SOLD LIQUOR TO INDIAN.

Two Dundas Men Were Fined $25 Each For It.

Dundas, July 5.—The funeral of the late A. W. Fisher, of the third concession of West Flamboro, took place yesterday, and was very largely attended. Interment was in Grove Cemetery, Dundas. The funeral ceremonies were conducted by Rev. Mr. Bennett, of Christ's Church, Bullock's Corners. The pallbearers were James Burt, George Hill, John Offord, James Hill, Robert Tunnicliffe, and John Keirle. Deceased, who was in his eightieth year when he died, came to Canada from New York State in 1860, and for a time lived near Christie's Corners. About thirty-six years ago he bought and moved to the farm where he spent the remainder of his days. Deceased had one son and two daughters. The son is Elmore E. Fisher, of Dundas, the only child by his first wife, who came to Canada with him and died in 1879. The daughters (twins) are Ethel at home and Edna, a teacher in the Streetsville school. The second wife of deceased was Ann M. Binkley, daughter of the late Samuel Binkley. She died about two years ago. Deceased was widely known and very highly esteemed, as was evidenced by the large attendance at his funeral. He was somewhat eccentric in some respects, as is shown by the fact that although he had been in Canada nearly fifty years and his family were all born here, he had never become a British subject, and had never voted. This probably led to his being familiarly called "Yankee" Fisher. By his children and grandchildren, who mourn his departure, he was greatly beloved, and the township has lost an old sturdy and good citizen.

The funeral of the late Andrew Sutherland took place on Saturday afternoon and was largely attended. Rev. H. T. Wallace, who is at present in charge of Knox Church, officiated. The pallbearers were F. D. Suter, Wm. Mitten, W. H. Moss, J. W. Lawerson, James Law and Wm. Lawson.

On old time Dundas boy turned up in town on Saturday in the person of Wm. J. Urquhart, whose father, Alex. Urquhart, carried on a blacksmith business on the corner of King and Ogilvie streets, where the Carnegie library building is now being erected. The family left Dundas for the Western States thirty-one years ago. William J. is in charge of the western sales department of the White Steam Car Co., of Cleveland, Ohio, with offices in Chicago. He was touring in one of the company's magnificent steam automobiles, and stopped in Dundas to make calls on a few old time friends and have a look at the town.

On Saturday, Mayor Lawerson, Austin Walker and Wm. Ashton were fined $25 each for supplying liquor to a prohibited person, "Tackie" Martin, who was picked up gloriously drunk. Under threat of being sent to jail he divulged the names of those who gave him the liquor. Walker pleaded not guilty, but declined to swear in his own behalf.

Miss Pauline Potter, of New York, has been the guest of Mayor Lawerson.

Science and the Eye.

A few years ago doctors would not believe that eyestrain would cause headache and nervousness, and science has proved that about 90 per cent. of persistent headache is due to eyestrain, which can be relieved by properly fitted glasses. But those glasses must be properly fitted, not guessed at.

The Tait-Brown Optical Co.'s, specialist has made a great study along these lines and gives wonderful satisfaction, being one of the few who have mastered that scientific method of eye examination without questioning the patient about letters, etc., also giving muscular eyestrain special attention.

SALVATION ARMY NOTES.

A repetition of the nationality meeting, as given at General Booth's birthday celebration, will be held in the S. A. Citadel, Rebecca street, to-night. About twenty-three countries will be represented and the meeting will be preceded by a novel street procession, when about one hundred persons will march in costume.

Captain and Mrs. Merrett, who have been in command of the Citadel here for the past sixteen months, have received orders of farewell, and will say goodbye next Sunday.

Lick's First Love Affair.

There are many stories of the lighter side of finance in which love affairs find a place. Perhaps none of these is more peculiar than the story of James Lick, a name famous all over the world through a monument to his memory, the great Lick Observatory, in California. In the financial world the great city of San Francisco is a monument to Lick's luck—he foresaw the possibility of the great city of the Pacific Slope, bought the land on which it now stands, and became a millionaire. Before that time the name of Lick was great in the musical world. Lick's piano—out of which he made the money which he invested in land—were manufactured by him. But on the poetic side of life—a world apart from such things as piano-making and mudlarks—the great Lick Mill stands as a monument to Lick's love.

In early life James Lick sought the hand of a miller's daughter, but was repelled by the father on the ground that the young suitor did not possess a mill. Many years afterwards, when he had become one of the richest men in the States, he erected a large mill and adorned it like a palace. It was built of mahogany and costly woods, and erected solely as a memorial of his youthful attachment. His only pleasure was to contemplate this palatial mill and to gloat over the man who had spurned him for his poverty.—Harry Furniss in the July Strand.

ADGIE AGAIN.

Fine Free Attraction Continues at Maple Leaf Park.

