

3. Where the person sought has not been conveyed out of the requested State within two months after the final decision on extradition has been made, he shall be discharged from custody and the requested State may thereafter refuse to extradite him for the same offence.

ARTICLE 13

Surrender of Property

1. Upon the arrest of the person sought, the requested State shall, to the extent permitted by its laws, search for and seize any property used in or obtained by the commission of the extradition offence, or any proceeds thereof, or any property that will afford evidence of the commission of that offence.

2. If extradition is ordered, the requested State upon the surrender of the person sought, to the extent permitted by its laws and subject to any conditions relating to the rights of third parties, shall, subject to the provisions of paragraph 3 below, also surrender the property or any proceeds thereof, without any specific request from the requesting State. Such property or proceeds shall be surrendered even if the person sought cannot be extradited due to his death, escape or disappearance.

3. The requested State may refuse to surrender any property or any proceeds thereof unless the requesting State provides satisfactory assurances that they will, if required, be returned to the requested State as soon as possible and all conditions relating to the rights of third parties observed.

Rule of Specialty

1. A person extradited under this Treaty shall not be detained, tried or punished in the requesting State for an offence committed prior to his surrender other than that for which he was extradited, unless:

- (a) he has left the requesting State and voluntarily returned thereto, or
- (b) he has not left the requesting State within 60 days after being free to do so.

2. A person extradited under this Treaty shall not be extradited by the requesting State to a third State for an offence committed prior to his extradition unless the requested State consents or the requirements of subparagraphs (a) or (b) of paragraph 1 above have been met.

3. Paragraphs 1 and 2 do not apply to any offence the commission of which is included in the commission of the offence for which the person sought was surrendered and the proof of which is based on the evidence that was submitted in support of the request for extradition.
