JAPANESE IMPATIENCE OVER DELAY IN STATES

ated to California, it does not alter the fact that our compatriots are victims of anti-Japanese outrages. "Japanese go there under treaty protection. President Roosevelt's enlightened message to the last congress was received here with eminent satisfaction, but actual developments since prove it a total failure. What we want are not so many expressions of civilized sentiment, but one act of efficient protection of the treaty rights of Japan.

"The waste paper box is no destination for a treaty between Japan and the United States."

The general tone of the Japanese press is becoming outspoken, and unless an assurance in some form is made to insure the safety of Japanese in San Francisco it is feared that the friendly relations between both nations will be endangered. Count Okuma, leader of the Progressives, is outspoken as usual, but it should be remembered that while deserving of consideration his being out of office permits him a free expression of his opinions. Count Okuma generally occupies the position of a critic. Even when in power his cabinet lived only a few months.

COLLAPSE OF WALL

Calgary, June 8.—The whole side of the wall of the large wholesale business block of the Cocksbutt Flaw company fell with a crash and crushed in the roof of the Alberta livery stable next to it today. It made a hole about fifteen feet square through the roof, crashed through the floor of the loft and came down in a stall in which two horses were held. They were unhurt, but one horse that was loose in the corral at the rear of the stable was buried under the debris. It was an addition to the new building, and was about 50 feet long, two stories in height. The damage will likely be about $10,000.

WALL STREET PLEASED

Statement Regarding E. H. Harriman Strengthens Stocks.

New York, June 8.—The decision of the federal authorities not to institute criminal proceedings against E. H. Harriman in connection with his railroad operations was the principal subject of discussion on Wall street today. Mr. Harriman is spending the day at his country home, and his associates, while showing their satisfaction at the news from Washington, did not care to discuss the matter for publication. The idea that Mr. Harriman would be criminally prosecuted was never seriously entertained in financial circles. The stock market's response to the news was a substantial rise in the Harriman issues, with corresponding advances elsewhere in the list.

CHARGED WITH MURDER

Nanton, Alta., June 8.—Dan McDonald was arrested again last Friday and taken to Macleod. This time he is charged with the murder of Jacob Dixon. The verdict will depend upon the evidence produced to show that the whisky which caused Dixon's death was supplied by the accused or was taken by Dixon without the knowledge or consent of McDonald.

KIEL CANAL TOO SHALLOW

When the Kiel canal in Germany was opened for traffic it was large enough to accommodate any ship then afloat, and that was only some fifteen or so years ago. Now, however, it has been found necessary to both deepen and widen the canal, and the Reichstag has provided for the commencement of the work. Both naval and commercial vessels have outgrown the canal, and they are getting bigger and deeper all the time. Germany is taking steps to keep her North-Sea Baltic canal and her harbors up to the demands of shipping.—Savanah, Ga. News.

Bishop Dowling of Hamilton, recently celebrated the twentieth anniversary of his consecration. He has also given his name to a new street in London, is dead at Chicago. He was a 53rd degree mason.

ORCHARD'S GRIM STORY SIFTED BY DEFENCE

ory matter, or were you a general officer for killing people?"

"I drew money whenever I needed it."

"You did not care what you did to get money, so long as it was not work, did you?"

"I did not work much."

Orchard said there was no fixed schedule of prices for his crimes. He never asked for money until he needed it. Later Orchard said he had written the story of his life in book form.

"Are you testifying from that narrative or in response to questions?" was asked.

"In response to questions."

Orchard said he had been at work on the autobiography for a year. He said Detective McParland had seen the work, but denied that McParland had ever suggested any changes in it.

"When you and Jack Simpkins were talking about your experience in the Coeur d'Alene," questioned Richardson, "didn't you tell Simpkins that if Governor Steunenburg had not driven you out of Idaho you would be a rich man, that your former partners in the Hercules mines were all millionaires?"

"I told him part of that," replied Orchard. "I said my partners were rich men."

Orchard said that the time Haywood told him to "pull off something" in Cripple Creek, because he was afraid there might be a split up in the miners' convention unless something was done, things were quiet in Cripple Creek, and the union had sent a committee to the Governor to urge that there was no further need for the troops.

"Now then," Richardson went on, "are you sure that Haywood did not say there was likely to be a split-up in the Miners' Association, and that the miners would have to do something if they wanted to retain the militia?"

