A New Year's Magazine.
Frank R. Stockton, in his own delightful humorous way, continues to make the irrepressible "Pomona" interesting in the second installment of her correspondence with her old "Rector Grange" mistress. These letters, under the title of "Pomona's Travels," can only be found in the January Ladies Home Journal. Mr. Barton Kingsland strikes the key-note of the magazine by giving some very practical suggestions for a new form of entertainment under the title of "Pity-Became an Actress." In a theme of most valuable bit of autobiography from the pen of Adelaide Ristori del Grillo. A sketch, with portraits, of Mrs. Donelson Wilcox, who was born in the White House during the administration of Andrew Jackson, and who is affectionately termed "The Sunshine of the White House," furnishes the biography. The second installment of Mr. William Dean Howells' "My Literary Pastions" is as full of interest as the first. The editor discusses with most earnestness the vexed question of the education of our American girls. Miss Julia Magruder's delightful series, "A Beautiful Alma," which grows in charm and interest as it proceeds, furnishes the fiction. The four prize hymns, to which were awarded the prizes in "The Journal's Musical Series" of last year, are given in their entirety. Alice Morse Earle is interesting and instructive in "Stamps and Marks on Old China." Mr. Frances Hodgson Burnett and Mr. Birch continue to delight with fact and picture concerning "Little Lord Fauntleroy." Women everywhere will be delighted with "Embroideries for a Dining Room," by Mrs. Beres-Bruce. "Accompaniments to a Girl's Room," by Mrs. T. Roberts, and the third contribution on Things that Should be Left Unsaid will be of general service. The article on Dress Fabric, Trimmings and Millinery are invaluable to Dressmakers and Milliners, and that on Fur Rugs and Robes gives the latest information about these luxuries. Lovers of Knitting, Crocheting, Tatting and Netting will find much that is new in the papers on these subjects. A subscription to "The Delinquent" is only One Dollar a year; Single Copies, 15 cents. Address orders to The Delinquent Publishing Co. of Toronto (Ltd.), 33 Richmond Street West, Toronto, Ont.

The Unemployed of London.
LONDON, Dec. 20.—At a meeting of unemployed at Tower hill today, Williams, leader of idle workmen, announced that a society was being formed to prevent the evasion of the merchandise marks set by foreign manufacturers. The society would carry on an agitation to induce the public to refuse to purchase articles made abroad. He added that a committee composed of workmen would be appointed to approach the government and local authorities with reference to articles made abroad for British taxpayers. He alleged the boilers of British guns were made in France. An order for 30,000 swords and bayonets had been given in Germany. The general post office had given an order to Siemens, Berlin, to lay a new cable from Liverpool to New York at a cost of £2,000,000. The London school board had its printing done abroad.

A Fine for "After The Ball."
INVIDIOUS DISTINCTION IN HARMONY MADE BY A KANSAS TOWN.
MANKATO, Kan., Dec. 18.—Hereafter any one who whistles "After The Ball" in this town will be fined. Last night, in order to increase the funds in the treasury an ordinance was passed to fine each person who is heard whistling the tune in question. Fifty cents.

The Irish Priest, whether in the rural, rural districts or in crowded and fetid city slums, is an admirable personage, the veritable strength of the Catholic University of London. And what danger he is ever ready cheerfully to confront! Apart from the conventional discharge of his ordinary routine of duties in the confessional or on the altar, reading his office or instructing catechumens, he leaves the quietest room at a moment's notice to carry solace to a fevered couch or face risky journeys by night.

Canada's Big Cheese.
Canada's mammoth cheese, when it reached Liverpool from the Chicago world's fair, per the Atlantic steamer Laurentia, was found for the most part to be rotten and fit only for the garbage can. A small quantity, however, of the famous Limburger product, Mr. Lipton, the great English commission and produce merchant, had arranged to exhibit it at the London exposition, and also throughout the country, distributing pieces to leading business men and farmers. Owing to the condition of the cheese this great advertisement for Canada is lost.

