TURNIPS.—Mr. Egbert Card, of Gaspe-ron, has brought into our office two of the finest Aberdeen turnips we have ever seen. The largest weighed 13 lbs.

SOCIABLE.—The sociable held in the Baptist vestry last Friday evening was in every way a success. A large number attended and a very pleasant time was spent.

OUT OF SEASON.—Dr. Chipman, of Grand Pre, showed as a full-blown apple blossom on Wednesday which had been just picked from the orchard at "Dun-elm Cottage," Horton Landing. This is certainly a very late date for apple blossoms.

Wheat Bran, a few tons, Choice, just received at R. PRAT'S.

NEW BRIDGE.—After a long delay the committee of management of the Willow Bank Cemetery have caused operations to be commenced on the bridge at the upper entrance to the grounds. The bridge is being built with stone laid in concrete covered with stone and earth and will be without doubt a lasting structure.

GRAND DIVISION.—We have been requested by the Grand Scribe to announce that the annual meeting of the Grand Division, S. of T., fixed for Tuesday, Nov. 5th, has been postponed till Tuesday, Nov. 12th, in consequence of the 24th being Thanksgiving Day. Persons interested will please bear this in mind and govern themselves accordingly.

NEW ENGLAND SUPPER.—The members of Acadia Lodge, I. O. G. T., intend having a "New England Supper" in their hall on Friday evening 25th inst. Those who have had the privilege of attending these institutions will understand fully what that means. We predict a pleasant time. Refreshments of all kinds will be furnished at moderate prices.
We advise all who can to attend, spend a pleasant evening and help along a good cause.

THE EXHIBITION.—The general committee which had charge of the recent exhibition at Kentville met on Friday last. Following are some of the particulars which have been furnished us: The total amount distributed in prizes was $1943.08 and the expenses were $68.84. The secretary received for his services $100 and the assistant secretary $20, making in all for secretary's service $120. There was realized from the sale of tickets $2651, and the total receipts from all sources amounted to $2773.26. The committee, by judicious management and by giving their own services free, have been able to meet all expenses. This in view of the fact that this exhibition was simply a county exhibition and that several others of the same character were being held in the various parts of the Province at about the same time, makes the result very satisfactory.

PERISHED IN THE WOODS.—A story comes from Newport, Hants Co., the facts of which, as near as can be learned, are as follow: Last Saturday a party of young men while out hunting near Starks Lake got lost and after wandering about for some time concluded to separate and each take a different route and in the event of one finding the path it was agreed upon to fire a gun to notify the others. One young man named Henry Miller, who had proceeded but a short distance from his companions, noticed a bundle of clothing lying in the path before him. It proved to be the wearing apparel of a woman, and upon a closer examination there lay the ghastly skeleton of a human body. Such a discovery is well calculated to make even the stoutest heart quail, but much more horrifying did it appear to this young man who found himself gazing alone upon this horrible spectacle. By lustily shouting he soon brought his companions to the scene. After a hasty examination they again made an effort to find their way out, which after considerable difficulty they succeeded in doing and reported their horrible find. During the summer a woman has been seen at different times by children berry picking in the clearing on the outskirts of the forest, but on their approach fled to the woods, and probably perished from hunger and exposure, which no doubt accounts for this skeleton and female clothing found by these young men.
Rumor has it that she was a former inmate of Horton poor house, but this we cannot vouch for.

BIG SQUASH.—Mr. James N. Borden, of Port Williams, showed us a squash the other day that weighed 7 1/2 pounds.
It should have been at the exhibition.

WATER PIPE.—The first load of water pipe for the Wolfville water works passed this office on Tuesday afternoon last, en route for Gaspe, when they will be laid under the Gaspe river before the fall rains set in.

SECOND CROP.—Mr. D. R. Thomas handed us in on Tuesday a branch of a raspberry bush filled with second crop fruit. Can this be beaten? Mr. T. thinks he has got ahead of those who are bringing in late blossoms.

COAL.—During the past week several cargoes of coal have been landed at our wharf and yet the demand is unsatisfied.
The schooner Maude is landing a cargo of hard coal from New York consigned to Fullerton Bros., of Port Williams.

HYMENEAL.—On Tuesday, Oct. 15th, a large number of the friends and relatives of Smith P. Harris, Esq., gathered at his residence, at Wolfville, to witness the marriage of his daughter, Miss Lizzie I., to Mr. Fenton Harris, of Windsor. The bride looked charming in a cream colored cashmere; and the groom appeared as though he appreciated the happiness in store for him. The numerous presents showed the good sense of the donors by their combined elegance and usefulness. The bridal party left on the noon express for the west, mid showers of rice and best wishes of those assembled to see them depart for a pleasant week before settling in their home at Windsor.

