The Amalgamated Iron year, at a minimum figure below which afford the wage-earner and his de-pendents food and shelter; above this imum, wages may go as far as a oon the kind of iron of which there is the argest output, and which is known as common bar." The coal miners talk of ing a similar system. The Pittsburg a resort to arbitration in case of a dispute as to the true interpretation of the agreement under which the system is operated. It is quite clear that there are industries under which a sliding scale could hardly be made to work, but if it be applicable to the great iron, soal and kindred industries neither nor pains should be spared in the effort to apply it successfully. The present industrial condition is well nigh intolerable,

During the year the new business, although not quite up to the previous year, is encouraging, and particularly so to the present policyholders when it is seen that the ratio of expense has been considerably reduced and the surplus to policyholders has been increased to $362,200, after providing for all liabilities, which it will be observed have been computed by the Superintendent of Insurance at Ottawa. The assets have been increased by the sum of more than covers its death claims, ing one another across the common boundary line, and it is therefore not surprising to that the gag had its origin during that between their outposts. The account of the affair comes from Athens, and places the Greek share of the transaction in the best possible light. We are asked to believe that the Turks were the aggressors, and that they suffered the humiliation of a repulse, these later days the combatant who gets to upon British connection. If British conthe nearest telegraph office first al. nection depends upon the willingness of the ways has the best of it—on paper.

It matters, little, however, who came off triumphant in this skirmish. The "so much the worse for British connection," important question is whether the trouble as the Mail remarked when in opposition. will end at that or not. Great wars have lisions. In this case both parties are in a fighting fever, and having tasted blood will not at all convinced, however, that if we not feel disposed to rest until what is called had independence the Chief Magistrate's their "honor" is satisfied. For months establishment would cost any less. There both have been maintaining an armed vigilance that is as trying to their meagre resources as a short, sharp and decisive Republican institutions that surround it. conflict could possibly be.

About Superannuation. The Globe's contention that many old men are to be seen walking about drawing an income from the Superannuation Fund, and that the spectacle is a scandalous one, illustrates the length to which party journalism is prepared to go. A pension system, as retained in the Old Country, is an abuse, and an unwarrantable infliction on British taxpayers. Within reasonable others interested in the Company's affairs British taxpayers.

Here in Canada the salaries of Dominion officials are subjected ealaries of Dominion officials are subjected every month to a docking of from $10 to 50c., according to the yearly stipend, and Mr. J. K. Magdonald, Managing Direction of the Company, Sir W. P. Howland, was called to preside, and Mr. J. K. Magdonald, Managing Direction of the company, Sir W. P. Howland, was called to preside, and the securities represented in the assets, which are safely contained the securities represented in the assets, which are safely contained in the assets and the safely contained in this amount so deducted constitutes a fund, out of which old and retired civil servants draw a pension till death. We presume the public exchequer has to supplement deficiencies when the fund is exhausted. On the other hand, men dying in harness, or retiring voluntarily from the service, or retiring voluntarily from the service. The uniform success of this Association lose all they may have paid towards superlose all they may have paid towards superannuation. Probably not one man out of every fifty subjected to the docking procoss ever draws a halfpenny from the fund.
The great majority are shorn of some of their moderate salary every month to help the country pay those who live long enough to have a claim on the public whom they have served. Not only will rational men dissent from the Globe's line of argument, but many will be prepared to go the length of saying that no man over to go the length of saying that no man over the age of 65 should be continued in his office. The fact is that old men in the administration of public offices become jealous and impracticable obstructionists, wedded to old ways and unreceptive of new ones.

Bacause Mr. Gladstone and Sir John Mac-hand men are of the same age. It is generthe grade the more physical activity and the elasticity of youth are required. There is no feeling among the public that a man of 65 drawing a pension, to which he has a himself contributed, is not entitled to spend his declining years free of harassing subservience and the inscience of superiors in office. The Globe's special reference to Col. Bernard (merely because he is Sir John's brother-in-law) is particularly brutal. This many years ago anperannuated at the instance of the Globe's friends, then in power. Mr. Meredith is one of the best known men do so fir many years yet. Presumably he fund, and nobody grudges him the dole. Nothing can be sillier or more illogical than measuring the propriety of what a super-annuated clerk draws by the amount he himself may have paid in! And yet the Globe has lent itself to that folly. As we out there are perhaps a hundred men paying into this legalized lottery, of whom not two per cent. will ever get a farthing.
