

Shortly before his premature and greatly lamented death, Albert Camus wrote: "Since atomic war would divest any future of its meaning, it gives us complete freedom of action. We have nothing to lose except everything. So let's go ahead."

Well, I say: Let's go ahead. This is the Assembly of opportunity. We can make it, if we will, the Assembly of action for peace.

---

s/c