Mr. Archibald McAlpine, of 86 Byron ivenue, a local carriagemaker, has just becured patents on a rather important improvement on vehicle wheels.

Mr. McAlpine's patents simplify and alier the whole construction of carriage and wagon wheels and make it possible to remove and replace one or more spokes with ease without removing the wheel from the axle. The spokes, which are notched are driven in between plates it the hub and are held rigidly by means of a threaded plate put on from the outside. The whole constitutions are successful. ire notched are driven in between plates it the hub and are held rigidly by means of a threaded plate put on from the outside.
