Mere Man Says Modern Girl Lacks Courage to Marry Early—Shall She Marry Man Fifteen Years Older?-Intellectual Wife or a Crackerjack Housekeeper?

Dear Miss Dix-Weak mothers breed weak sons, and late marriages help along the damage. Selfish, self-centered women are directly responsible for driving thousands of men into reckless habits. The old stall about Adam won't do. Your frilly sex is dodging the issue on this, and on other questions equally vital. Very few women are good enough sports to be able to resist an amorous campaign that flatters their vanity, and they are indifferent to the consequences they may casually inflict on the poor boob who falls for their need of excitement.

A man without a past, forsooth! There would be more such men if there were more women willing to help feather the home nest not with money but with real love at that springing age in life when it is irresistibly appealing.

No wonder virility is ebbing hereabouts, that athletic records are passing westward toward the sunet, that ignorant, often degenerate immigrant races are seizing control along the eastern portals of our once trenchantly vigorous and daring

After a little while the only people with courage to mate early and become parents more than once will be the descendants of our former slaves—the Africo-Americans.

Poor, dear Adam, still suffering from that apple complex! Blaming it all on Eve, and calling upon her to save him from his own weakness. Not that I hold a brief for the lady. Far from it. The woman who uses the lure of her sex to tempt a man has the soul of a harlot, no matter how technically virtuous she may be.

Just a Man Who Would Rather Not Have Had a Past.

Undoubtedly, early marriages make for morality and a strong and virile race, but I think my correspondent is entirely wrong when he lays the blame for men marrying late in life, or not marrying at all, on women. It has always been women who were plungers in matrimony. It has always been women who were willing to venture all for love, and feminine nature doesn't change. It's men who are afraid, men who are timid, men who are too proud to ask girls to marry them unless they can give them all the flummeries to which they are accustomed. Also it is men who don't want to give up their bachelor luxuries; their easy living; their soft places in society to live in a shabby apartment, and push a perambulator on holidays instead of playing golf at a country

Early marriage demands sacrifice of a man, no less than of a woman. It jeopardizes his chances of success, for in these days of the high cost of living it takes a financial genius to make enough money to support a family and still save enough to be the nucleus of a fortune. Therefore, the ambitious man often feels that love and matrimony aren't worth the Look about you, Mr. Man, and you will see that the men who ge married early are the easy-going, unambitious sort, the very men who have least to offer a girl. Does that look as if the girls were not willing to take a chance with a poor man, or that they didn't get the opportunity to take the chance? NO!

t isn't that women aren't willing to marry on bread and cheese and kisses. It's the men who don't want that Spartan diet. At any rate, I warn any young man who doesn't want to get married not to ask his sweetheart if she's willing to risk poverty and love with him in a two-by-four flat. She will say "yes" ninety-nine times out of a hundred. DOROTHY DIX.

An enjoyable euchre was held recently at the home of Mrs. Fred Stephens; Miss Annie Boyce, Trafalgar street, given under lite Harris; Miss Ruby Scott; and lite Harris; Miss Lotta Fisher. MABEL G. fifteen years my senior?

Answer:

Fifteen years' difference in the ages of a mature woman and man makes no difference when the man is older. If the man is desirable in every way, certainly his age is no objection to him. In picking out a husband so many things are more important than how long he has lived.

Your first husband was young, yet he treated you like a brute. It is not age, but temperament, that makes a man kindly, gentle, considerate, and tender to his wife, so when you pick out a second husband take into account his disposition, and whether he is congenial to you or not, rather than the number of his birthdays.

Indeed, generally speaking, a man who is ten or fifteen years older than his wife makes a better husband than one more nearly her age, because, for one thing, he is more self-disciplined than a boy, and life has taught him more patience and how to make excuses for the shortcomings of others.

And, for another thing, the older husband is apt to feel flattered at having a young wife, and will pet and spoil her as one would an indulged

And still another advantage in marrying an older man is that his wife doesn't have to be so afraid of getting old herself. By the time she is middle-aged he is elderly, and there's peace and safety in that state of affairs. DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix-May I submit an interesting human problem you? A and B are both friends of mine, and both splendid men. A has married a highly educated young woman, who makes a very interesting companion to him, but she is a miserable housekeeper. The pretty little apartment in which A set up his bride is always at sixes and sevens, and when he comes home at night no dinner awaits him, and he has to go out in the kitchen and help prepare the evening meal. B married a nice sen sible girl, not so intellectual as A's wife, but she is a crackerjack house keeper, and when B opens his front door he savors the aroma of a dinner fit for an epicure. Which if these marriages is the more likely to be success? I say B's.

A. X. Y.

Answer: So do I. Our grandmothers who knew a thing or two about getting along with men, as is proved by the fact that divorce and wandering husbands were much less common in their day than in ours, gave as the cardinal rule for holding a husband's affection: FEED THE BRUTE. And the principle still holds.

Perhaps there are a few men of the plain living and high thinking who prefer a feast of reason and a flow of soul to a good dinner, but if so, I have never met them. All of the men I know want to eat first and talk afterward, and they desire interesting conversation as a side line to good food, not a substitute for it.

It is just as much a woman's duty to be a good housekeeper and make her husband a comfortable home as it is for him to be a good provider, and when she doesn't do this she is just as much a quitter as he would be if he refused to work and support her.

No man is going to stay in love long with a wife who is too lazy t hold up her end of the job, nor is he going to be eager to come back to an untidy house and a mean dinner at night. And, take it from me, there won't be much heart to heart talk in that home about the things that pertain to the higher life. It will be mostly about the size of the bills, and "Do you call that bread, or cannonballs?" and "Is this a steak or a shoe

To Regain a Healthy, Girlish Complexion

If you would have a clear, fresh girlish complexion, one ounce of order ary mercolized wax will aid you in the direction more than shelves fall cosmetics. It produces a natural beauty. This wax, procurable at any drug store, completely absorbs a bad complexion, revealing the healthy young skin underneath. Its work is done so gradually, day by day, that no inconvenience is caused. The wax is applied at night, like cold cream, and washed off in the morning.—Advt.

New System of Fat Reduction

Here's a new way for all fat people to laugh together at that old bugaboo —Obesity. The saying that "there is nothing new under the sun" does not now apply to fat people any more. Here is something new for them—a new sensation, a new pleasure, a new and graceful figure, easily found by anyone who is passing beyond the limits of slimness. Everyone has heard of the Marmola Prescription; that harmless combination of fat-defying elements perfected by one of the foremost physicians. Now, from the same high authority, there comes another idea—the idea of condensing these same, pure, harmless ingredients into a pleasant little tablet. Taken after eating and at bedtime, they help the stomach to dispose of all the fatty foods, converting them into compact, solid flesh, muscle and energy, without dieting or exercise. Marmola Frescription Tablets regulate the entire system—do for you what bodliy exertion, self-denial and absurd greases and salves can not do, and the fat, once routed, is gone for good. You can prove all this at a trifling cost. Marmola Prescription Tablets are sold by all druggists or sent postpaid by the Marmola Company, 4612. Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich. A case—sufficient to bring results—is but one dollar.—Advt.