Now that the races are over, Hamiltonians will be looking for some other amusement and the management of Maple Leaf Park will try to make the people forget the ponies for a time. The park is in good shape and all this week Adgie and her lions will give a big free act in front of the stand each afternoon and night. The animals will be fed after each evening performance and Adgie will be pleased to explain the habits of the inhabitants of the jungle to women and children each afternoon after the matinee.

The regular weekly matinee of the Hamilton Driving Club will be held on Wednesday afternoon and this week's feature will be a pony race. The park will be the scene of some big demonstrations during the next two months, as several parties from outside points have been booked.

ESCAPE DEATH.

Six Nightriders of Tennessee Get New Trial.

Jackson, Tenn., July 3.—The cases of the eight night riders, six of whom were under death sentence charged with the murder of Captain Quentin Rankin at Walnut Log, on Reelfoot Lake, October 9 last, were reversed by the Supreme Court to-day and were remanded for new trials.

Two principal reasons were assigned—that the grand jury which found the indictments was not selected in a proper manner, and that the State did not allow the defendants a sufficient number of challenges.

Drowned Yachtsmen Found.
Montreal, July 4.—The bodies of Harry Shaw and Archie Crossley, the two yachtsmen who were drowned on Wednesday near Sorel by the capsizing of the yacht Red Feather, were found near the scene of the accident to-day. A verdict of accidental drowning was returned.

VEILED IN MYSTERY.

Alleged Suicide May Have Been Murdered.

New York, July 3.—A court order was issued to-day for the disinterment of the body of Alfred Burt, a well-to-do Mineola, L. I., farmer, who was found in the attic of his home Thursday apparently a suicide from hanging. Counsel for Sarah A. Burt, an aunt of Burt, applied for the order and informed the court that he had evidence warranting the belief that Burt died from poison, and his body had been taken to the attic and suspended from a rafter. Burt left an estate estimated at $100,000 or more, and Mrs. Burt has applied for letters of administration thereon.

Burt was thirty-five years of age, and was married about a month ago to Miss Gertrude Albrecht, of Elmont. A week ago the couple quarrelled and Mrs. Burt left him. This was generally believed to be responsible for the supposed suicide.

Lake Huron and Lake Superior.

A magnificent summer trip is enjoyed by taking this "fresh water sea voyage" from Sarnia, Ont., to Fort William, Ont., through the grand inland seas. This year new steamers have been added to the Northern Navigation Company's fleet, and the finest and fastest vessels on the great lakes will fly the house flag of this popular company. The steamers run in connection with the Grand Trunk Railway System, and all particulars, rates and descriptive literature, etc., can be had for the asking by applying to J. D. McDonald, District Passenger Agent, Toronto, Ont.

She Was the Champion.

A colored woman of generous proportions was on the witness stand in the Superior Court before Judge Weir, and she made such a good witness for the plaintiff that the attorney for the defence planned to throw "cold water" on what she said by finding fault with her character.

"Let me see you have been arrested, haven't you?" the attorney asked in cross examination.

"Now, look ahead," said the witness, getting angry, "do you think I am going to tell you all my private business? I guess not."

"I have the right to know, and you must tell me," the lawyer persisted, and Judge Weir instructed the witness that she would have to answer.

"Is 'reared for Lick's' my husband?" she said, her eyes flashing.

"That so?" said the attorney with great satisfaction. "What is your husband's business?"

"He's a prizefighter," she said, and the cross-examination abruptly ended amid general merriment.—From the Indianapolis News.

What a comfort it would be if the wolf at the door could be trained to chew up a few duns as they arrive? Soars to get rid of it that is at the root of many later-day evils.—Harper's Weekly.

INDEPENDENCE DAY.

A SANE FOURTH.

FUN FOR TIMES READERS

FAMILIAR TRAGEDIES.

Full many a man has found,
On wedding his affinity,
That there were others 'round
Somewhere in the vicinity.
Bewailing his sad fate,
He moves amid the thick of them,
Convinced, when 'tis too late,
He hasn't got the pick of them.

Things go from bad to worse;
His case is quite deplorable.
He gets a quick divorce—
And weds a new adorable.

Some mocking fate attends
This luckless masculinity,
Whatever shapes his ends,
It isn't a divinity.

RIGHTS AND LEFTS.

"Am I on the right road to Egypt?"
Inquired the traveller.

"No, sir," replied the farmer, "you'd ought to have turned to the left at the brick house a couple of miles back."

"But I was told I'd have no trouble in finding the way if I kept on the right road."

"That's right."
"So when I came to two roads I turned to the right."

"That was wrong."
The traveller, as becoming irritated,
"Then the right road was the wrong
one, was it?" he asked.

"You're right."
"How can a thing be both right and wrong?"

"That only shows, mister," said the farmer, calmly chewing a straw, "that you've never milked a cow. If you had you'd know that her right side is her wrong side."