"At the time of the Independence depot explosion, were not you having some relations with Detectives Scott and Sterling?"

"I may have."

"Who set fire to the saloon?"

"Who ever talk to A. E. Carleton?"

"Pettibone's Dope."

Orchard said he had spoken once to Carleton, who was an official of the Mine Owners' Association. He had also spoken to Nelson Franklin. Asked how it was that he could pass the militia without trouble in Cripple Creek, Orchard replied that there were many union men who had done the same thing. He and John Neville sent some money to Neville's saloon near the Independence depot, collect the insurance money and divide it.

"Who set fire to the saloon?"

"I did."

"I took some Pettibone dope up stairs and came away and left it there."

"You did have some use for Pettibone dope then, after all?"

"Yes."

Orchard got $100 of the $600 insurance Neville collected.

"When did Haywood tell you to burn up the saloon?"

"He did not tell me."

"Did Moyer or Pettibone?"

"No."

"They did not take out any of your pay because you got a little work on the side?"

"No. I did not get a salary."

After the arson experience, Orchard said, he deserted his second wife and started off on the train with Neville and his son. Orchard said he had sent some money to Neville's saloon since he had been in the penitentiary.

"Where did you get it?" demanded Richardson.

"I got it from Warden Whitney. I asked him if he would advance me $50 on some guns, field glasses and things I had, which would be sold after the trial."

"Where did Whitney get it?"

"He said he got it from the Government."

Orchard said he had also sold a pocket and chain and sent the money to his wife. Altogether he had got $500 on some guns, field glasses and some other things in a while.

"Got some lately to appear at this trial?"

"Yes."

"And had your picture taken?"

"Yes."

FAVOR A CHANGE AT WORK POINT

Local Military Men Would Like to See Regulars Replaced

FIFTH REGIMENT TO THE WORK

Proposed that Arrangements Be Made for Members of Militia to Man Defences

The suggestion that the Fifth Regiment, C. A., be placed on a different financial basis than at present and that it be commissioned to take over the Work point defences in place of the regulars now stationed there, has been favorably received. It is understood that strong representations are being made to the proper authorities along this line and that it is possible some action will be taken in the near future.

Local military men are a unit in the belief that the scheme would work satisfactorily. They argue that the present situation warrants a change of some kind. The Garrison, it is said, is not sufficiently strong to adequately man the fortresses should an emergency arise, and that through a few detachments of reinforcements are arriving at irregular intervals, the losses through the purchase of discharges and in other ways is bringing the strength of the force down to an alarming extent. Under the circumstances it is contended that it would be good policy on the part of the Ottawa authorities to abandon the attempt to maintain a regular garrison and to so reorganise and stimulate interest in the Fifth Regiment that it would be placed on a footing to attend to the defences in case the necessity arose.

Military men say that garrison companies of the militia, with proper training, can be made even more efficient than the regulars. The plan proposed is to allow the members of the militia who wish to take places on a regular scale of remuneration, to give them more practice and to subject them to rigid and regular training. Under such regulations it is believed the general efficiency of the corps would be raised, and there would be no trouble in obtaining recruits and the difficulty in respect to the maintenance of a corps at Work point would be overcome.

Representations have been made to the officials of the militia department, and the result will be strengthened by a personal interview with Gen. Lake, in command of the militia forces, should he visit the west this summer.

FARMERS WORRIED ABOUT HAY CROPS

F. M. Logan Tells of Conditions in the Fraser River Valley

"The fruit crops in the Fraser River valley are looking better and the harvest promises to be abundant, but the farmers are at the present experiencing a great deal of trouble in the raising of hay, and are afraid that if they do not get an adequate supply of rain, the hay crop will be a failure."

F. M. Logan, provincial dairy and live stock commissioner, who returned yesterday from the Mainland.

Mr. Logan visited several Mainland districts on institute work and addressed large meetings of farmers at Stevenson, Eburne, Brownsville, Cloverdale, Surrey Center and Langley. He lectured on dairy and live stock subjects and the holding of stock judging competitions, and found an increasing interest among the stock breeders everywhere he went.