JOURNALISTIC.—We have received a copy of the Weekly Press, a paper just started at Amherst by Messrs Fitch & Bryant, formerly of Kentville. The copy at hand presents a creditable appearance and is well filled. We wish the new publication well.—The Canadian Queen is the title of a new magazine published by the Queen Publishing Co. at Toronto.
It is devoted to fashion, art, fancy work, flowers, toilet, home decoration and household matters. It is handsomely illustrated, and is equal to any of the high priced English or American publications. It is in every sense a ladies' magazine and should be found in every cultivated home in the land. It is the first ladies magazine ever published in Canada and every Canadian lady should do something towards making it a grand success. To introduce it the publishers offer to send it three months on trial for only 25 cents.

Important People.

BY BEN KEENE.

We are apt to put too low an estimate on people's importance. There are some people, it is true, that don't amount to much. There are some people that never aspire to anything higher than passing around the collection plate in church or having their names in the county paper for growing a large squash or a twin cucumber. They live a quiet, secluded life, and when they die they do not expect to be missed by many. They expect that the world will go on just about the same as usual after their leaving it, and that their removal will create no great sensation—no ruffle to speak of in the tranquil sea of the world's existence. But there are others with whom it is different. There are people in this world that are important. In fact, to say they are important scarcely conveys the meaning.
They are outrageously important—important in an extravagantly excessive degree. We have met them. We have perhaps occasionally stumbled across them in our daily toil. They are not so scarce but that the busy world can catch a glimpse of them without going much out of its way. Indeed, they are quite common in some localities. I have seen blueberries considerably scarcer in a season that was considered by no means a poor one for them either. It seems to me, as the world grows old, it produces important people with less and less exertion.

People nowadays, that are important, but whom, on account of their being so dreadfully common, we do not give half the deference that they deserve, in a former age, no doubt, would have been regarded as monstrosities in importance. But I have often thought, after all, as I have looked in silent veneration before these transcendent mortals, how lucky it was that they were not born in a former age—in an age when the world was young. The hasty removal of such a one at a time when the world was grappling for an existence, as it were—at a time when it could ill withstand such shocks and convulsions—might have proved disastrous indeed. But the world now is old and hardened. It can stand remarkably well such shocks.
They do not seem to affect it scarcely.
When an important person dies the world doesn't even stop to attend the funeral in a body, but leaves it to a few friend-and relatives to do. The world has got into such a hardened state that I don't believe more than three-quarters of it would bathe itself in tears if the most important person in it should die.

But still important people are born, and grow up, and exist; and every age they do seem to get more important. They do not seem to be of much use though in the world, after all, considering their importance, and that's the reason probably that the world doesn't use them any better. It is not always the most important people that are of the most service in the world. They are not always the people that we think the most of and miss the most when they're gone.

I have known people who were by no means ordinary, who were considered but very ordinary people in the eyes of the world, who never owned a buck horse or a fur coat or a stand-up collar, that I would rather exchange places with in a minute than the most important man I ever knew. After all, is it not as well not to be so very important? I would not care to be too important.
It seems to me that one of the hardest things an important person has to bear is the worry and anxiety when he is called upon to leave this world about how it is going to get on without him.
I would be just as important enough to be of some service in whatever circumstance I was placed. I would never be too important to be ashamed of honest work and would always be important enough to have it to do.

It is not always the most important people who do the most for the world and whom the world remembers the longest after they are dead. John Milton's works will be read and praised when it has been several thousand years since "Robert Elsmere" was last heard of, and John Bunyan will be remembered when the name of the author of the "Bad Boy's Diary" will have sunk into the most remote corner of oblivion. Do not fret if the world does not deem you one of its important people. Rather be thankful that you are not important.
And if ever there is a time when you think you are beginning to get important, go to and pray that this evil may not befall you. Great men are always humble.

SASH BALANCE.

LOOKS AND LIFTS.

The only practical substitute for weights invented. The most durable, the cheapest and best device for all weighing purposes. Balances when position are entirely out of sight. No rivets, bolts or screws are used in putting it together so that nothing can get out of order or need repairing. No cutting, boring or marking of the sash, as the Balances are let into the jamb. Especially valuable for repairing old buildings as they can be put in at a trifling expense, as easily put in old buildings as new ones.
Sash can be removed from frame in a moment for cleaning or repairing broken glass. Can be used where it is impossible to use weights or other fixtures. No slightly cord wearing point of side of frame. No rattling of sash as pressure against sash prevents it. No rattling of weights or pulleys when sash is raised or lowered. No sticking of weights in frame. No cords to rust off, wear out and break. No rollers rot to become flattened by standing in one position for some time. No noisy coil spring or delicate mechanism to break, wear out or get out of order. Its simplicity of construction and operation is the wonder of all