OBJECTORS.

The millennium was about to arrive.
"But we don't want it, we tell you,"
protested a great many prominent citizens. "It will hurt our business!"—New

AT THE DAWN OF HISTORY.

The missing link scratched his—or its—head in deep perplexity.
"I'm certainly close to the people,"
mused the creature—or phase of development—"but where are the people? I don't see any!"

Which was quite true, for the people thought they were next, as one may say,
had not yet arrived.

TO BE CONSIDERED.

"Yes, sir," said the rural mail carrier,
"you must let it go any further, for this is strictly confidential, but I'm for Roosevelt in 1912."

"Why so?" asked the cross roads
philosopher.

"Because I've been taking stock of his enemies. Every corporation, every trust that's trying to bleed the people, everybody that he has offended by calling him a liar, every nature fakir, everybody that's prejudiced against the big stick, and all the fellows that are trying to get rich quick by hook or crook are everlastingly down on him."

"Well," said the cross roads philosopher, "that constitutes a majority. You may as well give it up."—Chicago Tribune.

Scrap Book Poetry

THE OLD-FASHIONED GIRL.

A house with a garden where hollyhocks
grow,
And all the sweet simples bloom, row
after row;

Philox and geranium and lavender sweet,
And buttercups bright in the grass at your feet;

A boxwood border that leads to the gate
Where roses of June with the lilacs still wait;

And there in the door, with a little side
curt,
That vision—a beautiful, old-fashioned girl!

Ah, the silk of her shoon and the pink
of her cheek,
And the red of her lips where the honeybees seek.

The nectar love left when on bloom-laden wing
He passed and just touched them with honey of spring!

Oh, the blue of her eyes, and the mold
of her face,
And the poise of her head, and the charm of her grace,

As we dream of the days of the little side curt,
In the beautiful dream of an old-fashioned girl!

O sweethearts of song, have ye all passed away
With those gardens that bloomed in a lost yesterday?

Oh, sweet country daughters, with red lips of June,
And simple, sweet lives, and the soft silken shoon,

Do ye sing, do ye dance, do ye dream
once again
Of the horn on the hills and the days
of brave men,

When down the box border, with hearts
in a whirl,
They flew to you—beautiful, old-fashioned girl!—Baltimore Sun.

Bethesda

There was a very large gathering of friends at the beautiful home of Mr.
Fred Floestma last Wednesday to pay their last tribute to his son, Edward.
Rev. M. Webster, Presbyterian minister, conducted the funeral service at the house, after which the remains were laid away in the cemetery a short distance away. Edward was a very promising young man, but had been a great sufferer for a long time. He was nearly twenty years old and will be greatly missed in the home. He leaves a father and mother, five sisters and three brothers. The floral offerings were many and very beautiful.

Quite a number from this neighborhood went to the Sunday School picnic
last Tuesday and Miss Lily Bradshaw had the misfortune to get her finger badly hurt under the car window.

Mrs. Charles Shaver is not very well.
Mrs. W. Book visited her son, W.

LAUDER'S BULLDOG

Mrs. Harry Lauder Terribly Bitten by Vicious Animal.

London, July 4.—An extraordinary adventure befell Mrs. Harry Lauder, the wife of the well known comedian. She was conveying a bulldog from Willesden station to her home at Footing when she was ferociously attacked by the animal, and so badly mauled that she had to be taken to St. Thomas' Hospital.

Mr. Lauder had bought the bulldog on the previous day in Blackburn and consigned it to Euston Square. Breaking loose at Euston, it attacked porters
there, two being severely bitten.

In response to a telephone message
Mrs. Lauder went to Willesden in a motor brougham driven by her brother, Mr. Henry Vallance. On the way to Footing the bulldog savagely attacked
Mrs. Lauder, fastening its teeth in her leg and tearing open the limb. Mr. Val-lance went to the assistance of the lady,

when the animal turned on him, jumping at his throat viciously.

Mrs. Lauder fell in a faint at the bottom of the car, and dog and man rolled over in the street. Mr. Vallance struggling to keep the brute's teeth from his neck.

After a desperate fight the dog was killed by three policemen. Mrs. Lauder and Mr. Vallance were taken to St.
Thomas' Hospital, where their wounds were dressed. Both are recovering from the shock.

Dropped London.

London, Ont., July 4.—While painting in the new firehall, No. 5, east end, yesterday, Edward Rourke, of 336 Egerton street, dropped dead. Some of his fellow-workmen ran to his assistance when he fell, but in a few seconds he was dead. Dr. Homer Black gave apoplexy as the cause of death. Rourke was 42 years old, and leaves a wife and six children.

ENTERTAINED KAISER.

Trambund, Germany, July 3.—Emperor William was entertained at dinner last night by Allison V. Armour, of New York, on board the yacht Utowana.
