

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Carey announce the engagement of their daughter Elizabeth May to Mr. Alfred C. Mayer, of North Yakima. The wedding will take place early in this month.

Miss Carey is a graduate of the 1911 class of the University of Washington and is a member of Sigma Kappa sorority and the Seattle Writers' Club. Mr. Mayer is a former student of Gonzaga university and is a member of the Knights of Columbus and the Commercial Club of North Yakima.

Mrs. Emil Lobe announces the engagement of her daughter, Hazel to Mr. Milton L. Gumbert, of Portland.

Mrs. G. Boystein announces the engagement of her daughter Bertha to Mr. Isadore Bratt. The wedding will take place early in the fall.

The enterprise shown by Miss Hetrick, in opening an importing millinery parlor, in Victoria, B. C., and which is without doubt the finest millinery establishment in the west, is to be commended. There is no doubt that the La Beau Monde of Victoria, as in other cities, want the latest in head dress, and a glimpse of the many exclusive French models shown at Belmont House will convince them it is useless to go elsewhere for a more chic creation.

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

Hadsum: "What side do you generally take when your wife gets into an argument with somebody else?"

Wiseacre: "Outside. Its safer."

"She has everything she needs to make her happy."

She: "But it's the things she does not need, that a woman needs to make her happy!"

Peck: "You will never get the dog to mind you, my dear."

Mrs. Peck: "I shall, with patience. You were just as troublesome yourself at first."

Husband (irritably): "Can't you remember where I left my pipe?"

Wife: "No, dear."

Husband: "Bless me, that just shows the forgetfulness of women!"

Patron: "Why, this bill charges me for three plates of soup. We had only two."

Waiter: "Ah, yes, but monsieur forgets the plate I spilled upon the lady's dress."

Jess: "They went to the Lake District on their wedding trip, and Ethel was wretched."

Bess: "What was the trouble?"

Jess: "George fell in love with the scenery."

Customer (to shopkeeper): "Have you got any eggs that you can guarantee that there are no chickens in?"

Shopkeeper (pausing for a moment): "Yes, sir; duck's eggs."

Mrs. Citibred: "Is my husband improving in golf?"

Caddie: "Well, I should say so. When he started, he used to say 'Oh, fudge!' when he missed; now he can curse like a man."

A quiet but very pretty wedding took place in Christ Church Cathedral Aug. 11th, when Very Rev. the Dean of Columbia united in marriage Mr. Reginald William Henry King, formerly assistant manager of the local branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, and now manager of the Portland branch, and Miss Phyllis Irene Mason, youngest daughter of the late Mr. George Edward Mason, Hamilton, Ont., and sister of Mrs. J. W. Ambrey, 1564 Rockwood Avenue, from whose house the wedding took place. The bride, who was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. Ambrey, looked charming in a beautiful gown of white satin, the corsage trimmed with shadow lace with which the skirt was also trimmed, the costume being completed with a short train. With this she wore a white tulle veil and orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of white roses. She was attended by one bridesmaid, Miss Ethel Pitts, who was becomingly gowned in pale blue chiffon with mauve, while she carried a bouquet of mauve and pink sweet peas. Little Miss Marjorie Nichol, of Vancouver, and Miss Betty Kirk, of this city, made charming flower girls in white ninon over pink satin with mob caps trimmed with pink rosettes, while they carried bouquets of pink and mauve sweet peas. Mr. Morkill was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Carew Martin, Mr. Douglas Bullen, and Mr. Edward Ambrey. The cathedral was charmingly decorated with pink, mauve and white flowers, the happy pair standing beneath an arch of Dorothy Perkins roses, which was erected over the chancel steps. A reception was afterward held at the residence of Mrs. Ambrey, the happy pair afterwards leaving on the 4:30 boat for Seattle and California.
