounced on me so suddenly. He arrived last Friday, and, without stopping to send up his card, rushed in and grasped me by the hand with such a grip that in a few hours my hand and wrist were so badly swollen and painful that I felt as though one of Mr. Hatch's coal teams had run over me. Mr. Rheumatism has been a constant visitor of mine for several years; always swells and puts on a great many airs and makes himself at home, devouring my substance and leaving me poor in flesh and pocket. Last winter he came and staid two months. I then made up my mind that the next time he came I would change his diet, as he has always gobbled down everything set before him. I was somewhat at a loss what to feed him with, but finally concluded to give him three square meals a day of St. Jacobs Oil—morning, noon and night. This fare he is disgusted with and is packing up his trunk and will leave by to-morrow or next day; says he cannot stop any longer as he has pressing business elsewhere. He is a treacherous fellow, and I have no doubt he intends visiting some of our Salem friends; if he does just give him the same fare that I did and he won't stop long. J. S. LEFAVOUR.