At New Westminster Mr. Logan found a meeting of farmers at Stevenson, Eburne, Brownsville, Cloverdale, Surrey Center and Langley. He lectured on dairy and live stock subjects and the holding of stock judging competitions, and found an increasing interest among the stock breeders everywhere he went.

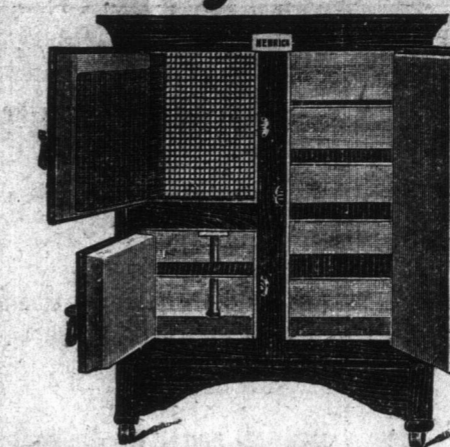

On Thursday night Mr. Logan attended a meeting in Vancouver called for the purpose of organizing an exhibition association in that city. The Jockey Club, the Kennel Club, the Posters' association and other similar organizations were well represented, and there was much enthusiasm over the project.

The following motion was carried: "That in the opinion of this meeting the time has arrived for the establishment of an Exhibition Association for Vancouver, to embrace fat stock, horses, dogs, and poultry, also horticultural and agricultural interests, and also for the object of maintaining the city of Vancouver in that leading position she by right should occupy."

Mr. Logan in addressing the meeting said he was pleased to see so much interest taken in the question under discussion, but it was his opinion that in view of the fact that New Westminster had a well established fair from which Vancouver derived equally as much benefit as the Royal City, that the time was not yet at hand for two large exhibitions of the same nature so close together in time and place for he no doubt but that the time would soon come when there would be room enough for both. He suggested that the present Vancouver should confine its energies to a show that would include only horses, fat stock, poultry and dogs with horse parades as a feature. He congratulated the horsemen of Vancouver on the material they possessed for a first class show.

Washington, June 8.—President Roosevelt, as a member of the Blue Lodge of the Masonic fraternity, participated in the work, and made an address at the laying of the cornerstone this afternoon of the new Masonic temple, which is to be erected here at the corner of 13th St. and York Avenue. A large crowd was present, including prominent Masons from other districts.

The "Herrick Odorless" Dry Air Refrigerator

Ten degrees colder than any other refrigerator made.

THE Herrick system of refrigeration insures a perfect circulation of pure cold dry air, so absolutely dry that salt and matches can be kept in a Herrick for days without becoming damp

Odorless, Never Becomes Stale

Celery, onions, any vegetable or fruit, will not taint milk or butter, proving absence of damp air. Milk will remain fresh and sweet 72 hours, proving absence of germ life.

Perfect Circulation

It is not the cold alone, which is so essential in a refrigerator, but circulation of cold dry air forced by proper lines of construction, proper insulation and arrangement.

Construction

The best possible throughout. Made of polished Quartered Oak. Nicely panelled. Over-lapping doors practically airtight. Inside linings of the finest White Enamel. From one-third to one-half more storage space than in the usual refrigerator of same outside dimensions.

STILL IN EMBRYO

R. Marpole, general executive assistant of the C. P. R. in the province of B. C. passed through Victoria yesterday en route to Vancouver from Comox, Alberni and Nanaimo. He was accompanied by A. J. Cambie. Mr. Marpole stated that the object of his trip has been to inspect the E. & N. lands in the districts referred to. Five survey parties are at present at work in the north of the island, but as yet they have rendered no report. For this reason the plans of the C. P. R. with regard to railway development are still in embryo.

SUNSHINE FURNACE

UNBREAKABLE FIRE-POT

The lower portion of a fire-pot is usually nearly or partly filled with dead ashes, leaving the live, red-hot coals in the upper part. The result is that the upper portion expands much more than the lower.

This uneven expansion causes a strain too great for a one-piece fire-pot to stand. Sooner or later it will split, allowing precious heat and sickening gases to escape.

But the fire-pot of the Sunshine is constructed to meet this condition. It is in two sections. The upper half expands, as much as necessary, independently of the lower. When cool, it contracts back to its original size, fitting to the lower half perfectly.

And this strong, unbreakable, gas and heat-tight, two-piece fire-pot is just one of the many superior features of the Sunshine.
