WAIFS AND STRAYS.

A Heavy Fire Insurance.—The Bishop of Peterborough cannot help saying good things, both in and out of the pulpit—especially out of it. The other night a rich benevolent, but somewhat brainless millionaire was boasting after dinner that he gave away £2,000 to the poor regularly every year. He said: "I think it's right, you know: a sort of duty in my position. I can't say what becomes of it, but it's given away in charity, that's all I know, and that's all I care about. Two thousand pounds every year!" "What," said the bishop, do you really mean to say you pay away £2,000 to the poor every year as a religious duty?" "I assure you, my lord, that is so," replied the wealthy man with careless complacency. "Well," said the witty bishop. "that is the largest insurance against fire I ever heard of?"—Truth.

If a man lives outside of the city limits of Detroit, and wants protection from the fire companies of the city in case of a conflagration on his premises, he must deposit money in advance for the services of the fire companies when needed. This requirement may seem a harsh one, but it is just and sensible.—Chronicle.