Canada's Big Cheese.
The complete novel in the January number of LEPENCOZ'S is "The Colonel," by Harry Willard French. Based on a romantic adventure, in which the hero saves the heroine's life at sea, the tale goes on to study the characters of these two highly-gifted idealists, and to trace the fortunes of a mutual passion which neither is willing to own. The sentiment throughout in the parent and loftiest of which human nature is capable, and the chapters appeal to the reader's heart rather than to his brain. Gilbert Parker supplies the opening chapters of a serial story, "The Tempest," which will run through six numbers of the magazine. It deals with a Canadian of high family, who comes from a wild and wondrous life to take his rightful place in England, and is of uncommon force and intellect. "Frenchie" is a domestic tale by Molly Elliot Dowell. "A Father and Her Boy," by George Murray, is a pathetic sketch from every-day life. "The Peninsula of Lower California," by James Knapp Reese, gives valuable information concerning that little-known region, and corrects many errors of the "Geographical Magazine." Mrs. Sherwood's "Recollections" of Rachel, Pansy Kemble, and Charlotte

Chasman will interest many. Julian Hawthorne, in "A Post of Manhood," pays tribute to the memory of Daniel I. Dawson. Under the heading, "A Juvenile Revival," Thomas Chalmers celebrates the "Christian Endeavor" era. Frank Colly writes of "Early Marriage Customs," and Charles Morris anticipates "The Twentieth Century." In "Talis with the Trade," F. E. B. answers some questions of young writers. The poetry of the number is of unusual merit. It is by Martha T. Tyler, Celia A. Hayward, Kathleen R. Wheeler, Edward Oldham, M. S. Paden, and the late Daniel I. Dawson.

From all Quarters.
The Imperial Parliament has adjourned until Jan. 12th.
The Lord Mayor of Liverpool, Eg., is a native of St. John's, Nfld.
Ecuador and Peru have both accepted Columbia as mediator, and the boundary dispute will be settled without war.

The new United States cruiser Olympus is claimed to have maintained in her trial trip a speed of 23 knots, or close to 26 miles an hour for 86 miles.
The London Daily Telegraph has information that the government intend to spend £4,500,000 annually upon the navy for five years, instead of the usual £3,000,000.
O. S. Butler, alias Jellist, who recently endeavored to cash a forged draft for $5,000 at the branch bank of Montreal, New Westminster, B.C., has been sentenced to five years' imprisonment.

Professor Klebs, of Karlsruhe, who has modified advantageously Prof. Koch's tubercular vaccine, says that he has discovered a sure cure for diphtheria. He has been successful in thirteen different cases.
John Hunniker Heaton, conservative, for Canterbury, will move in the house of commons that a select committee be appointed to inquire into the management and expenses of the British section at the Chicago fair.

Princess Marie, of Rumania, wife of the Crown Prince, has an unusual hobby—the collection of perfume bottles. In this she resembles her grandmother, the late empress of Russia, who left a collection of beautiful perfume bottles valued at $20,000.
While hunting in Derby, Prussian Saxony, last week, the emperor had the men of the 26th regiment act as beaters. Six men followed him, heading him loaded rifles as fast as he fired. In two hours he shot 385 hares, or more than three hares a minute.

Thomas M. King, third vice-president, and now practically general manager of the Baltimore and Ohio line, almost invariably when going over the road rides in the front of the locomotive. After eating himself comfortably by lights a cigar and tells the engineer to let her out.
The British House of Commons 240 to 204 rejected Lord George Hamilton's motion declaring that it was necessary that large additions should be made immediately to the navy, and that the house therefore demanded to be informed what the intentions of the government were in regard to strengthening it.

Senator Perkins, of California, was a sailor before the mast at the age of sixteen, and a few years later he was a porter in the general store of which he afterward became proprietor. He accomplished this rise in life by rare self-denial. Receiving a salary of $60 a month, he saved fifty dollars a month from it by doing his own cooking, making his own clothing, and living in a way that a fastidious tramp would have scorned.
The dangers and emoluments of leading bronchos and the circus business have lost their interest for Robertson's representatives states that a few inches on the top of the cheese is damaged, but that the bulk and body are sound as ever, and the conviction is that the contractor to purchase the cheese, who already received the full amount of the price, should have been satisfied with the condition of the cheese when it was tested in Chicago.

Dairy Commissioner Robertson says the collapse of the mammoth cheese is greatly exaggerated. A report received from Robertson's representatives states that a few inches on the top of the cheese is damaged, but that the bulk and body are sound as ever, and the conviction is that the contractor to purchase the cheese, who already received the full amount of the price, should have been satisfied with the condition of the cheese when it was tested in Chicago.
The annual returns of the Clyde distilling company show the total output in 1893 was 263,000 gallons, or 336,000 last year.

A writer in the Brussels Independent Belg suggests that France, to offset the German fortifications at Helmsly, should fortify a camp at Givry, near where the Marston of Franco-Belgian border.
